Chancellor Stresemann Says Industry and Property Will Be Mortgaged to Pay Off Reparations, if Germany Is Given Control of Ruhr.

NO DIRECT PLEDGE ABOUT RESISTANCE

Asserts That Fresh Guarantees Would Enable Trustees to Issue Bonds to Obtain Cash for France—Step Forward, Paris View.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 13. — Chancellor Stresemann's reply to Premier Poincare's last speech has made a not unfavorable impression here, although in the absence of a fuller report comment is reserved. Le Matin, generally understood to be close to Poincare, considers that the German Chancellor has taken a step forward, without, however, succeeding in ridding himself of the false idea that the application of his scheme of mortgages on private property would be sufficient to justify evacuation of the Ruhr.

The French Government, it adds, stands by its position, which is unassailable. France may, of course, Le Matin concluded, modify her regime in the Ruhr if Germany sets about paying, but she will not evacuate the territory except in proportion as payments are made.

The Foreign Office resents the Berlin view that France is determined to accept nothing but the unconditional surrender of Germany. It is pointed out that this surrender occurred in 1918, and that there now is no other question but execution of the treaty resulting from that surrender.

Assurance is given that France has no wish to prolong the occupation of the Ruhr and is only waiting for a satisfactory guarantee that she will be paid before she considers evacuation.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Germany is prepared to enlist private property in industry, commerce, finance and agriculture as a pledge for the payment of her reparations obligations, if she is assured that the Ruhr and Rhineland will be restored, said Chancellor Stresemann in his address to the German editors yesterday.

"These guarantees," he said, "are capable of solving the question of passive resistance, provided assurance is given us that on the basis of such an understanding the Ruhr will be evacuated and the Rhineland restored to its former rights."

He admitted that passive resistance did not offer a solution of the Ruhr question.

Proposing an international trusteeship for the administration of the proposed nation-wide hypothecation of resources, the Chancellor said the proceeds accruing from the mortgages would be paid to the trustees, who would include representatives of the reparations creditors. This body would then be able to issue bonds, thus making it possible for France to receive large sums of money.

Question of Sovereignty Decisive.

"Such guarantees," he pointed out, "will give France cash and will meet the conditions under which France was willing to evacuate the Ruhr." He added, "that before these guarantees could be obtained Germany must be permitted the right to administer the Ruhr and recover her sovereignty in the Rhineland."

Herr Stresemann failed to assert directly that Germany was prepared to stop passive resistance unconditionally. He did say that for Germany "the question of sovereignty of the Rhineland and regaining the freedom of the Ruhr territory was decisive and that for those ends she was ready to give fresh guarantees," which would go a step beyond the pledges of Reich and State property contained in the Treaty of Versailles.

"If mortgages in favor of the Reich were entered into on property of a State and on private property of economic organizations as a pledge to the extent of a certain percentage of this property," continued the Chancellor, "then these mortgages could be transferred to a trusteeship as a real negotiable security.

PRICES CHANGE DURING MEALS, DUE TO MARK SLUMP

Slow Eaters in Berlin Restaurants Penalized—Mark 125 Million to Dollar.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—One dollar bought 125,000,000 marks at the Berlin Bourse yesterday. Prices changed six times during the day, as the mark dropped from 75 million to 90, from 90 to 100, from 100 to 110 and then to the final figure.

Many restaurants changed the prices on menus in the midst of meals, so that slow eaters were penalized. Many stores closed shop until they could get the final rate before marking prices.

Complete chaos exists on all bourses and the wildest rumors have spread. The chief cause of the present drop is the recent shortage of money that led to the granting of permission to cities, industries and stores to print their own money, no record being kept of the output and the country becoming flooded with money.

PHYSICIAN FILES $20,000 CLAIM AGAINST WALDBART ESTATE

A claim for $20,000 for medical services was filed today in Probate Court against the estate of George Waldbart, wealthy florist, who died last March 3, by Dr. William F. Kier of 3609 Lindell boulevard.

Dr. Kier asserts that his attendance upon Waldbart was by his written request and a copy of the request is filed with the claim. It was dated July 10, 1918, and instructed that none but Dr. Kier should treat him in his last illness, and that all others should be excluded from his presence unless admitted by his housekeeper, Mrs. Marian B. Campbell.

A list of six diseases for which Dr. Kier asserts he treated Waldbart is given in the claim petition. The will of Waldbart bequeathed $5000 to Dr. Kier. The estate is estimated at $300,000. Five nieces and nephews are contesting a will which cut them off. To Mrs. Compbell $75,000 was bequeathed.

OPINION ON USE OF NAVY IN DRY ENFORCEMENT READY

Was Asked For Several Months Ago by the Late President Harding.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The opinion of the Department of Justice as to the legality of the use of the army and navy in the enforcement of the prohibition law was completed yesterday and Attorney General Daugherty said it would be handed to President Coolidge today. At the same time it will be made public, he added.

This opinion was asked for some months ago by the late President Harding after the establishment of "rum row" off the coasts of New York and New Jersey. Use of naval craft in addition to coast guard cutters and the "prohibition navy" in breaking up whisky smuggling was suggested by officers having to do with the enforcement of the Volstead act.

$1500 ECLIPSE INSURANCE PAID

Clouds Prevented Indiana U. from Getting Photographs Monday.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A check for $1500 was sent yesterday to the University of Indiana by the Home Insurance Co. because cloudy weather prevented its expedition from taking photographs of the eclipse of the sun which would have been visible except for the clouds in Lower California on Sept. 10.

Swarthmore College also insured its expedition against cloudy weather through the same company, taking a policy for $10,000. The University of Indiana paid a premium of $460. Swarthmore paid $500 for a pro-rata policy and will be paid according to the degree of the failure to obtain satisfactory plates.

4 POLICEMEN UNDER BOND FOR KILLING TWO MEN, FREED

SHOOTING OCCURRED DURING RAID ON HOME

Officers Were Attracted to 3761 Finney by an Apparent Disturbance and Assert They Were Fired On.

The grand jury this afternoon found "no true bill" in its investigation of the killing of James (Zigmund) Wojick and Walter Boroski (Brzozowski), brothers-in-law, by police raiders in the dwelling at 3761 Finney avenue, over Boroski's basement saloon, the night of July 29.

The grand jury's decision was reached after hearing testimony of relatives of the two men, and others who were in the house at the time of the shooting, and of policement who arrived afterward. The statements of the four members of the police raiding party, made at the Coroner's inquest, were read to the grand jury, but the four men themselves were not called, as this would have given them immunity.

Were Under $5000 Bonds.

The four policemen, who have been under $5000 bond each since the conclusion of the Coroner's inquest Aug. 14, were released after the grand jury's announcement. They have not been under suspension from their duties. They are Lieut. William Walton and Detectives J. P. Kelly, J. J. McNiff and J. J. Whiteley.

Lieut. Walton headed the raid. He related, in his testimony in the inquest, that he decided to enter the place because he heard sounds, in passing the place, which seemed to indicate a disturbance there. He said that after he and the others entered, Wojcik went to the kitchen, took a revolver and began firing, and that he struggled with Wojcik before McNiff and Kelly began firing at Wojcik. Boroski was killed apparently by a police bullet, though the policemen said they were not firing at him. Whiteley did no shooting. Kelly testified that Walton gave the order for the shooting of Wojcik, saying, "Let him have it."

Wojcik shot McNiff and Kelly, and both were in the city hospital for more than a week.

The police, after Wojcik's death, obtained statements of several persons connecting Wojcik with swindles, perpetrated by himself and another man upon several Polish-speaking persons who lost their savings through these operations.

Found Liquor Evidence.

The police, in searching the house after the raid, found evidence of the manufacture and unlawful sale of liquor there. They had no search warrant, though, a Federal search warrant for the place was then outstanding, and would have been used within a few days. The police did not base their entry, in their inquest testimony, on suspicion of violation of the liquor law, but on the disturbance they heard from without.

The Circuit Attorney's office has taken the ground, in recent cases in the Court of Criminal Correction, that the police have the right to enter a place without a search warrant if they have good reason to believe liquor is being manufactured there. This is because the State prohibition law, as recently amended, makes the manufacture of liquor a felony.

FROSTS GENERAL THROUGHOUT MINNESOTA AND THE DAKOTAS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Snow and killing frost today set the Northwest to donning overcoats while portions of the Central States shivered as the area of the lowered temperatures spread. Frosts were general throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas last night, but the extent of damage to crops, if any, was not determined. Government meteorologists, who said a recurrence of warm temperatures was unlikely, prophesied hard frost that might cause injury to gardens and crops.

Michigan and Minnesota saw the first snow of the season yesterday. In Duluth, a few flurries were plainly discernable. At Calumet, Mich., cold winds off Lake Superior brought snow that continued to fall for a half hour, and at Marquette reports were received of a snow fall at Ishpeming which continued for a short time. Chicago thermometers were close to the half century mark early today.

GANG KILLINGS DUE TO MOONSHINE, COLBECK ASSERTS

DECLARES OLD FEUD STUFF IS FORGOTTEN

The killing of State Representative William McGee and Elmer Malone Sunday night with bullets intended for "Jimmie" Hogan was not a renewal of the Egan-Hogan gang feud, William P. (Dinty) Colbeck, political leader of the Eganites, told detectives today, but was the climax of a "moonshine" party.

"You can take my word for it," said Colbeck to the detectives. "When I told Chief Hoagland last April that the Egan-Hogan scrap was at an end, I meant what I said. I'm sorry for what happened Sunday night."

Colbeck would not comment on the fact that the police are holding a member of the Egan gang and looking for two other members of the gang in connection with the double killing.

Blames Moonshine.

"I do know that three of the boys were full of moonshine Sunday and were riding about in a big touring car," he went on. "They might have seen Hogan in the crowd at Jefferson and Cass and maybe took a few shots at him for fun, but it was the moonshine that was to blame and not the old gang stuff. That has been forgotten."

Colbeck expressed fear that business at his "club" on Olive Street road, west of Olivette, St. Louis County, would suffer as a result of the police theory that the killing of McGee and Malone had something to do with the Egan-Hogan affair. He deplored the fact that detectives believed he had not kept his pledge. He said he would be looked upon as a man whose word was no good.

Detectives yesterday investigated a tip that the two gangsters being sought were in hiding at a roadhouse near Mitchell, Ill., but were unable to find any trace of them.

A new angle of the case was developed when it was learned by detectives that the automobile from which the shots were fired was not the blue Jewett owned by Tess Gallagher, girl friend of the Egan gangster under arrest. The machine bore a license tag which had been issued to her, but the car was a Stutz, the detectives were told.

Gangster's Sister Owns Car.

The Stutz car is owned by the sister of another gangster. That is, the license was taken out in her name, but she cannot be found at her home on North Grand boulevard. No trace of the Gallagher woman has been found.

It was recalled today by detectives that Representative McGee last February in an effort to obtain parole for two men serving life terms for murder, related to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles that two St. Louis gangsters, who had subsequently died, committed the murder for which the two prisoners were serving time.

Detectives said it was possible that Sunday night's shooting might have been actuated by McGee's statement to the board, but they were more inclined to believe that the shots that ended the lives of McGee and Malone were intended for Hogan, in retaliation for the murder of their former leader, Constable William T. Egan.

St. Leo's Catholic Church at Twenty-third and Mullanphy streets contained about 200 persons when funeral services for McGee were held there at 9 a. m. today. Edward J. (Jelly Roll) Hogan, leader of the Hogan gang, and several of his followers were present.

The Rev. Father Sylvester Cassidy, assistant pastor, quoted the parable of the Prodigal Son, but did not refer to the circumstances under which McGee met death. He referred to the fact that McGee had returned to the church and had expressed penitence befoer he died.

WRITS STAYING DEPORTATION OF 5 I. W. W. DISMISSED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Federal Judge Manton toda ydismissed writs of habeas corpus granted last month staying the deoprtation of five members of the International Workers of the World recently released from the Leavenworth (Kan.) penitentiary on conditional pardons granted by the late President Harding.

The five, Richard Brazier, Peter Green, Joseph Graber, Don Sheridan and James Slovik, were released under conditional pardon issued by the late President shortly before he departed on his Alaskan tour. They had been serving 20-year sentences imposed in 1918 when they were convicted in the Chicago I. W. W. trial for obstruction of the draft under the wartime espionage act.

On their release they were seized by immigration inspectors at the direction of the Department of Labor and ordered deported, Green to Scotland, the others to Russia. Arriving in New York, proceedings were checked by a writ of habeas corpus granted by Federal Judge Goddard.

In dismissing the writs today, Judge Manton declared the presidential commutation of sentence was not a pardon which absolved the quintette from punishment for past offenses.

DIAMONDS VALUED AT $50,000 STOLEN FROM MESSENGER BOY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—A box containing diamonds valued at $50,000 was stolen from a 16-year-old messenger boy this morning by two men who attacked him in the hall of the Travand jewelry repair store at 933 Arch street.

The gems were being brought from a vault in the New York Loan Society here, where they were kept overnight.

Gus Prodell, the messenger, offered resistance when the bandits attempted to seize the box containing the jewels. He was knocked down and the box torn from his grasp before clerks in the store, who heard the commotion, rushed to his aid. The robbers rushed into the street and jumped into a waiting automobile and escaped.

Navy Aviator in Accomplishing Feat Uses Plane That Will Participate in Pulitzer Trophy Race.

By the Associated Press.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 13.—A new world's speed record of 244.15 miles an hour was established today by Lieut. Harold J. Brow, U. S. N., in a navy Curtiss racer, flying over a one-kilometer course at Mitchell Field.

The record announced was the average of four trips across the measured course, two in each direction. One trip with the wind the plane went 255 miles an hour. The test was from a level start without the aid of a drop from height. Lieut. Brow will pilot the machine in the coming Pulitzer races in St. Louis.

HYLAN IN DANGER OF PNEUMONIA

Physician, However, Does Not Consider His Condition as Alarming.

By the Associated Press.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Fear that the illness of Mayor Hylan of New York might develop into double pneumonia was expressed today by Dr. George F. Comstock. A doctors' bulletin said that there was some trouble in the left lung, although it had not extended in the last 12 hours. Until last night the pleuro-pneumonia which developed late last week had been confined to the right lung.

"I do not consider the Mayor's condition as alarming," Dr. Comstock added, however. "I believe his chances for recovery are very good."

REVOLT OF SPANISH TROOPS AT BARCELONA SAID TO BE SPREADING

SOLDIERS IN MADRID REMAIN FAITHFUL TO GOVERNMENT

Martial Law Proclaimed at Barcelona—Resignations of Two Ministers Reported—Disastrous Moroccan Policy Criticized in Manifesto Placed Before Political Chiefs.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Sept. 13.—A military coup d'etat directed against the Government, as represented by the Cabinet of Premier Alhuoemas, and political leaders, but loyal to King Alfonso and the dynasty, was sprung at Barcelona today by the Captain-General in that city, Miguel Primo Rivera. Martial law has been declared.

The revolt, feared for many months and twice announced only to be postponed, is reported to have spread rapidly in the provinces of Spain, where various garrisons are said to have joined the movements. Up to this afternoon the troops in Madrid, however, had remained faithful to the Government and the capital is calm.

The Council of Ministers reconvened this afternoon. The Minister of the Interior informed the correspondents a few minutes later that the Government, under the present conditions, was no longer prepared to make communications to the press. It was announced later that Foreign Minister, Santiago Alba, and the Minister of Labor, Jose Rosalo Gil, had resigned their portfolio.

State of Siege Declared.

Cabinet members who were absent from Madrid when the flag of the revolt was unfurled, returned hurriedly, and Government forces are reported to be already on their way to Barcelona, where the revolting military chiefs, after issuing a manifesto against the Government, early today took over the Government offices and declared a state of siege at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

The Cabinet this afternoon, after receiving a denial from Captain-General Primo Rivera of its demand that he cease his rebellious attitude, issued a decree removing him as military Governor of Barcelona.

A document severely censuring the Cabinet's policy in military affairs and demanding its resignation was found to have been circulated among the garrisons in all the Spanish cities, the troops apparently indorsing the movement, which was known to have been in preparation at Barcelona. The anxiety grew as it became known that Premier Alhucemas had requested the Cabinet Ministers to come to his private house in all haste.

Charges Against Government.

The text of the Barcelona manifesto was placed before the ministerial council. The manifesto declared the situation in Spain was extremely critical owing to "the immorality of the Government its disastrous Moroccan policy, and its abandonment of public authority."

The council rose at 2 a. m. and the agitation was temporarily calmed, but towards daybreak the Premier again convoked the entire Cabinet to meet at the domicile of the Minister of Marine.

Information has reached the Government that the Barcelona junta had seized all the public utilities service buildings. Capt.-Gen. Munoz Cobe, commanding the Madrid garrison, was called before the council and asked if he could undertake to enforce order in the capital and sustain the Government. The Captain-General assured the Government that the troops here were quiet in their barracks and disposed to guarantee the execution of any orders.

Warning of Coup.

According to information reaching Madrid the Government had been aware that a coup d'etat had been planned to take place at Barcelona on Friday, but the junta precipitated the event when it learned that the Government was informed as to the project and was taking precautionary measures.

The liberal newspapers express approval of the attitude of the Government in remaining at its post. Only a regime of democratic liberty, they declare, can guarantee the life and prosperity of the country.

The army as a whole, it is declared, remains loyal to the Government.

According to some of the Madrid newspapers the garrison at San Sebastian imprisoned Foreign Minister Santiago Alba, while others express the belief that he escaped across the frontier into France. None of these reports is confirmed.

Captain-General's Statement.

At 4 a. m., the Captain-General made the following statement to the press:

"I can say only one thing, that the Government summoned me in order to be informed of the attitude of the Madrid garrison. I answered that the garrison was in its barracks, ready to guarantee the continuance of order and that there was consequently nothing to fear in connection with the troops stationed in Madrid."

The newspapers say the disturbance in Barcelona had been prepared for Friday, but that the Government got wind of it and adopted precautionary measures which led the organizers of the movement to cut loose before the anticipated time.

It is reported that a squadron has been sent to Barcelona. The Newspaper El Sol says the garrison at Bilbao has joined the revolt movement and has protested against the suspension of communication with the rest of Spain.

Not Directed Against King, Manifesto Declares.

By the Associated Press.

BARCELONA, Sept. 13.—A state of siege was proclaimed here at 11:15 o'clock this morning and the Catalan military authorities took possession of power in the city.

It is stated here that several garrisons, notably those in Madrid, Saragossa and Seville have adhered to the military movement, which now must be recognized as a regular coup d'etat. The normal life of Barcelona is proceeding.

It is reported that Santiago Alba, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, is under arrest in San Sebastian.

Appeal Criticises Government.

A document addressed to all Spaniards, and signed Captain-General Rivera, was issued at 2 o'clock this morning. It criticises the present Government and stigmatizes the professional politicians for seizing the power and anihilating the will of the King.

The authorities of the new regime, continues the proclamation, will occupy the headquarters of the communist and revolutionary associations, the prisons, the banks, the electric power stations and the points at which the water supply is controlled. All suspects will be arrested.

It is also declared the leaders of the movement will seek to maintain the normal life of the country. The proclamation ends in an appeal to the patriotism of the population, entreating the military forces to give their lives to the country, if necessary.

Proceedings Against Officials.

A communique issued by the military says proceedings will be brought against the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the President of the Council (the Premier) and that a Government will be established under the military authorities.

The movement, the communique declares, is loyal to the King, being directed not against the sovereign, but the Government.

JAPAN'S RULER URGES UNITED EFFORTS FOR REBUILDING

FAMOUS UNIVERSITY LIBRARY IS LOST

Priceless Documents Relating to Tibetan Buddhism Among Treasures Destroyed in Quake — Refugees Tell of Censorship.

By the Associated Press.

OSAKA, Sept. 13.—An imperial rescript dealing with the reconstruction of the national capital has been promulgated. It appeals to the nation for a supreme effort and drastic measures to restore confidence and also emphasizes the necessity not only for restoring, but for further developing Tokio, which, it says, is the political and economic center of the country and the main source of national civilization.

Tokio, says the rescript, remains the national capital, although its outward structure was destroyed. It further says a special organization has been established for the revival of the capital and concludes by calling for a united effort by the Government and the people for the relief of the sufferers, the prosecution of disquieting rumors and the revival of the national strength.

Indications that the commercial and financial situations in Japan are rapidly recovering from the gloom which followed the earthquate are shown by the steadiness of the market here. Heavy selling, which at first inundated the Cotton Exchange, has given place to substantial buying and it is believed that business will be on the upgrade from now on.

Valuable University Library Lost.

Dispatches from Tokio say that the Imperial University suffered heavily from fire that followed the earthquake. Most of the buildings were burned, the medical college and hospital escaping with slight damage.

The destruction of the university library lost for Japan one of the most valuable Oriental libraries in the world. Included among its volumes were priceless documents relating to Tibetan Buddhism. The Japanese History Compiling Bureau fortunately was saved.

Prof. Tomonaga of the Kyoto Imperial University has announced that it will be impossible to receive Tokio under-graduates except in the colleges of law and philosophy.

The seismology department of the Kyoto Imperial University has requested the seismologists of the various countries to send it photographs of the charts registering the Japanese earthquake. These are desired by the university for a thorough study of the tremblor.

This Year's Veiled Prophet Souvenir

THE souvenir to be issued to guests who have bids to the Veiled Prophet ball this year carries the invitation to the ball, instead of the invitation carrying the souvenir, as in former years. The invitation is embossed on the face of the souevnir, which is of Dutch silver and can be used as a hot-pad on the dining table. The wording of the invitation is slightly different from that of former years. It is as follows: "You are commanded to appear at the forty-fourth annual ball given in honor of His Majesty the Veiled Prophet and his Court of Love and Beauty, Saint Louis, Tuesday evening, October second, nineteen hundred and twenty-three. The Coliseum."

Arrangements are going forward for what promises to be the most notable visit the Veiled Prophet ever has made to the city. The numerous innovations in the usual Veiled Prophet customs and the many notable visitors who will be here will give added interest to the event.

Refugees Tell of Strict Censorship in Force in Japan.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 13.—Refugees arriving here say a strict censorship is in force in Japan. Japanese Government officials, they said, had sealed the radios of all ships and have prohibited the sending of even private messages from Tokio and vicinity.

Other refugees reported that many illiterate Japanese attribute the earthquake and fire to the influence of "foreign devils." Still other Japanese, they say, have spread rumors that the earthquake was caused by an explosion of Standard oil tanks.

Japanese officials are doing everything possible to prevent circulation of such rumors.

It is believed the censorship which refugees arriving at Shanghai referred to was that announced by the Japanese authorities in connection with code messages. No messages may be sent either to or from Japan by cable unless they are in plain English or Japanese. Nothing but Government messages may be sent to Japan by radio as yet, although press dispatches and personal messages may be sent from Japan by radio.

British Insurance Companies to Adhere to Quake Clause.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—British insurance companies operating in Japan resolved unanimously, at a recent meeting, to adhere to the clause common to all their policies, exempting the companies from liability due to damages from earthquakes or their consequences.

Appalling Loss of Life Among Refugees in Fire Confirmed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Further confirmation of the appalling loss of life among refugees who crowded into the compound of the army clothing warehouse in the Hon Jo Ward of Tokio during the fire following the earthquake was contained in an official dispatch from the Tokio Foreign Office, received here yesterday by the Japanese embassy. Almost all of the 32,000 persons who jammed the compound were burned to death, the dispatch said.

Detailing measures of relief being taken by the authorities, the Foreign Office said:

"At the Cabinet meeting on the ninth it was decided to exempt from import duty all rice, beef, poultry ang eggs.

"Since the earthquake 4,000,000 bushels of rice have been shipped to Tokio and Yokohama."

Quake May Have Permanent Effect on Ocean Current, Mariners Say.

By the Associated Press.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Sept. 13.—Mariners here declare they believe the recent earthquakes in Japan may have a permanent effect on many of the ocean currents. The Japanese current is subject to change by earthquake, according to Government tabulations, and it is said the current varied slightly in 1906 after the disaster at San Francisco.

TOKIO, Sept. 13.—Officials estimate the number of dead in Yokohama at 23,767, of whom 146 were foreigners, excluding Chinese. Casualties at the Yokosuka naval base totaled 4331.

The public is waiting for the fire insurance companies to take action. The companies, with capital aggregating 200,000,000 yen ($100,000,000 approximately) reserves of $75,000,000, face estimated losses of 2,000,000,000 yen.

CITY HOLDS ROADS CAN'T BE MADE TO USE FREE BRIDGE

Opinion by Associate Counselor Dolan Shatters Argument of Gerhart for Approach on East Side.

The railroads could not be compelled to use the municipal bridge if the city should make physical connection between the bridge and the roads by constructing another approach on the east side, it was held today by the City Counselor's office.

This shatters a vital factor of the argument of Frank H. Gerhart and a considerable following he has built up that a northeast approach crossing the lines of most of the trunk lines entering St. Louis from the east would force use of the bridge by the roads. Gerhart contended that St. Louis shippers could route freight specifically by the municipal bridge and the roads would be compelled to accept the routing.

Today's opinion by the City Counselor's office declares that rulings of the Interstate Commerce Commission and decisions by courts show no support for this theory. "There is no act of Congress by which a railroad could be compelled to use the northeast approach to the municipal bridge if such an approach were constructed," the opinion concludes. It was written by Associate City Counselor Dolan.

Mayor's Veto Before Board.

The Board of Aldermen is being urged at this time to override the Mayor's veto of a bill instructing that the condemnation of land for the construction of a northeast approach to the bridge proceed. For the construction of the approach $1,500,000 was provided in the recent bond issue.

The Mayor's veto was to come up before the Aldermen tomorrow when they reconvene after the summer recess. An informal meeting was called yesterday by President Neun, at which it was agreed to postpone action until Nov. 2 to obtain advice from the City Counselor's office and to seek information on the problem elsewhere. The board as a committee of the whole will hold several hearings on the bill before Nov. 2.

Neun urged delay until more information was available. He pointed out that $1,500,000 was provided by the bond issue, but city engineers had estimated the cost at approximately $5,000,000. He also stated he had asked the City Counselor for an opinion on whether the railroads could be compelled to use the approach, when built, as maintained by its proponents. He stated he had been informed of court decisions which did not support this contention.

Several Aldermen, including Watts, Wander and Krueger, urged that the board go ahead and again pass the bill over the Mayor's veto, but the opinion of others, who said they wanted additional information, prevailed. The Mayor vetoed the bill on the ground it was passed without first being approved by the Citizens' Supervisory Committee, thus ignoring an administration pledge on the manner in which the $87,372,500 bond issue for public improvements would be expended.

The Tenth Ward Improvement Association, which recently adopted a motion condemning the Mayor's veto of the bridge bill, has sent circular letters to members urging them to attend the board meeting tomorrow.

Issue Split Organization.

This organization suffered a split recently when Arthur Stoehr, a member of the Supervisory Committee, was ousted as president of the Tenth Ward Association because he refused to support a movement for construction of the bridge approach regardless of cost. His followers declare they will reorganize the association.

Letters sent out by L. F. Padberg, financial secretary, elected by the faction which ousted Stoehr, state that H. C. Koenig has refused to turn over the books and financial records. Koenig has sided with Stoehr. Padberg is requesting dues for the year be paid to him, in advance.

NO ADEQUATE EXPLANATION OF CAUSE OF WRECK, COONTZ SAYS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — Admiral Coontz, commanding the United State fleet, reported to the Navy Department today that no adequate explanation had been given for the unusual position of the seven American destroyers when they were wrecked on the California coast Saturday night. He declared the squadron was far off its prescribed course and was steaming in a fog at 20 knots an hour.

Officials in charge of the inquiry have been ordered by the department to expedite any information bearing upon the causes of the disaster without awaiting for completion of the investigating board's report. Secretary Denby was said to feel that the unusual features of the case necessitated special action.

CHILD LABOR LAW INTERPRETED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—An opinion issued today by Attorney-General Barrett to Commissioner of Labor Statistics Nations holds that children under the age of 15 years, even though holding permit certificates, cannot be employed at any gainful occupation after 7 p. m., and not more than eight hours in any one day. The opinion says that the words of the statute prohibiting more than 48 hours' employment for such children in any one week means, when road in connection with other statutes, that eight hours a day is the limit allowed by law.

The opinion was written by Assistant Attorney-General Crowder and approved by Attorney-General Barrett.

SEIZURES OF BEER IN CHICAGO

Policemen Stationed Near Brewing Plants—5 Truck Loads Taken.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—With policemen stationed near brewing plants throughout Chicago today, five truck loads of beer were seized as Mayor Dever and the police sought to quelch the beer-running trade in Chicago and its accompanying rumors of official corruption.

SWISS PRESIDENT BARRED AS ARBITER OF FIUME ISSUE

Italy Announces That She Cannot Accept Decision by Him in Dispute With Jugo-Slavia.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—Italy has notified Switzerland that she cannot accept the decision of the Swiss President as arbiter of her dispute with Jugo-Slavia over Fiume, believing that such a step might unfavorably affect the pleasant relations between Italy and the Swiss confederation. The impression here is that the controversy must be settled by direct negotiations.

Italy's notification that she cannot accept arbitration apparently brings an impasse in the issue with Jugo-Slavia. The time limit given by Italy to the Jugo-Slavs for a reply to her demands on Fiume expires within 48 hours, so that little time remains for further exchanges.

There is no definite information here as to Italy's next move, beyond reports from Paris, previously received, that Italy will proclaim the annexation of Fiume upon the expiration of the time limit on Sept. 15.

ATHENS, Sept. 13.—It is understood here that the salute to the allies, required of Greece in the Janina murder reparation terms laid down by the Council of Ambassadors, will take place Sept. 20. The country remains tranquil and is awaiting the fulfillment of the formalities demanded by the Council.

The Island of Corfu now has the aspect of an Italian base, says a dispatch received here from Corfu. A full Italian army corps has been landed and there are indications that there will be prolonged occupation.

A semiofficial statement denies that the arrest has been ordered of Col. Botzaris, Greek member of the International Commission for the delimitation of the Greco-Albanian frontier, who has been accused by Italian newspapers of having instigated the murder of the Italian members of the commission.

Spanish Troops at Barcelona Revolt; Take Over Control

The movement does not seem to have met with difficulties in the Catalan region.

The present revolt in Spain centers in that hotbed of Spanish agitation, the district of Catalonia, with its populous capital of Barcelona. This has long been the scene of Carlist conspiracy and revolt seeking to restore the Carlist dynastic line. It is also the center of the Separatist movement, which seeks to make the great commercial area around Barcelona a separate State of Southern Spain, detached from Madrid as the center of Northern Spain.

Catalonia also has been the main rendezvous for the extreme agitationist elements, including the Spanish anarchists, and the so-called modernists. The attempt to assassinate King Alfonso at the time of his marriage to Queen Victoria of Battenberg, originated in that locality and the would-be assassin came from the anarchistic school developed there.

Opposed to Policy in Morocco.

It is notable from the dispatches that the present movement is not dynastic, as the manifesto issued by Capt.-Gen. Primo-Rivera is directed against "professional politicians for seizing the power and annihilating the will of the king." The military element also has taken a marked sympathetic attitude toward the present royal family and is looked upon as one of its chief proponents as against the discords of political elements and the agitation of extremists. King Alfonso himself has taken a somewhat benevolent attitude toward the warring political factions, and through the influence of the old Spanish nobility and the army and navy, has usually been able to overcome the various disruptive movements.

The recent Spanish reverses in Morocco have added a new element of discontent and political rivalry. With this have come new political rivalries over the Spanish zone in northern Morocco, with Italy recently taking a hand in what had before been considered a field largely for Spain, France and England. The leader of the present movement has been one of the conspicuous opponents of the Spanish policy in Morocco.

Primo Rivera's Career Stormy.

Capt.-Gen. Primo Rivera is the principal figure of the present coup d'etat and appears to be directing its political ends. He is of a distinguished old Spanish family, with the title of Marquis de Estella and is a lieutenant-general in the army. Before becoming captain-general of Barcelonia, he was captain-general of Madrid, where he had a stormy career by reason of his outspoken utterances against the Morocco adventure. He was finally dismissed amid a storm of agitation at Madrid, but within a few months, on March 15 last year, was nominated captain-general of Barcelona and the surrounding region of Catalonia.

While captain-general of Madrid, Primo-Rivera was ex-officio a member of the Spanish Senate and it was here that he created a sensation by his emphatic views. He said the possession of Gibraltar, now held by England, was required to secure the unity of Spain and the integrity of its geographical and political conditions. He also declared that Spain must abandon Morocco as of no military value. This declaration by the highest military authority at Madrid, caused an immense sensation. Military circles were divided. Primo-Rivera declined to withdraw his utterances and was finally dismissed in order to calm the storm.

The military element in Barcelona, it is said, was disgruntled over the liberty allowed the extreme Catalanists, who represent only a small part of the population of the city in holding demonstrations against Spain and launching insults against the dead comrades of the military men in Morocco.

The Government asked Primo-Rivera to postpone any action he might have contemplated until the reopening of the Cortes. His comrades refused to wait, and publication of his proclamation today followed.

Primo Rivera is understood to have been displeased because of the refusal of the Government to name him Senator. He came out against the military juntas, or officer's committees and his opponents retaliated with the criticism that his rapid rise could be attributed to his relationship to high officials.

Official Statement Says Cabinet Will Maintain Its Position.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Sept. 13.—After a Cabinet meeting today, the following statement was issued: "The Captain General of Barcelona last night proclaimed on his own responsibility a state of siege in that district, seized the communications and invited other districts to support his action.

"In order to explain this step he published a manifesto to the country, declaring that the army called upon the sovereign to save Spain and asking for the dismissal of the present Ministers.

"In certain districts it appears the military forces are disposed to concur in this attitude of rebellion.

"The Cabinet is in permanent session and will maintain its position, which it will abandon only under force should the promoters of this sedition decide to follow up their policy with all its consequences.

The Council of Ministers held special meetings at 3 o'clock this morning to consider the situation at Barcelona.

King Alfonso returned to Madrid on the Southern Express at 11 o'clock this morning. The station was surrounded by troops and every precaution was taken to keep unauthorized persons away.

Conditions in Madrid present a normal aspect.

The army as a whole, it is declared, remains loyal to the Government.

Treatment of Army by Cabs Blamed for Uprising.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—The cause of the seizure of power by the military in Spain is understood here to be the treatment of the army by the Spanish Cabinet and Parliament after the military reverses in the campaign against the Moroccan rebels.

The civil government undertook to punish the army officers who were held responsible, while declining, it is alleged to act against civilian contractors and functionaries in various governmental departments for furnishing inadequate supplies to the expeditionary force in Morocco.

The military juntas, or officers' committees of the army, accused civilian officials with corruption in supplying war materials and in dilatory deliveries.

The juntas gave notice to the Government months ago that, unless these civilian culpables were arrested and tried, the army would act for itself.

Health Commissioner Asks That City and Business Interests Devise Plan to Handle Situation.

RATE OF IMMIGRATION FAILS TO DECREASE

Several Thousand Negroes Evade Union Station Examination in Various Ways —Overcrowding Grows.

Action by the municipal government and business interests of the city to devise a program for handling the health and housing situation resulting from the influx of negroes into St. Louis from the South is recommended in a report sent by Health Commissioner Starkloff yesterday to Director of Public Welfare Cunliff.

"I am not an alarmist," Dr. Starkloff stated, "but this, to my mind, presents the most serious problem from a public health angle that has ever confronted St. Louis."

As has been related, Dr. Starkloff recently estimated the present negro population of the city at 100,000, based on observations of his department. This is a gain of more than 30,000 over the negro population shown for the city in the 1920 census.

Says Many Evade Scrutiny.

The rate at which the negroes are arriving—estimated by the Health Department at 4500 to 5000 a month in July and August—is not diminishing, Commissioner Starkloff said. Daily reports of department physicians at Union Station, who examine arrivals from the South, both whites and negroes, show that 1072 negroes, who said they planned to stay here, were examined in the first 10 days of September, as compared to 887 in the first 10 days of August.

Only white persons and negroes who expect to stay in the city are examined to determine if they require vaccination, Dr. Starkloff said. Many evade the examination by stating they do not intend to stay, he stated. The physicians are stationed only at Union Station.

"From the observation of this division," Dr. Starkloff said in his report, "I am confident that several thousand more are arriving in St. Louis at various points where physicians are not stationed. Freight trains bring a large number, and many get off at East St. Louis, Washington avenue, Broadway and Tower Grove stations. Many assert they are going through, whereas they intend to stop here, and so are not in the list of the inspected."

Two Smallpox Cases.

Dr. Starkloff stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter that his department had not prepared any definite plan for dealing with the increasing overcrowding in the negro districts, but was endeavoring to safeguard health of the city by vaccination of arrivals. Last week, two persons, taken off a train at Union Station, were suffering from smallpox, he said. He suggested that a plan should be worked out through co-operation of city departments and business and civic groups. Director Cunliff is out of the city.

Discussing in his report the increasing influx from the South, Dr. Starkloff said: "The questions naturally arise as to what will be the effect from the standpoint of health, considering the overcrowded condition of the negro quarters of the huddling together of thousands where sufficient room was not provided for those prior to this influx; what will be the situation should any epidemic of disease invade these closely congested quarters; and what will be the effect on the community as a whole should such a condition arise.

Calls Problem Serious.

"I am not an alarmist, but this, to my mind, presents the most serious problem, from a public health angle, that has ever confronted St. Louis. Not only by reason of housing conditions and insanitary living, but because of the inadequacy of arrangements of the city of St. Louis to care for any large excess of sick persons in the eleemosynary institutions, that are now crowded to capacity. This applies particularly to infectious diseases.

"Even though we are fortunate enough this winter to escape these diseases, the peril of the situation is not lessened from the standpoint of immigration. Until proper provisions are made for housing, it is only a question of time when we will be confronted with this impending danger."

A meeting of representatives of white and negro agencies in the Community Council and of other organizations interested in formation of a race relations commission has been called by the Community Council for tomorrow afternoon in Vandervoort's auditorium, to organize a Department on Race Relations. It will be a part of the Council.

The object will be to unify the work of the various agencies and to develop an effective program for the welfare of negroes in St. Louis.

Candor Better Than Illusion.

The Chancellor, after reviewing the economic position, turned to foreign questions. He said that openness was better than illusion and, therefore, he wished openly to say that without solution of the foreign political dispute the financial situation could not be settled and the collapse of the mark could not be restrained.

Even Chancellor Cuno, said Herr Stresemann, had never contended that negotiations could only be undertaken after the evacuation of the Ruhr. The object of passive resistance was only to free the Ruhr territory and the Government would be doing a great service if it could shorten the Ruhr dispute as far as possible. Feelers hitherto put out, however, showed the difficulties which existed.

"For us," continued the Chancellor, "the question of sovereignty of the Rhineland and regaining the freedom of the Ruhr territory is decisive. For it we are ready to give real guarantees. M. Poincare, in a recent speech, said he preferred the positive securities which France had in hand to the finest theoretical rights. He did not intend to exchange pledges for general guarantees and emphasized further that the guarantees suggested belonged to the mortgages which the treaty of Versailles gave to the allies on the entire possessions of the Reich.

Calls Poincare's View Erroneous.

"This conception of the French Premier I must describe as erroneous. According to the Versailles treaty, the property of Reich and individual states is a pledge for Germany's obligations. What I suggested referred to the direct enlistment of private property and thus goes beyond the treaty.

"If we are given assurance that every one whose home is in the Rhineland or the Ruhr will be restored to his home, there is no reason why this once prosperous and productive area should not regain its former zest for work. I trust such a settlement will be possible.

"France, through her Premier, has repeatedly declared she does not contemplate annexation and does not intend to remain in the Ruhr. Great Britain certainly concurs in this attitude. Belgium undoubtedly would welcome the restoration of normal economic conditions and we are convinced that Italy shares the same views.

Understanding Is Necessary.

"The question for us is whether the German economic organism would be able to carry the burden expected of it. We know in what difficult times we live, but can state with satisfaction that the present Government has been assured by the leading representatives of industry and finance that they would take their share of the obligations in connection with the scheme of guarantees proposed by Germany which will render payments possible.

"The possibility of an understanding with France depends upon whether a suitable atmosphere can be created between France and Germany. An understanding is certainly necessary."

INDIAN HEIRESS TO $2,000,000 VISITS CITY

Maude Lee Mudd, 14, Hopes to Become an Artist-Pianist Some Day.

Maude Lee Mudd, 14-year-old Indian heiress to more than $2,000,000 in oil lands, lead mines and cash in Oklahoma, is making her first extended visit away from her native State in St. Louis this week. She was brought here by her custodian, Mrs. Ella Shannon, of Miami, Ok., who is visiting her uncle, George W. Sweeden, at 3345 Ohio avenue.

Maude Lee is a full-blooded Osage. Her fortune is divided into three holdings. The first, 600 acres of oil land in Osage County, Oklahoma, was her father's share of Oklahoma land apportioned the Osage tribe by the Government. The second, 200 acres of land in Ottawa County, containing four lead and zinc mines, she inherited recently from an aunt, Lucy Beaver Perry. The third, a cash credit of nearly $1,000,000 at the Pawhuska Indian Agency, is the accrued income from her oil lands.

Reared as Indian Maiden.

Maude Lee's father, Albert Mudd, was killed when she was only 18 months old. Following the death of her father, Maude Lee's mother gave Maude into the keeping of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Crow, poor Indian farmers living about 30 miles from Miami, and remarried. The grandparents followed the Indian customs and reared the heiress to millions as they believed a daughter of the Osage tribe should be reared. She did the chores around the small farm and assisted at the various feasts and ritualistic ceremonies of the tribe.

Maude Lee attended school infrequently during her childhood on her grandparents' farm. Because of her ever-increasing wealth her condition was called to the attention of Government authorities. In October, last, W. M. Simms, an attorney of Vinita, Ok., was appointed her legal guardian. It was necessary to employ habeas corpus proceedings to get Maude Lee from her grandparents. When this was accomplished she was placed in the custody of Mrs. Shannon.

Desires to Be a Pianist.

Maude Lee's second inheritance, the 200 acres of Ottawa County land, resulted in a legal fight testing the Oklahoma law governing divorced persons. The land, with another 200 acres, was the property of Maude Lee's aunt, Lucy Beaver Perry, who had divorced her first husband, and, in violation of a law forbidding divorced persons to marry within six months after being granted a decree, had gone out of the State and remarried within three months. The first husband subsequently died and when Lucy Perry died last year, her second husband, Sam Perry, claimed her estate. Maude Lee and a brother of Lucy Perry contested Sam Perry's claim and won the suit, dividing the property. Maude Lee was represented in this suit by Bert Chandler, former Congressman, who was allowed a fee of $17,500.

Maude Lee wants to be an artist and pianist. She has made some headway in art and music, according to Mrs. Shannon, and will continue her studies, when she completes a high school course, which is some years distant. It is the wish of her guardian that she continue through the public grade and high schools. Her fortune, at the present rate of accumulation, probably will reach eight figures when Maude Lee becomes 21 years old.

Buys Radio Set Here.

She will return to Miami Saturday to begin her last year in graded school. Her only purchase of importance in St. Louis was a radio set. She receives $25 a week for spending money. Her living expenses are paid directly to Mrs. Shannon, who also receives $100 monthly as legal custodian.

Maude Lee was her father's only heir, although she has several half brothers and sisters as the result of her mother's second marriage. Neither these children nor her mother shared in Albert Mudd's estate.

Aeronautics Bureau Chief Thinks Official Sanction for Attempt Will Be Given.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—A flight by the giant navy airship ZR-1 to the North Pole, predicted several months ago, is becoming a live possibility. Rear Admiral William A Moffett, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, hopes to be able to make such a flight by next spring.

The performance of the ZR-1 so far has been so satisfactory that it is quite probable official sanction will be forthcoming after the huge airship has proved herself on longer flights.

Admiral Moffett, in a formal statement, refers specifically to a possible North Pole flight. Secretary Denby is so impressed with the performance of ZR-1 that is is believed he would consent unless the big dirigible should develop serious faults in further trials.

Admiral Moffett said in his statement:

"The success of the ship to date is a triumph of American industry, not only for her designers, but for the manufacturers of her fabric, engines and duralumin, for the workmen, naval aircraft factory and the naval air station, Lakehurst, N. J.

"Last February the Navy Department announced in a radio broadcast that the ZR-1, upon completion, would make flights to the principal cities of the East, and later more extended flights, and then, if practicable, a flight to the North Pole. The first part of this program has been carried out and the rest of it will be in time—it is hoped by next spring.

"She will not only be employed as a naval scout, but data will be kept to prove whether rigid airships can be made a commercial success. She will be used for voyages to other parts of the world heretofore inaccessible, for exploration and discovery. We hope we are at the beginning of a new era of transportation and communication.

"If handled carefully, all precautions taken, no unnecessary risks run, and the personnel thoroughly trained in airmanship, I have no doubt whatever of the success of this great venture and that rigid airships will be shown to be practicable as a means of transportation."

Among the possible projects Admiral Moffett has in view is a flight up the Amazon River to solve the mysteries of the great Amazon Valley, of which little is known.

TAXICAB SUIT BEING HEARD

Hotel Company Seeks Injunction to Prevent Blocking of Traffic.

A suit of the Jefferson Hotel Co. to enjoin certain taxicab companies and service car operators from blocking traffic in front of the hotel and soliciting trade among the guests is on trial today before Circuit Judge Hartmann. The companies among the defendants are the Brown, Black and White, Red Top, Checker and Diamond cab companies. The Yellow Cab Co., with which the hotel has an arrangement, is not named in the proceeding.

Lyman T. Hay, president and general manager of the hotel, testified the hotel had a verbal arrangement with the Yellow Cab Co. by which the hotel receives $150 a month for office space of the cab company in the hotel and two meals a day to the cab company's agent there. He said this arrangement was entered into primarily for the protection of guests, following complaints of overcharging. The other cab companies took up stands in front of the hotel and on St. Charles street last April, following a decision by Judge Hartmann in a similar case, against Hotel Statler.

GARY ON BUSINESS OUTLOOK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation said today:

"I do not think anyone is justified in concluding that anything is in sight to indicate a serious depression in business in the near future. There have been reports recently that the steel business as well as business generally was falling off sharply.

"According to our latest reports our finishing mills are working at 89.4 per cent capacity and while there may be a decline from this figure, it appears at present that new business during the next 60 days will be larger than it has been for the same period just passed."

John J. Kleekamp's Will.

The will of John J. Kleekamp, former piano dealer, who died Sept. 3 at his home, 3528 Crittenden street, which was filed yesterday, directs that $15,000 go to a brother, Henry Kleekamp of Chicago; a total of $7000 to other relatives and $500 each to the following institutions: Little Sisters of the Poor, St. Joseph's Catholic Orphans' Home, Kenrick Seminary, St. Vincent de Paul Society and St. Louis University. The sum of $200 is set aside for masses for the repose of his soul. The rest of the estate, which includes Kleekamp's Hall at 3121 South Grand boulevard, goes to a sister, Miss Minnie Kleekamp.

Three Killed When Making Bombs.

By the Associated Press.

OPORTO, Sept. 13.—Three men manufacturing bombs were killed yesterday when the bombs exploded. A raid on another suspected house resulted in the discovery of 54 bombs and other arms.

DIVERS BEGIN LAYING POWER CABLES IN RIVER

Two divers, each drawing pay that is the dream of a plasterer—$40 a day—began work today in the Mississippi a half mile south of the Municipal Bridge, laying the first of the 12 cables which will connect the Cahokia plant of the Union Electric Light & Power Co. with the St. Louis distributing system.

The wages dwindle somewhat in attractiveness when Superintendent Norman S. Bateman, who often goes down himself, describes the shifting, sliding river bed where the men must work and the efforts required to hold their own against the current. It is necessary to lie flat and crawl, digging their arms deep into the mud and occasionally curling into balls to squeeze the air out of their suits to avoid being swept downstream. Standing is impossible.

Must Work by Feeling.

They must go entirely by "feel," as it is impossible to see. Lights, even if the men could hold them while busy clamping down the cables, would be useless. The "Big Muddy" is impenetrable to vision.

"If their air line gets punctured we must haul them up in a hurry to save them, but if their life lines foul—well, then, they must work out their own salvation, unless another diver can get to them," said Bateman yesterday.

The outfit, including the grotesque, bulbous helmet, weighs more than 100 pounds. The uniform itself is of rubberized substance, both water and airproof. The cumbrous shoes are soled with lead.

Use "Chinese Anchors."

The moment the little round facepiece is screwed in, two men begin turning the handpower wheels of the airpump with a gradually accelerated motion. The greater the depth, the faster they turn. The airpump resembles an old-fashioned coffee-mill except that it has two handwheels instead of one. The diver regulates the exit of air from his helmet to suit himself by opening or closing tiny vents over his ears. Every part of his body is protected, except his hands, which are bare.

The work of the divers is to clamp the cables into position on the river bed so as to make them secure against the currents of the river and its scouring sands.

Three "Chinese anchors," which are three-ton rectangular concrete blocks, have been placed at even intervals in the bed of the river, with steel rails protruding from them like tentacles to prevent their overturning. Loose end wires float downstream from these anchors and the cables will be clamped 10 feet apart to these wires.

WENT 238 MILES AN HOUR IN PLANE

Lieut. Sanderson of the U. S. Marine Corps, who established an unofficial world's speed record over a measured course at Roosevelt, Long Island, Monday, driving the navy Wright fighter at a speed of 238 miles an hour, will pilot the same machine in the Pulitzer Trophy Race in St. Louis next month.

No Labor Party in Illinois.

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 13.—There will be no "Labor party" in Illinois this year, sanctioned by the Illinois Federation of Labor. After a delay entirely devolved to fighting the question, the forty-first annual federation convention late yesterday voted it down, 456 to 65.

TENNESSEE GIRL OF 15 KILLS SELF IN ST. LOUIS

Sister Sees Her Slash Throat With Knife—Death Comes in Few Minutes.

Jessie Edmonds, though only 15 years old, had the greatest cause for unhappiness that an unmarried young woman can have when she came here six weeks ago from the Tennessee River country to visit her sister, Mrs. Anne Farless of 3019 Easton avenue.

She did not tell her sister of her trouble, and Mrs. Farless, busy with the care of her 10-months-old baby, did not perceive that anything was wrong. Jessie prolonged her visit after her brother, who accompanied her here, had gone home and went to work in a downtown store.

Last night, Mrs. Farless arose about midnight to care for the baby, and saw her sister going to the kitchen. She followed the girl and saw her slash her throat with a bread knife. The girl died a few minutes later.

No note was found, and the only explanation came when physicians examined the girl's body. It appeared from their finding that her condition had its beginning before she came to St. Louis. Her home is in Fort Henry, Tenn., but she had been in Murray, Ky., for a time before coming here.

Union Official to Sue Brookhart.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 13.—John Watt, secretary of the local subdistrict, United Mine Workers of America, said today that he had instructed his attorney, Morris Hillquist of New York, to file suit for damages of $10,000 against United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa and the Thomas Brady Booking Agency of New York, because of the Senator's refusal to speak here Labor day at the United Mine Workers' celebration.

New Job for W. W. Hoxton.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—W. W Hoxton, secretary of the Federal Reserve Board since 1919, yesterday was elected a class C director and designated by the Federal Reserve Board as Federal reserve agent and chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. Hoxton came to Washington from St. Louis, where he was deputy governor of the Reserve Bank.

Why don't you follow his good example?

Of course you have a friend who rolls his cigarettes from "Bull" Durham.

Just notice this next time—it never fails. He accepts your cigarettes politely . . . then after awhile he pulls out the old sack of "Bull". And he always says, "Now I want a real smoke."

Then see his satisfied look and expression. He rolls his own—and only from "Bull." Nothing else in the world will give him such quality—such a personal and satisfying cigarette.

And then there's the big saving. We are getting letters all the time from men who are saving $79 and more a year rolling their own from "Bull" Durham.

What about you?

Don't you want to find out why so many smokers prefer it to other cigarettes—at any price!

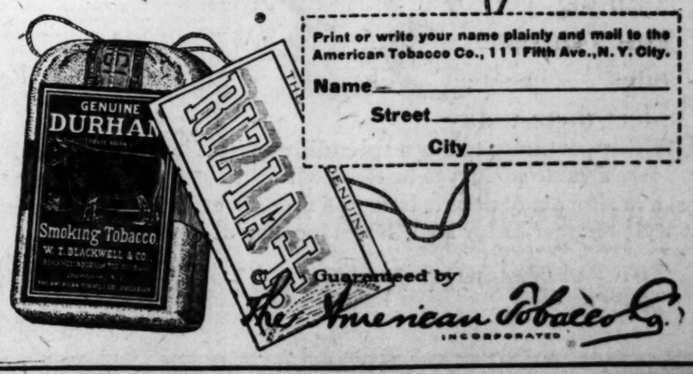

We are going to make it easy and worth your while to do so.

We are going to send you, free at your request, a generous sample of "Bull" Durham, and a sample of 24 sheets of imported Riz la Croix paper—the finest made.

This free "get-acquainted" package will start you towards what thousands of other men already call "the one real smoke."

(And please don't forget this: "Bull" Durham gives you 50 unequalled cigarettes for 10 cents)

SAYS PRINCE SHE KILLED THREATENED HER LIFE

Wife, on Trial for Murder, Tells How Negro Guard Was in Room While She Dressed.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Mme. Marie Marguerite Fahmy, on trial in Old Bailey Court for the murder of her husband, the millionaire Egyptian pseudo prince, fainted in the dock when she took the stand in her own defense yesterday.

Mme. Fahmy shot her husband, 10 years younger than herself, in the Savoy Hotel two months ago.

"One day after we had quarreled in Cairo," she testified when she first took the stand, "my husband took the Koran in his hand and said, 'I swear on this Koran I will kill you and that you will die by my hand.'"

While they were cruising the Nile he placed a guard of negroes to watch her day and night, one of them being in the room while she dressed. When she objected, her husband said, "He doesn't count. He is nobody."

She testified that Fahmy in Paris once threatened to horsewhip her, and in London, after a quarrel, said: "There is an open window four stories from the ground."

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE DISCUSSED

A delegation of team and truck owners, representing companies engaged in the transfer business and other forms of heavy hauling, met today in the office of Director of Streets and Sewers Fisk to discuss with him the proposed ordinance which is designed to exclude heavy vehicular traffic from certain thoroughfares.

It was pointed out that the extra large trucks, many of which are overloaded at times, seriously injure asphalt streets and boulevards of other paving material. The owners promised to co-operate with the police in a plan that is to be worked out by the Traffic Bureau of the Police Department. They were told that the ordinances regulating the amount of tonnage and the width of wheels on heavy trucks would be rigidly enforced.

MARRIAGE AFFECTS LEGACY

Woman to Receive More If She Ceases to Be Man's Wife.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12.—Penalty for her marriage to Donald L. Browne was provided in his bequest to a daughter in the will of Harry Darby, wealthy Kansas City, Kan., man, filed for probate in the Wyandotte County Probate Court today. The will provides that the estate be held in trust 10 years.

If the daughter remains Browne's wife, she will get $150 a month for the 10 years, and then one-sixth of the estate shall be held in trust for her children. If she ceases to be Browne's wife, she will get $175 a month the first five years and $275 thereafter as long as the estate is held in trust, and one-sixth of the estate at the end of the trust period.

The estate, it is estimated, is worth about half a million dollars. Besides being president of the Missouri Boiler Works, Darby owned interests in several banks and other property in Kansas City, Kan.

PYORRHEA MENACES HEALTH AND BEAUTY

This Dread Disease Affects the Health and Destroys the Beauty of the Mouth.

Pyorrhea with its pale, spongy, bleeding, receding gums not only makes the mouth unsightly, but affects the general health in many ways.

Anyone now, however, can have a prettier mouth with white pearly teeth in sound pink gums. Moore's Pyorrhea Remedy promptly overcomes Pyorrhea and brings the gums to a normal, healthy conditions. Moore's Tooth Paste for Pyorrhea keeps the teeth clean and white and prevents a recurrence of Pyorrhea condition. It contains no soap or grit and is healing, cleansing and refreshing.

Get these two remarkable products from your druggist today. Your money will be refunded if you are not satisfied with results. Note how quickly your mouth improves and how sweet and clean it feels. Pyorrhea, if neglected, means, sooner or later, the complete loss of your teeth. Save them now before it is too late.

HOBO
Kidney & Bladder Remedy
Gets Results!

Like a reprieve from the death sentence came this unusual herb remedy to Ethel Beams of Silsbee, Texas. If you are afflicted with similar troubles her letter below should mean much to you.

"Silsbee, Texas
Nov. 22, 1922.

I was treated for about one year by physicians in Silsbee and Beaumont and they suggested taking me to Galveston to one of the greatest specialists in the South, and he pronounced my case as Brights Disease and Diabetes, said that I would not be living in ninety days. Several friends recommended Hobo Kidney and Bladder Remedy to me. The third bottle of Hobo began to relieve me, and after taking fourteen bottles I was cured. The last analysis showed there was no albumin or sugar in the urine: I can say that Hobo saved my life and gladly recommend it to anyone suffering from like troubles.

Ethel Beams."

Hobo is a new and effective balm for kidney and bladder treatment. Made of herbs—no alcohol to irritate—no drugs to form habit. Sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere. 5

Burned Before Bridge Party

But Band-Aid Saved the Day and Hid the Scar on Her Hand.

She was going to the Craven's that evening—her first invitation to their beautiful home—and of course she knew she would meet the very nicest people. So of course she had to burn her hand when she used her curling iron.

"Oh, dear," she sobbed, disconsolately, "everybody'll see it—for you just can't hide your hands when you're playing cards."

But it was not as bad as she thought when her mother appeared with Band-Aid—that handy, instant first-aid little bandage. "No one will ever notice it now, for Band-Aid wraps so neatly," her mother said as she cut off a piece and covered the little gauze pad with vaseline. Placing this over the burn, she pressed down the adhesive sides and the wonderfully neat and inconspicuous Band-Aid bandage was fixed in an instant.

Band-Aid costs but 25c, and should be in every home for binding cuts, burns and bruises. If your own druggist cannot supply you, send his name to Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J., and a free sample will be sent you.

KILLS PESKY BED BUGS P. D. Q.

Just think, a 35c box of P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils Quietus) makes a quart, enough to kill a million Bed Bugs, Roaches, Fleas or Cooties, and stops future generations by killing their eggs, and does not injure the clothing. Liquid fire to the Bed Bugs is what P. D. Q. is like; Bed Bugs stand as good a chance as a snowball in a justly famed heat resort. Patent spout free in every package of P. D. Q., to enable you to kill them and their nest eggs in the cracks.

Look for the devil's head on every box. Special Hospital size, $2.50, makes five gallons: contains three spouts. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles double strength liquid form.

CONSTANT INCREASE IN DRY LAW CASES SHOWN

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Conviction of Judges, attorneys, Federal and state officials and millionaires among the host found guilty of violating the prohibition laws was detailed in a report submitted to President Coolidge yesterday by Attorney-General Daugherty.

A synopsis of the report, made public with the assent of the President, reviewed the Federal judiciary's work in enforcing the prohibition law in the first 41 months of its operation. It showed that since the statute went into effect Jan. 16, 1920, more than 90,000 cases had been terminated in United States courts with 72,489 convictions and fines aggregating $12,467,660. There has been a constant yearly increase in prohibition prosecutions, the report showed, while jail sentences for the past 23 months have totaled more than 3000 years.

80 Per Cent Found Guilty.

In 80 per cent of Federal Court cases, the report said, the defendants were found guilty. Although the records for the last fiscal year are not completed, the report estimated that there had been at least 10,000 more convictions than in the preceding year and 15,000 more than for two years ago. These figures, Daugherty said, indicated a stricter enforcement in every section of the country.

The Attorney-General told the President he was of the impression that the Government's enforcement officials, radiating from Washington, were coping with the liquor problem in a highly satisfactory manner. Department of Justice officials and agents, he said, were co-operating whole-heartedly everywhere and the co-ordination was resulting in general tightening of lines about liquor law violators.

Average of 73.4 Cases a Day.

Prohibition cases have been brought in the Federal courts at an average of 73.4 a day since the law went into effect, the Attorney-General said, but this rate was exceeded during the last year, the average being 111 a day. During the first five months of this year, 1497 more cases were disposed of than during the entire 1921 fiscal year.

Daugherty reported that the "padlock" provision of the prohibition law had been one of its most effective weapons, enabling closing of many buildings where liquor was sold, upon judgments that they were "nuisances." Increase of jail sentences also has been a deterring influence, Daugherty told the President.

KANSAS CITY LOSES METHODIST BIBLE SCHOOL TO NASHVILLE

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 13.—The General Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session here yesterday, voted, 37 to 18, to move the Scarritt Bible and Mission School from Kansas City, Mo., to Nashville.

The decision followed recommendation by joint committees and was officially recorded only after a redetermined fight for postponement led by Bishop W. F. McMurry of Louisville. The absence of many members of the board, Bishop McMurry contended, justified delay. Leading the fight for immediate acceptance was Bishop E. D. Mouzon of Nashville, who pointed out the adopted rule of procedure that, 20 members of the board being present there was a qurum and, accordingly, a sufficient number to justify ratification of the report.

Location of Scarritt School here will involve a considerable building program. Methodist laymen of Nashville and local business men have subscribed $50,000 to help in construction. It is probable that the building will be erected adjoining Vanderbilt University and Peabody College.

Move to Halt C. P. & St. L. Junking.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 13.—Notice of a petition for a rehearing in the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railroad abandonment case, together with claims that the road can be made a paying investment, were filed by telegram today with the Interstate Commerce Commission by Herbert A. Tuohy, traffic commissioner of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce. Tuohy has the support of the Patrons' Committee, of which H. M. Pindell of Peoria is the chairman. This committee will meet in Peoria today and draw the petition. Members of the committee have taken heart at the published statement that President Coolidge had indicated that everything possible should be done to prevent junking of the road. The sale of the road is set for Sept. 26.

Noted Cafe Closed for Nine Months.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Il Trovature Restaurant, widely known cafe in San Francisco Bohemian district, was ordered closed yesterday by Federal Judge Farrington for nine months for violation of the prohibition law. The cafe has been raided four times and was closed under abatement proceedings.

Youth Killed in Mine Accident.

By the Associated Press.

CHRISTOPHER, Ill., Sept. 13.—John Macari, 17 years old, was killed yesterday at a mine of the Old Ben Coal Corp. here. He was a trip rider and was caught under a car when going down grade.

ADVENT OF WINTER IN JAPAN FEARED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Japan's dire need of clothing and building material to protect the multitude of earthquake sufferers was recognized yesterday by the American Red Cross which authorized the quick shipment of hundreds of thousands of pieces of underwear and outer clothing as well as large quantities of corrugated iron sheltering. Urgent requests came from the stricken area that the advent of cold weather made immediate action imperative.

An indication that the Japanese Government is fearful that freezing weather will take a heavy toll from the half-nourished population was found in a message received at the Japanese Embassy here. It said that in addition to shelter and clothing, heating apparatus of all types was needed, and gasoline was asked for.

Relief Fund Growing.

The relief fund being collected in the United States for the sufferers grew steadily yesterday with $5,663,100 entered on the books at nightfall. This sum is exclusive of the $132,500 cash gift made early last week by the American Red Cross. By divisions, funds pledged include: Washington, $3,317,000; New England, $400,000; Southern, $132,600; Central, $801,000; Southwestern, $350,000; Pacific, $461,000; Insular and Foreign, $201,500.

Ambassador Hanihara advised the State Department in delivering a message from the Tokio Foreign Office that while Japan was deeply grateful for foreign aid, the Government preferred that the contributions be confined to money and supplies rather than relief personnel who, unfamiliar with language and customs, in coming to Japan at this time might add to existing confusion.

The first refugees from Japan are due to arrive at Victoria, B. C., Saturday, the Red Cross was advised. There are 160 in the party, some of them injured, while others are suffering from shock. They will be met by Red Cross nurses who will accompany them to Seattle.

Japanese Ships Co-operating.

All the Japanese steamships plying from Pacific Coast ports are co-operating with the relief agencies in the expediting of relief materials, each having notified the Red Cross officials that they had placed cargo space at their disposal.

The directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., at Philadelphia, yesterday, authorized a contribution of $10,000 to the Japanese relief.

The Salvation Army announced at New York yesterday it had cabled $100,000 to Osaka to be placed at the disposal of the Salvation Army commission in Tokio for immediate Japanese relief.

ONLY $1500 IN TREASURY OF THE "SPRINGER HEIRS, INC."

Woman Who Started Organization Says Many Alluring Statements Were False.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Although some of the numerous members of the Springer Heirs, Inc., have abandoned hope of splitting up property within the city of Wilmington, Del., valued at millions of dollars, supposed to have belonged to a common ancestor, Christopher Springer, the organization will go ahead in an effort to learn whether there is any legal claim. The Delaware Abstract Co. has been employed to investigate the title to the Springer property.

Mrs. Mary Springer McMahon of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who incorporated the organization, although still a member, will no longer be a directing spirit, it is understood. A $10 membership fee was collected from each of the 1400 members, but an accounting yesterday showed that only $1500 remained in the treasury.

An affidavit which Attorney H. M. Chadwick said he had obtained from Mrs. McMahon stated that she had spent most of the money collected in traveling. The document, purporting to have been signed by Mrs. McMahon, admitted that many alluring statements, which aroused enthusiasm among the supposed heirs, were misstatements.

Attorney Chadwick's investigation, he said today, as disclosed by the affidavit, showed that stories that Mrs. McMahon had been offered $50,000,000 for papers bearing on the Springer estate and that she had obtained permission of the King of Sweden to open the tomb of one Baron Springer, to obtain jewels and heirlooms for the Springer heirs, were unfounded.

3 MORE SENTENCES FOR KILLING

Two Men Already Convicted—Sixth to Be Tried on Murder Charge.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13.—Three more men were sentenced to serve prison terms at Newman, Ga., late yesterday in connection with the death of Millard Trouton. Floyd Weldon was found guilty by a jury of murder with recommendation for mercy and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Jeff Minter and Leon Goodrum entered pleas of guilty of manslaughter and were sentenced to three years.

Walter Feltman, also accused of murder in the Trouton case, waived corpus delecti proceedings, and will go on trial at Newman today. J. W. Minter, father-in-law of Trouton, was convicted last week of first degree murder and was sentenced to be hanged at Newman next month. His son, Grady Minter, was sentenced to life in prison following his conviction by a jury.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish
(Boudoir Secrets)
The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.

KLAN INVOLVED IN NEW ARRESTS FOR FLOGGINGS

By the Associated Press.

SHAWNEE, Ok., Sept. 13.—Flogging charges, involving the Ku Klux Klan, were filed here late yesterday by County Attorney Claud Hendon against C. M. Reber, former Major of the Oklahoma National Guard, and Malcolm Couch, formerly Chief of the Shawnee Fire Department.

The information filed by the County Attorney alleges that Reber and Couch directed the abduction and whipping of Claude McCannon and Frank Cole, local taxicab drivers, in an alfalfa field near Shawnee, about March 10, 1922.

Three or four hundred Ku Klux Klansmen took part in the flogging party, the information alleges.

Reber, it is alleged, was in charge of the mob. It is charged that he wore the regalia of the Ku Klux Klan, with a black mask, and was armed with two revolvers which he had obtained from the National Guard.

Hendon asserted that he had sworn statements in his possession to the effect that the whipping of McCannon and Cole was planned and ordered by the Ku Klux Klan in its regular executive session and that these plans were revealed to Ira Sims, local Chief of Police, who declared that he favored such action and would not interfere with the proceedings in any way.

Reber and Couch were arrested last night and taken before a Justice of the Peace. They were released on bond of $2000 each for appearance at a preliminary hearing set for Sept. 24.

Sheriff and Prosecutor Indicted for Flogging in Texas.

By the Associated Press.

AMARILLO, Tex., Sept. 13.—Sheriff Les Whittaker, County Attorney Henry Ford and four other men are today out on bond, following indictments yesterday charging participation in the recent flogging of E. T. McDonald. The Potter County grand jury returned the indictments after two weeks' investigation into the findings of Texas Rangers sent here after the flogging.

McDonald, a railroad worker, was kidnaped while walking down a street by five men in a car and taken into the country where he was flogged and given a coat of tar and feathers.

Whipped Because He "Couldn't Afford" Lunch at Restaurants.

By the Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 13.—An early end to the trial of Dr. C. A. Yarbrough, dentist, charged with rioting in connection with the whipping Jan. 13 and Nov. 4, 1922, of R. F. Mills, former Macon chiropodist, was expected by counsel here today when the third day of the trial started.

Identification of Dr. Yarbrough as a prominent member of whipping parties during the last 20 months continued yesterday, when W. O. Barnett, W. W. Arnold and R. A. Hartley, all of whom have been whipped or "talked to" by floggers during that period, pointed out the dentist as having been a member of the crowds that "took them out."

Barnett testified that he was accused of neglecting his children after the floggers had lured him out of his place f business, and also that he had been warned to either marry or discharge a woman who was working for him. Arnold testified that he was whipped because the floggers said, he was not making enough money to afford to eat his lunches at restaurants and that he was warned to bring his lunch from home. Hartley testified that he was warned against drinking or selling whisky.

CHILD RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Boy's Skull Fractured—Horse Hurt So Badly It Is Shot.

Arthur Wibbenmeyer, 3 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wibbenmeyer, of 2825 Osage street, suffered fracture of the skull and left arm when knocked down by an automobile driven by Richard Groebl of 2623 Gravois avenue as he ran across the street at Nebraska avenue and Osage street at 5 p. m. yesterday. Groebl had stopped and was starting his car again when the boy darted into the street, he told the police, and he was unable to stop again in time to avoid the accident. The child was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital.

Paul Haenni, 37, of 3739 Laclede avenue, driver of a milk wagon, was cut and bruised and one of his horses so badly hurt it had to be shot at 2 a. m. today when the outfit was overturned by an automobile at Union boulevard and Minerva avenue.

In Cell After Holdup Attempt.

Harry Ryan, 27 years old, of 1431 Chouteau avenue, is under arrest, charged with attempted robbery and carrying a concealed weapon, as the result of his unsuccessful effort to hold up the saloon of Walter Satela, 1500 Chouteau avenue, at 10 o'clock last night. The bartender and two customers, who were in the place, told police that Ryan ordered them to put up their hands and started to take their money when he suddenly ran from the saloon. He was found in a doorway across the street from his home and police say he feigned intoxication. He said today he remembered nothing of the robbery.

Boarder Shot When at Lunch.

Arthur Sigler, 48 years old, boarding at the home of Mrs. May Rogers, 48, of 517 South Broadway, was shot through the left wrist by one of three bullets fired at him as he sat eating lunch with Mrs. Rogers at the house at 5:30 p. m. yesterday. He was taken to city hospital. Fred Rogers, 67, the husband of Mrs. Rogers, was arrested an hour later at Third street and Clark avenue and had in his overall pocket a revolver with three loaded and three discharged cartridges. He admitted, Capt. Kirk reported, firing the shots and said Sigler had caused his separation from Mrs. Rogers.

GOVERNOR AND TULSANS SEEMINGLY AT IMPASSE

Demand for Resignation of Officials Alleged to Be Under Klan Domination Not Met.

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., Sept. 13.—An impasse was reached today in the negotiations between local business men and Gov. J. C. Walton for the lifting of martial law and indications pointed to the indefinite occupation of Tulsa County by State troops. That the Governor's terms would not be met appeared a certainty; and, on the other hand, the executive showed no disposition to modify his demands.

The question of the retirement of Sheriff Bob Sanford, Police Commissioner Harry Kiskaddon and the County Jury Commission, composed of J. W. Owen, Cicero L. Holland and Dr. O. E. Robinson, all of whom Gov. Walton charges are under the domination of the Ku Klux Klan, was the rock upon which the peace exchanges grounded.

Gov. Walton demands the resignation of these officials, holding that only upon their withdrawal from office can the local government be purged of klan influence, which, he alleges, has been protecting floggers.

Put Up to Business Men.

"With these officials in power and this commission selecting the juries, I don't believe we are going to get convictions of those already arrested on whipping charges, no matter how strong the evidence," the executive told the business representatives yesterday. He put it up to the business men to obtain the resignations and see that successors appointed at once were neither klan nor antiklan.

This committee, composed of H. O. McClure, president of the Chamber of Commerce; L. M. Poe, attorney, and Clarence Douglas, announced this morning, however, that no one had been delegated to wait upon the officials named by Walton. It was added that there was no likelihood that anyone would be appointed for such a purpose.

"We feel that we have about reached the end of our rope without obtaining the results we sought," said Douglas. "We have no plan for the future. There is no use trying to hide our discouragement."

Officials Decline to Resign.

The committee members said it was unlikely that they would make any further effort to reach an agreement with the Governor. Sheriff Sanford, Police Commissioner Kiskaddon and the members of the Jury Commission declare they have no intention of resigning.

Gov. Walton planned to leave here this afternoon for a hurried trip to Okmulgee, returning to Tulsa tonight to catch a train to Oklahoma City. Attention in the State's flogging inquiry turned today to Shawnee, where C. M. Reber, a former Major in the Oklahoma National Guard, and Malcolm Couch, until recently the chief of the Shawnee Fire Department, are facing whipping charges.

In an information filed by County Attorney Claude Hendon, Reber and Couch were charged with having engineered the flogging of Claude McCannon and Frank Cole, two taxicab drivers, on the night of March 10, 1922.

County Attorney's Allegations.

The County Attorney alleged that the whipping was attended by several hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan; that it was planned and ordered at a regular meeting of the klan and that Police Chief Ira Sims sanctioned the procedure, stationing his men in parts of the city where they could not interfere with the floggings. This Chief Sims branded as false.

Reber and Couch are at liberty on bond of $2500 awaiting preliminary hearing on Sept. 24.

"I am just as anxious to get the soldiers out of Tulsa and eliminate martial law here as any citizen in this room," Gov. Walton said at the Tulsa conference yesterday. "An investigation developed that your courts, jury commission and some of your officials were in the hands of a secret organization. It was found that your civil officials made no attempt whatever to stop mob violence. In fact, they encouraged it in some instances.

"Even Women Flogged."

"Whether the Ku Klux Klan is responsible for this alarming condition is not the question. Had any other organization been responsible my attitude would have been the same.

"It is a certain fact that there are in this community bands of men who have taken people of all classes out, even women, and flogged them in defiance of law. That must be stopped.

"We have reached the point, gentlemen, where the issue is the survival of invisible government or the permanency of our own visible government. I want to say to you that I am going to clean that situation up if I have to stand out alone and let them shoot at me in order to do so."

Sixth Regiment to Return.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 13.—The Sixth Infantry, commanded by Col. H. E. Yates, will leave Camp Custer Saturday morning for Jefferson Barracks, where it expects to arrive Sunday. This regiment left Jefferson Barracks last May and since has been on duty at Camp Custer, which is the largest Government training camp in the United States. Col. Yates commanded the citizens' military training camp at Camp Custer and had on his staff many officers from the regiment, including Capt. H. L. Harries, executive officer; First Lieut. R. A. Eyers, adjutant; Capt. N. D. Finley, Capt. R. G. Covsley, Capt. R. A. D. Stanis, Capt. T. C. Beck; First Lieut. L. J. Harris and Lieuts. James L. Bolt, R. V. Murphy and Walden S. Lewis.

RABBI PUTS BAN ON USE OF WINE FOR SACRAMENTAL PURPOSE

Pastor Halpern Advocates That Members of His Congregation Use Unfermented Grape Juice Instead.

The use of wine for sacramental purposes in services at the synagogue or for religious rites in the homes of members of B'nai Amoona Congregation, Vernon and Academy avenues, is to be discontinued, as the result of action taken yesterday by Rabbi A. E. Halpern at services for the second day of the Jewish New Year.

Rabbi Halpern announced that he would no longer issue permits for members of the congregation to obtain wine, advocating, instead, the use of unfermented grape juice. High authority in the orthodox Hebrew law permits the substitution of grape juice in emergencies, such as caused by the Eighteenth Amendment, he said. The action is recognized as an outgrowth of the recent arrest of Rabbi Jacob Grodsky, who officiates for four congregations, on charges of selling wine for "bootlegging" purposes. Rabbi Halpern has advocated the circulation of petitions demanding the removal of Grodsky, but said today he had not had time to push the matter.

Dinner for Old Employes.

A dinner in observance of the seventy-first anniversary of the founding of Meyer Bros. Drug Co. was given in Hotel Statler last night by the firm to its employes of more than 25 years' service, about 50 in all. The event also marked the sixtieth anniversary of Secretary Gustave J. Meyer's connection with the company. Other honor guests were Frank Amlar, with the firm for 53 years, and Louis Hellman, who has been with the house 50 years.

The All-Important Sale of the Day

Great preparations have been made for the unprecedented attendance Friday—extra salespeople and salespeople from many other departments will greet you and all have been trained to serve you quickly and efficiently.

WE intend that this year our New Record Dress Sale shall establish a record that will far exceed our past performances. We have assembled here over 2000 new Frocks—the most charming creations of the designers' skill, mostly in black, navy and brown, embodying the new length skirts, many with irregular drapes, the tailored styles, the pleated styles, the two-piece styles, the new sleeves or sleeveless, some with dashing girdles and metal buckles. Many are plain and conservative, equally many display smart flashes of beads, embroidery, fancy braids and buttons.

¶ Really this is an event almost beyond the power of description—an event which we have given more preparation than ever before—and we ask your closest inspection and comparison of the garments which will enable you to appreciate the importance of this remarkable offering.

ST. LOUIS' JAPANESE RELIEF FUND NOW TOTALS $114,809

Quota Exceeded by $14,000 and More Money Is Still Being Received.

St. Louis' contribution to the Red Cross relief fund for Japanese earthquake sufferers stood at $114,809.44 today, with money still coming in. This is nearly twice the $65,000 quota set for St. Louis by officers of the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross and exceeds by $14,809.44 the $100,000 quota voluntarily assumed by the St. Louis chapter.

When the campaign closed, $106,283.41 had been raised, but additional contributions, mostly by mail, came in later. Festus J. Wade, for the St. Louis chapter, has notified division headquarters that the money is ready to be sent at once to the national office at Washington.

Contributions of $100 or more, not previously reported, have been announced as follows: Almoner Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, $580; Roxana Petroleum Corporation, $500; employes of Famous Barr, $485.90; George F. Steedman, $250; Jackson Johnson, $200; employes of Burlington Railroad, $122.50; employes of Swift & Co., $113.25; George P. Plant, $100; Blackmer & Post Pipe Co., $100; Neidringhaus Metalware Corporation, $100; Benjamin J. Gratz, $100; Emma C. Elliot, $100.

Gasoline 14½ Cents in Des Moines

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 13.—Gasoline was selling at 14½c a gallon at all filling stations in Des Moines today, the result, officials of the Standard Oil Company announced, of price reductions "to certain choice customers" by independent concerns. The former price was 16½ cents. The reduction was ordered for Des Moines only, it was said.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 13.—Richmond Pearson, 71 years old, former American minister to Persia, Greece and Montenegro died today at his home on Richmond Hill, near here. He also served two terms in Congress.

POLITICAL GOSSIP AND OTHER TOPICS HEARD AT CAPITAL

Mrs. Harding Expected to Return to Washington to Find New Outlet for Her Energies.

COOLIDGE TACKLES REORGANIZATION PLAN

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Harding has gone home to Marion, but that she will settle down to live there again is regarded by her friends here as highly improbable. Marion, with its circumscribed mental horizon, has little to offer a woman of Mrs. Harding's temperament.

Her nature demands mental activity. When her husband was struggling to put the Marion Star in the newspaper firmament she was an active and capable helper in his office; when he entered politics she stood at his elbow, urging him on; when he reached the goal of her ambition—for it was her ambition, primarily—she continued, as always, his closest adviser. It is doubtful whether any of the preceding line of "First Ladies" played such an influential part in the affairs of the Presidency. She was intimately and continuously in touch with all that was going on.

The death of the President deprived Mrs. Harding, for the time being, of an outlet for her abundant energies. She will come back to the capital to live, it is believed, and to seek here a new outlet—possibly in devotion to the task of seeing that her husband's career as President is appraised as she would have it.

With her remarkable flair for politics, it is conceivable that Mrs. Harding will make herself a potent factor in the life of the capital.

Canners' Association Busy.

The National Canners' Association has been busily engaged in getting out statements that the eating of canned food had nothing to do with the last illness of President Harding. Telegrams to that effect from three of the physicians who attended the President—Drs. Sawyer, Wilbur and Cooper—have been published.

The canners' quarrel, though, of course, they are too politic to say so, is with Dr. Work, Secretary of the Interior, who announced in a rear platform speech, the day after the President took to his bed on his special train, that his illness had been caused by "something out of a can." This casual diagnosis was later upset by the official finding of the physicians that crab meat sent on board the Henderson in Alaska was responsible.

The White House announces that President Coolidge is going ahead with the departmental reorganization scheme on which the late President had set his heart. If Mr Coolidge can bring about a regrouping of administrative functions on a logical and business-like basis, he will be entitled to a large measure of gratitude. Mr. Taft, in a similar effort when President, butted his head in vain against the stone wall of bureaucratic opposition to change.

Reorganization, designed to cut out waste motions in the clumsy governmental machine, was one of the trinity of major policies during the latter days of the Harding regime, the others being Ship Subsidy (deceased) and World Court. Mr. Harding cherished the laudable ambition to be remembered as the President who overhauled the spending apparatus of the Government to bring it into line with modern needs. He entrusted the working out of details to his friend, Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, former Bull Mooser, whom he appointed chairman of a joint congressional commission on reorganization.

The Brown plan, as it is called, involves the shifting about of bureaus to bring them under the jurisdiction of the departments to which they are logically related. The Public Health Service, for instance, would be taken out from under the wing of the Treasury, which now administers it. All the extraneous functions of the Treasury, in fact, would be removed, leaving it what it was intended to be—solely the fiscal agency of the Government. Various social service activities, now scattered among the departments, would be co-ordinated in a new department, called the Department of Public Welfare, headed by a new Cabinet officer. Another important item of the plan calls for amalgamation of the War and Navy Departments into a Defense Department.

All the significant changes suggested by Brown have met with opposition in Congress, and for some of them there is only lukewarm support in the Cabinet. There is nothing harder than to get rid of a Government job—it is almost immortal. It is nearly as difficult to get the holder of a Government job to do his work in a new way.

Mr. Coolidge may be able to accomplish something in the direction of reorganization, but to get Congress to accept the present Brown plan in toto would take nothing short of a miracle.

Willis' Lusty Lungs.

The adhesion of Senator Willis of Ohio to the Coolidge cause gives the new President the benefit of one of the lustiest pairs of lungs in public life. Willis nearly tore the roof off the Chicago Coliseum with his speech nominating Harding in 1920. It was Willis who, with Senator Spencer, concocted the remarkable resolution by which the Senate both acquitted and condemned Newberry. Willis is a leading shouter for the drys.

The friends of Mr. McAdoo and the friends of Senator Underwood are hard at work for their respective candidates for the 1924 Democratic presidential nomination. As Mr. Coolidge gains in favor, Mr. McAdoo's stock rises, on the assumption that the Democrats will go after the liberal vote if the Republicans go after the conservative. But one guess as to the next Democratic nominee is as good as the next at this stage of the pre-convention skirmishing. Henry Ford may be the man. Or Ralston of Indiana.

There is a widespread belief among politicians that the choice will fall on the former Indiana Governor and present Senator, unless he should commit some grevious political error in the Senate. The nomination of Ralston would not be stranger than was the nomination of Harding in 1920. He would be advertised to the country, if nominated, as a liberal conservative, or a conservative liberal.

Coolidge's Political Strength.

It is an odd circumstance on its face, that Mr. Coolidge is politically stronger at this moment then was President Harding when he died. Many Republican observers were saying privately a few weeks ago that unless the Democrats made fools of themselves, Harding could not hope to win. These gloomy prophets have chirked up wonderfully. They are now predicting—some of them—that Coolidge will be both nominated and elected, whatever the Democrats may do.

The fact that Republican chances should appear improved by the accession of a comparatively unknown man to the presidency is odd only at first glance. On examination it is seen to be a perfectly natural fact. Mr. Coolidge is the beneficiary of the give-him-a-chance attitude of the American people toward any new President. He has not been in office long enough to create antagonism. In the public mind, he has inherited the assets, but not the liabilities of the Harding administration. Republicans who didn't like the type of man that Mr. Harding was, are apt to be attracted by the type of man that they believe Mr. Coolidge to be. Republicans who were devoted to Mr. Harding have as yet had no reason to condemn Mr. Coolidge, who has announced that he will execute the Harding policies.

Politicians who were sulking because of disagreements with Mr. Harding over patronage matters or policies can now parade their regularity with glad abandon.

It's no wonder that Mr. Coolidge, for a while at least, is in clover. How long he will stay there remains to be seen. Sooner or later, whatever positivism there may be in a President's make-up is bound to assert itself in some direction. Mr. Harding's attitude toward moot questions was essentially one of compromise, yet even he had to make decisions which didn't please all the electorate. Mr. Coolidge will inevitably be faced with the same unpleasant necessity. More can be told about his political prospects when it is seen how he stands up under fire.

Other than his general statement promising adherence to the Harding policies, there has been no clew to Mr. Coolidge's probable course with respect to the World Court. One of the recent visitors to the White House went there for the ostensible purpose of discussing prohibition and other domestic matters, but really because he hoped to get some enlightenment on the World Court subject. Without directly bringing up the topic, he steered the conversation several times to a point where Mr. Coolidge might be expected to broach it. But Mr. Coolidge each time talked about something else. The visitor had an interesting hour but failed completely in his mission.

The question still remains: Will Mr. Coolidge be guided by the Harding policy of compromise outlined in the St. Louis speech, or the Harding policy to be inferred from the vigorous pleas for the court in subsequent speeches?

Babler Sizing Up Situation.

The canny Mr. Babler of St. Louis, Republican National Committeeman whom the Missouri housecleaners of 1920 failed to dislodge, is here to size up the new President, with special reference to the latter's dependability as a patronage producer for the Babler faction. Mr. Babler, in other and briefer words, wants to know just how he stands with Mr. Coolidge. He himself, of course, would deprecate the putting of any such construction on his visit; he came to "pay his respects" and to talk over "the general political situation." He came close on the heels of Gov. Hyde, who also called at the White House to talk over the general political situation.

Babler spent an hour with the President. He found, he said, that he had got an entirely wrong impression from an interview in which Senator Jim Watson of Indiana, political mentor of all good Missouri Republicans, told of paying a visit to the President and doing all the talking himself. Babler said that Mr. Coolidge talked with great freedom on a variety of subjects. He was delighted to find him so communicative—quite as communicative, in fact, as the late President. Babler declined to say what the conversation was about.

Though expressing himself as highly pleased with Mr. Coolidge, the National Committeeman gave the impression that he would have to go back to Missouri and talk things over with "the boys" before committing himself definitely to the Coolidge candidacy.

More Patronage Letters.

Speaking of patronage—

The Democratic National Committee has dug up some "Dear Ben" letters, relating to the sale of Virginia postmasterships, that were not included in the collection read into the Congressional Record last December by Representative T. W. Harrison. They throw some further light on the political methods of former Representative C. Bascom Slemp, the Virginia patronage dispenser chosen by President Coolidge as his secretary. Here is a sample, written by L. B. Howard, who at the time was Slemp's secretary, to Benjamin R. Powell, a collector of Republican campaign funds. It is on the official stationery of "C. B. Slemp, Ninth District Virginia, Committee on Appropriations, House of Representatives:"

Dec. 19, 1921.

Dear Ben:

We have a rural route matter at Meadows of Dan in Patrick County that I want you to try and work out in a way that we can get something out of it.

The eligibles are Alvin M. Barnard, William B. Clark and John A. Smart, all Democrats. They are ex-service men and we will have to appoint one of them. The question is, can we get the one we appoint to put up some cash. I know you can do it if anyone can.

It would be immaterial which one we appoint. My suggestion would be to work it through Arch Staples so as to not get in any hobble that might hurt. If you can agree to get one of the three to do something we can make the appointment at once. You better not use my name or Mr. Slemp's in the matter. Just say that you have authority to make the recommendation that will go. I inclose you a little note that will back you up in this connection. See what you can do and let me know. Get all you can.

"Your friend,
L. B. HOWARD.

On the same day, Howard, in another note, supplemented the general instruction to "get all you can" with the specific suggestion that at least $200 ought to be forthcoming.

For four miles and less than six miles the pay of a rural carrier is $480 a year; for 18 miles and less than 20 it is $960 a year.

Later in the same month Howard wrote to Powell about a "very delicate matter" in connection with which "we will have to have at least $150 in order to come out whole." It took half that amount, he said, to "put the matter over." Some "strong wire pulling" was necessary. Howard was advised to get in touch with the father of the prospective appointee in this case and "arrange for some money." The letter contained a caution against writing any letters about the matter. A postscript was added in longhand: "Be sure and destroy this letter after you are through with it."

Dear Ben: I have letters in regard to the collection of money for postoffices. One must be very careful about this. It will bring the party into disrepute, which will be bad for everyone. We must preserve our standing with the people and with the administration.

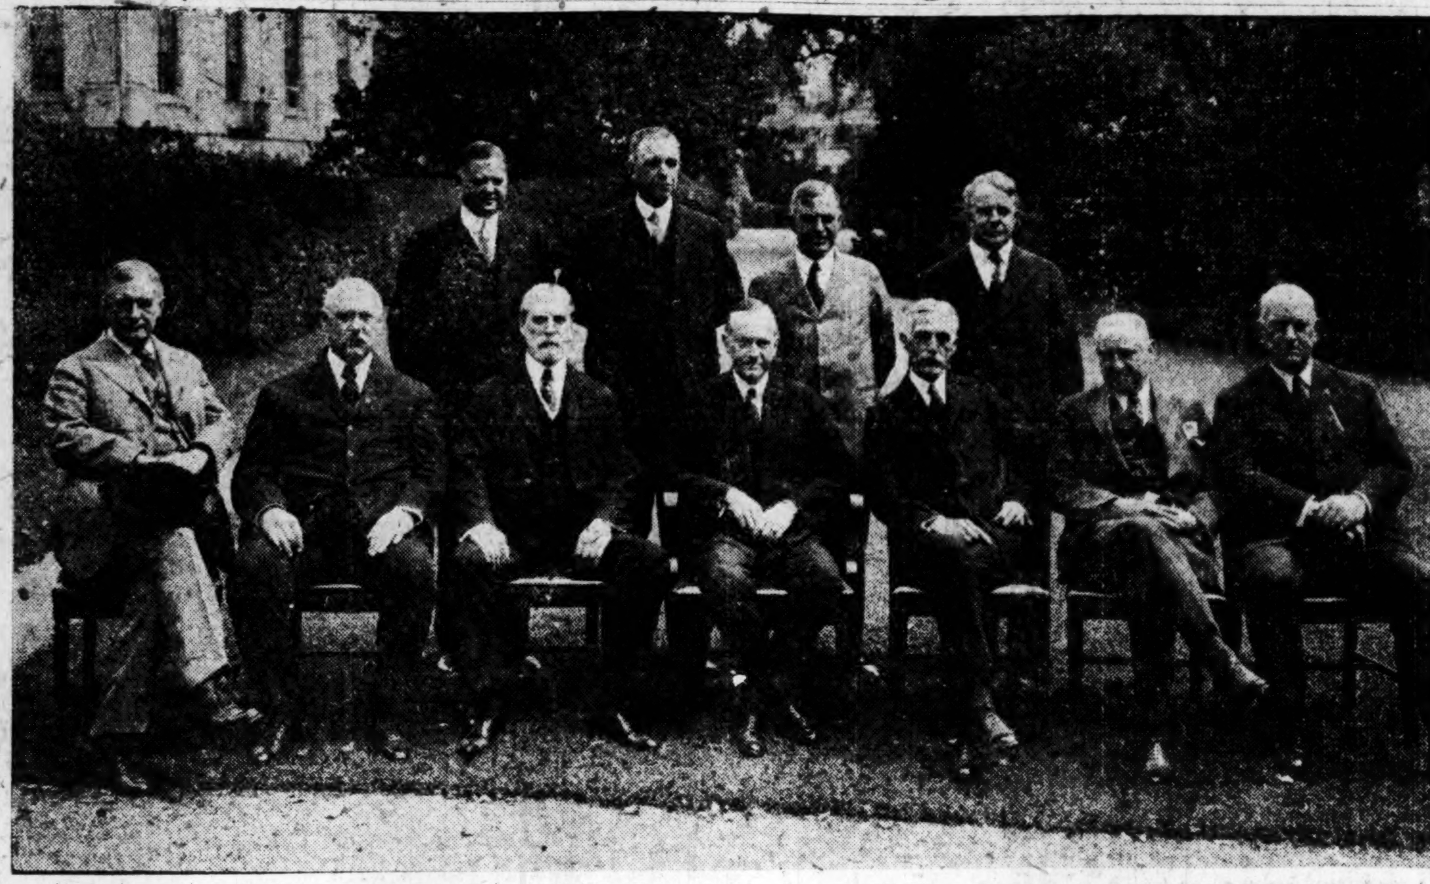

With best wishes, I am
Sincerely yours, C. B. SLEMP.

In a statement after the original publication of "Dear Ben" letters in the Congressional Record, Slemp said that the collection of money was to make good a quota assessed by the Republican National Committee. Answering this statement today, the Democratic National Committee said that the correspondence indicated that the collection of the committee fund was completed in February, 1921, whereas the transactions referred to in the correspondence were in the latter part of 1921.

Plea for U. S. Merchant Marine.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 13.—A warning against permitting the American merchant marine to recede to its pre-war status was uttered yesterday by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., retired, in an address before a meeting here in the interests of the American Merchant Marine Library Association. The merchant marine has become a strong factor on the seas, he declared and said that without it, the fleet in time of war would be unable to operate.

First Photograph of President Coolidge With His Cabinet

—Underwood & Underwood.

PINCHOT COMPROMISE ASSAILED BY RETAIL COAL MERCHANTS

Association Pledges Co-operation to Prevent Profiteering in Sale of Anthracite.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — The National Retail Coal Merchants' Association, through Roderick Stephens, chairman of its Government Relations Committee, yesterday pledged its co-operation to the Government in the effort to effect stable conditions in the industry and to prevent profiteering in the sale of anthracite. In a statement filed with the Coal Commission, however, Stephens said the Association desired to record its opposition to the "Pinchot compromise" by which the recent hard coal crisis was settled.

"Arbitration has been relegated to the scrap heap," the statement said, "and arrogant organized labor has gained the victory. The equalities in wages have been disregarded and a flat 10 per cent increase granted. Verily to him that hath has more been given.

"If merchants are to be subjected to price regulation by the State it must be upon a basis that will establish a rate of return for capital and energy employed, sufficient to requisition capital and competent brains to assure facilities and effective use of same adequate to the public need, otherwise the State will have to undertake to supply such service where the inducement is not attractive to private capital or brains. To embark upon such a policy is nothing less than State socialism and is completely repugnant to the principles of liberty and encouragement of individual initiative upon which our freedom and prosperity rests."

NEW DESCENTS ON WHITE HOUSE

Spencer and Millspaugh Have Engagements to See Coolidge.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The descent of Missouri Republicans on the White House continues unabated. Senator Spencer and former Representatives Frank C. Millspaugh, State Finance Commissioner, had seperate engagements to see the President today. Spencer is endeavoring to get President Coolidge to appoint former Circuit Judge Vital W. Garesche to the Federal bench at St. Louis. Millspaugh also was expected to put in a word for Garesche.

Jacob Babler, Republican National Committeeman from Missouri, and E. Mont Riley, Kansas City politician, paid a joint visit to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. Neither would say what he expected to accomplish. Babler said he had some things to tell the Prohibition Commissioner that Haynes ought to know and Reily said he wanted to discuss "some Missouri matters."

BRITAIN WOULD LIMIT LOAN

Proposes Terms for Letting Argentina Have $200,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 13.—The Minister of Finance has received a cablegram from Evariste Tourburn, Argentine Ambassador to Great Britain, relative to the loan of £40,000,000 ($200,000,000) offered Argentina by British bankers for a program of public work.

The British Government will guarantee that the loan is raised in London, provided the proceeds are used exclusively for the purchase of materials in England, the message says. It also is stipulated that if the proposed loan is used for construction of railways, such lines must not affect zones already served by British concerns in Argentina.

MINERS ALLEGE GARLAND MONEY WENT TO REDS

Charge That Civil Liberties Union, of Which Roger Baldwin Is Secretary, Loaned Funds to Communists.

ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE SAID TO CONTRIBUTE

Teachers and Society Leaders Said to Be Among Those Who Give Millions to Workers for Revolution.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Collection of funds from Americans of high and low degree for the promotion of social, economical and political revolution has become an organized industry in the last two years, it is charged by the United Mine Workers of America in one of a series of articles which purport to be an expose of a far-reaching plot to spread the dictatorship of the Communist International at Moscow over this continent.

Laborers, society leaders, school teachers and well-meaning philanthropists, ignorant of the menace they are promoting, add millions of dollars annually to the funds of the underground workers for revolution in America, it is charged. Other millions are described as streaming in from Moscow, Berlin and Stockholm to make a total impossible of estimate.

Nationalization of Mines.

"The United Mine Workers learn from an authoritive source," says the author of the expose, "that the money from abroad is coming in through the usual international banking channels, and that it is distributed to the accounts of individuals in various banks after it reaches this country."

Capture of the miners' union is alleged to be the first aim of Communist agents in this country, as a step toward establishment of the "one big union" principle in all industrial labor groups. After that, nationalization of coal mines under the soviet form of rule, as a preliminary to nationalization of other industries; then forcible overthrow of the governments in the United States and Canada, and establishment of Communism after the Moscow pattern.

Since the mine workers' union was allegedly the first object of attack in the fulfillment of this program, solicitation of funds is said to have been most active among the miners. Money usually is asked for some "defense" or "relief" cause, the donors being led to believe "that it was to be used in the upbuilding and strengthening of their union organization and for other legitimate purposes."

Difficult to Trace to Source.

"One such collection agency is the Miners' Relief Conference," says the author, "a Communalistic enterprise that has been operating in the Pittsburg, Pa., region since last August. This conference has been one of the most important channels through which money has filtered into the Communist organization for destructive work within the miners' union."

Numerous examples of the methods of collection are set forth, but the union investigators were able to uncover few records of sources of expenditure. "Inspection of the records fails to show even the simplest forms of bookkeeping in accounting for the moneys and supplies received. While considerable sums were contributed by sympathetic persons who heeded appeals broadcast over the country, records of the contributions are found only on scraps of paper or in the original letters of the donors."

The Communists are alleged even to have solicited and received 25-cent assessments per member from United Mine Workers' locals in the so-called "hot-beds of radicalism." It is asserted that most of the bail money and lawyers' fees for men seized in the Bridgman raid was subscribed through "Labor Defense Councils" and the Miners' Relief Conference by such methods.

Collected From Starving.

The author of the expose says that while Communist agents were appealing throughout the nation for "money for the relief of 'starving miners,'" they also were holding mass meetings "to collect from these 'starving miners' money to remit to the Labor Defense Council at Chicago."

Other correspondence alleged to have been seized by authorities in raids on revolutionary headquarters is quoted to show that the American Civil Liberties Union of New York City, of which Roger Baldwin is executive secretary, loaned the Communists money from the Charles Garland Foundation Fund, entrusted to the union by the North Carver, Mass., man, who refused to keep a $1,600,000 legacy inherited from his father.

NEXT to his friendship with Cal Coolidge, now President of the United States, and his ability to make as fine shoes as anyone in the world, the pride of old James Lucey lies in his daughter, Margaret. She is a graduate of Smith, and it was Cal Coolidge who made that possible for her. How he did is one of the first stories Lucey tells when you stretch your legs in his dusty shoe shop in Gothic street.

"Now, my daughter, Margaret, she's a smart girl," the old man says, blinking proudly over his glasses. "I remember well how she took her examinations for Smith. She had only to pass one on algebra—if I remember correctly it was algebra—and she could go to the school. She went up on the hill to take it and she came back with tears in her eyes. 'Pa,' she says, 'the questions in that examination didn't come out of a book. Somebody just thought them up to be mean.' I showed that paper to teachers and other such people and they all said it was not a fair one at all.

"But a nice young woman professor from the college, she came down to the shop here and said she'd let Margaret take another examination because she had done better than any of the other girls in town here. So Margaret took that examination and it was easy. She passed with a high mark.

"Margaret was all cheerful and happy. But then we found we had made no application for a scholarship and so she couldn't go after all! She cried and her mother cried and she was most unhappy about it. And I was sorry. But not so sorry as my girl, for I'm gettin' old and it's not as easy to work as it was and so many of the children gettin' married there was getting to be none left to help their mother and me.

"The same day we found out about the scholarship Margaret met Cal on the street uptown. 'And how were the examinations, Miss Margaret?' he asked. 'Fine,' says Margaret, 'but, oh, Mr. Coolidge, I can't go to college after all.' And she started cryin' right there in the public street. 'Why?' asks Cal. And she told him the whole story. 'That'll be all right, Miss Margaret,' he said, and patted her hand. 'I'll talk with your pa.'

"He came down to see me that afternoon. He told me I mustn't stand in the way of my girl's higher eddication and that he'd written to that fine man, President Seeley, about a scholarship. And sure enough, in a few days it came along, right as Cal had said. So Margaret went to college and was graduated and everything. And when Cal was elected Mayor—the Mayors have a private box of their own at all the operas; did you know that? Well, it's true—he invited her to sit in his box at the opera. She did. And she was mighty proud, too. So was her shoemaker pa."

Eskimo Woman, Sole Survivor on Wrangell, Tells How 3 Men Left, Never to Return, and One Died

Failure to Take Along Hide Boat for Hunting Walrus, and Devouring of Part of Meat by Foxes and Bears, Caused Food Supply to Fail.

Following is the third instalment of the exclusive personal story of Harold Noice, who returned to Nome, Alaska, Aug. 31, after his dash into the Arctic in the hope of rescuing four white men and an Eskimo woman marooned there since the fall of 1921.

Previous instalments of his story told of his battle with ice floes, delays by engine trouble and fog, his first sight and impressions of Wrangell Island, the finding of an abandoned camp and a proclamation signed by the members of the party by virtue of which they claimed Wrangell Island for King George of England, and the emergence of a human figure from the fog on the beach.

By HAROLD NOICE,
Commander of the Wrangell Island Relief Expedition.

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 5.—My feelings may probably be better imagined than described as the Donaldson groped slowly through the fog into Doubtful Harbor and we saw the shadowy form of a human being move down the beach to the water's edge. Were we in time after all? Certainly someone still lived upon the island and soon we should know whether all had survived or not.

As we drew nearer I could make out distinctly the form of a woman and assumed that it was Ada Blackjack, the seamstress of the expedition. We steered as close inshore as we could and dropped anchor. I jumped into the skiff and was paddled ashore. As we neared the beach Ada started walking out into the shallow water to mee us. I sprang out and shook her hand.

For a moment neither of us spoke. Then she said, "Where is Crawford and Galle and Maurie?" And when I told her that I had just arrived from Nome and expected to find them all on Wrangell Island, she choked a sob and said, "There is nobody here but me; I am all alone. Knight, he died on June 22."

Rescued Woman Breaks Down.

Then, Ada, a queer, frightened note in her voice, said, "I want to go back to my mother. Will you take me back to Nome?" And when I assured her that most certainly we would, a bright light came into her eyes and the strange, dazzled expression left her face. She just stood and looked at me. Then she tottered forward and as I caught her in my arms she commenced to sob like a little girl.

I lifted her into the skiff, brought her aboard the Donaldson and took her down into my cabin, where I gave her a cup of hot coffee. That revived her a bit, and after she had eaten some breakfast she told me her story—probably the saddest story I had ever heard.

The expedition landed in high spirits Sept. 16, 1921, and erected their first camp about four miles east of Doubtful Harbor, after erecting the British flag and posting the proclamation, a copy of which we had already found. Their first concern was the killing of game to supply meat for themselves and their dogs and thus save to as great an extent as possible the stores which they had brought with them from Nome.

Tons of Food Beyond Reach.

There were plenty of polar bears and foxes on the island besides seals and walrus on the floes. They killed a considerable number of polar bears. But, for some unexplained reason, they had neglected to include an umiak, or walrus hide boat, in their outfit and consequently were unable to get any walrus. The latter could be seen sunning themselves on the ice cakes, but out of range and the heavy dory which they had brought was of no use in navigating waters filled with floating ice cakes. So they were forced to stand impotently on the beach and see tons of food just beyond their reach.

However, they were able to get some seals and, with the polar bear meat which they already had, they felt secure for the winter, for they had brought sufficient food with them to do a year at a pinch.

But while they waited for sufficient snow to enable them to transport their polar bear meat to camp the greater part of it was eaten by foxes and bears.

Thus, by Nov. 16, after only two months on the island, they ran entirely out of meat and were forced to share the provisions which they had brought from outside with the dogs.

The winter darkness was coming on and further hunting was difficult. They believed they would be able to get through until spring without much hardship. But when spring came they found most of their food had gone. About all that was left of the supplies brought with them from Nome was a certain amount of pilot bread.

They were able, however, to get more seals in the spring and a couple of walrus that happened to come close enough to the shore for them to secure the carcasses. These, with crowbills and other birds, foxes and an occasional polar bear, together with the remnant of the pilot bread kept them going until the middle of the summer when they began to look forward to the arrival of the promised relief ship.

Examination for Motorists.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IF the lawmakers of this city and State really have the safety and welfare of their citizens at heart, why not make it compulsory for every person who operates a motor vehicle on the streets of the city or the highways of the State to pass an examination as to his or her fitness to drive such vehicle, and issue a license to those who successfully pass the examination? A small fee could be charged to cover the cost of examination and registration, and a severe penalty could be imposed on anyone who is convicted of operating a car without the proper license.

At present every Tom, Dick and Harry who happens to have a car can drive it at break-neck speed through the city, whether they know how to drive a car or not, not only endangering their own lives, but the lives of everyone else who happens to be on the streets, whether on foot or in other cars.

It is necessary for the operator of the smallest hoisting engine or stationary engine to pass a rigid examination before he is permitted to run such engine, although only a comparatively few lives are in jeopardy, whereas a driver of an automobile who is incompetent will jeopardize the lives of thousands of people and may do untold damage to innocent people who are going about their business all unconscious of the fact that an incompetent driver of a death-dealing motor car is bearing down upon them at break-neck speed.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Unventilated Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE car company has put into use a new style car and suppose going to eventually car the entire system with this new style. The car is perfection so far as loading, unloading and saving time, but very imperfect as to ventilation which is most important. They have what are supposed to be ventilators, but they do not ventilate—hence are perfect incubators for disease germs.

I noticed this lack of ventilation last winter, but more particularly the last two evenings. I ride on the University line, and about 5:15 the last two evenings have been on the cars when it rained and windows had to be closed suddenly. Within an incredibly short time after closing the windows the air became most oppressive and the car being crowded, the heat intense.

The papers have been filled lately about the danger of smallpox on account of the exodus of negroes from the South to St. Louis and this new car is a menace. This coming winter may bring the usual winter visit of influenza and this new style car will surely be a wonderful help in spreading the disease. You can readily see the danger if you will take a trip in any car of this style, not only from the disease mentioned, but colds can be spread if nothing else. Then, too, the cars are bound around with bars like a prison with no earthly chance of the people ever getting out should an accident occur that would put the exit out of commission.

UNIVERSITY CAR RIDER.

Hard To Explain.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MY dear friend, are you a property owner? This flat which I have lived in for two years had had no repairing of any kind for the above period. Now, will you please explain to me where the high labor wages, building material, etc., has anything to do with the increase of rent on this flat $35 to $50, as it has been built thirty years?

STILL NOT BLIND, BUT CANNOT SEE.

Where the Odor Originates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I NOTICED in the account of a recent Ku Klux meeting in East St. Louis that the Rev. Dr. Evans of East St. Louis stated that the St. Louis papers are so many "stench bombs" cast at our doors every day.

Now, my dear editor, I noticed the the same rather strong odor about the St. Louis papers for the last six months or more, and recalled to mind that the bad smell was not noticeable before said time.

This fact puzzled me, so I went to my Uncle Jeff, who is an expert smeller, and smells all the butter we buy at our store to see if it is good, and I said: "How comes it, Uncle Jeff, that the St. Louis papers that always had the aroma of a flower garden six months or more ago, now have a bad odor?"

Jeff looked up and said: "I noticed that smell myself, and on investigation found out that all that stench we whiff from the St. Louis papers the last six months or more comes from the speeches made at Ku Klux meetings and reported in the papers."

Now, Uncle Jeff has a smeller that never makes a mistake, and if he said that, he is right. And believe me, dear editor, Uncle Jeff said it.

HURRYING THE ROAD PROGRAM.

With an additional fund of $2,000,000 a year the $60,000,000 road program can be completed in 1928, so Chairman Gary of the Highway Commission has informed the governors of the Automobile Club of Missouri. There are two ways to raise this money—by a gasoline war tax or by increased registration fees. The Automobile Club will ascertain the sentiment of local automobile associations and owners on the proposition, as well as the attitude of members of the Legislature. If the inquiry justifies it they will ask the Governor to call a special session to pass the necessary laws.

The completion of the road program in four years would be of great value to the State. For lack of good roads the people of Missouri are losing a great deal of tourist trade which the completed roads would bring here. The State is losing the larger revenue from the greater number of home-owned motor vehicles. Nevertheless, there is pretty sure to be considerable opposition to either of the proposed levies. Car owners are not all so fortunately circumstanced as are the governors of the Automobile Club. Many of them feel that the present registration fee is big enough, and many of them will object to paying more than the market price for gasoline.

It seems to us that the motor car manufacturer, the greatest pecuniary beneficiary of good roads, might be invited to assist in completing our road program. With few exceptions the motor car as it now leaves the factory is not a finished product. Ordinarily the buyer has to invest, say, from $70 to $100 or more, in equipping his car. If all makes of cars were equipped with such essentials as bumpers, shock absorbers, lock wheels, the owner could well afford to pay the $5 tax to rush through the completion of our road program.

Sooner or later automobiles will be equipped by manufacturers, not by purchasers. One conspicuously successful company is already stressing the completeness of its car's equipment. The others will have to follow that lead. When the manufacturer's advertised price is the actual price there will be a better disposition on the owner's part towards such an assessment as the Highway Commission and the Automobile Club are now suggesting.

JAZZ AS A TRADE REVIVER.

An increase of 30 per cent in the consumption of bananas in the United States is attributed, by one authority, to the effect exercised upon the American psychology by that profound ditty: "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Our private opinion is that the phenomenon is merely a coincidence. The song, if it has driven the American people to anything, had driven them to something stronger than fruit.

However, if research bears out the report, a new method for stimulating trade will have been discovered. Perhaps music hath charms to soothe the savage buyer. We are open-minded about it, and favor giving the formula a trial. It will be proclaimed a success if the present stagnation in the farm machinery business will give way to that yet unwritten classic: "Yes, We Have No Agricultural Implements."

ECONOMY, EFFICIENCY, SANITATION.

If the city decides to award to W. D. Pratt of Kansas City the contract to dispose of a maximum of 1000 tons of garbage a day by incineration at the foot of Chouteau avenue the question of disposal, assuming that the plant is successful in carrying out the contract, will be taken care of for many years to come. The food refuse of the city for the fiscal year ending last April totaled 68,354 tons. Exclusive of Sundays this means an average rate of 218 tons a day. The city can grow enormously, then, before it reaches Mr. Pratt's maximum, and it now produces barely more than the minimum daily consumption called for by the contract.

Disposal of all garbage at one point, on the edge of the city, however, does not dispose of the garbage problem, either economically or sanitarily. The cost of incineration under the Pratt contract will be $1.75 a ton. The average cost of hauling last year was $3.55 a ton. A mule team, a teamster and a wagon rattling over the cobblestones six or seven miles from the extremities of the city, with only a ton and a quarter of garbage at a load, look like exceedingly bad economics, and with wagons heaped and uncovered or returning empty, unclean and uncovered, are an abomination to the city and a menace to health.

The Public Service Department is to try a new type of steel trailers to be assembled in the outlying districts and hauled to the river in trains. The acceptability of these will depend on their being kept closed and cleaned and on the efficiency with which they are assembled and hauled away. One or more of these trailers standing loaded in the street for any length of time would be as objectionable as the very unpopular incinerating plant. The science of garbage collection, as well as other phases of the problem, is yet in the making, and St. Louis obviously stands in need of the best the science can afford for the welfare and health of citizens and the avoidance of unnecessary expense to the city.

THE BOOMERANG STRIKES.

When the United States Supreme Court a few months ago ruled in the case appealed by the Missouri Bell Telephone Co. that the present value of a public utility should be taken into account for rate-making purposes, regardless of investment costs, the Post-Dispatch called attention to the fact that, while the decision might be an advantage to the utilities during the present era of high building costs, it would work the other way when prices went down and the companies found themselves saddled with properties built at abnormally high costs. We had not so soon, however, expected to be able to prove our point by a concrete case. Such a case is now offered in a decision by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

The Union Electric Co. has asked permission to take a 35-year lease on the new Cahokia power plant, paying 8 per cent return on the invested capital and 2.8 per cent a year for depreciation. The assumption, while not stated in the decision, is that the Union company would not be willing to make such bounteous and self-sacrificing terms if it were not financially allied with the company that put up the building. The whole scheme of financing, in other words, was to cover up profits by not having them appear in dividends earned on rates to the consumer.

The Public Service Commission, however, found grounds for denying the application by citing the Supreme Court decision mentioned above. It would not approve a lease of 35 years because, in that time, building costs might come down and the company would be bound to a contract based on an investment cost higher than reproduction cost, and the consumers of electricity would be required to pay the bill.

When the Bell telephone case was decided the laugh was on the consumers of public utility service. Now the laugh is on the public utilities companies. It is they who will have a grievance with the Supreme Court for a decision that appeared on its face to serve their interest alone.

EUROPE AND PROHIBITION.

Home again from that antialcoholic congress at Copenhagen, Wayne B. Wheeler says Europe is going dry. The people over there, he says, have seen what prohibition has accomplished in the United States, and are convinced it is just what they want.

Though he does not say so Mr. Wheeler, impliedly, is delighted at Europe's decision. This, it seems to us, is carrying altruism too far. After all, prohibition is an American invention. Of course, the Turks may charge us with infringing on their patent, but that little protest may be dismissed. The Turks never impressed Europe with the beauties of prohibition. It was the United States that did that. Having established its practicability may we not claim exclusive proprietary rights in prohibition?

Why, then, should we let Europe appropriate to its own use a contrivance of such surpassing value as we have proved prohibition to be? To be sure, we want to be fair to Europe. We want to be politely solicitous about Europe's health and, when occasion offers, we should wish her well. But is not that about as much as the present safety-first administration sanctions? Certainly nothing more is required by international law, or international etiquet, either.

Prohibition is ours, as much as our money or our moral prestige is ours. We have declined to let Europe have any of our money or prestige. By a 7,000,000 majority we have declined. Why, pray, should we be so liberal with prohibition which, in the opinion of many, including Mr. Wheeler, is of more value than all our money or all our moral prestige?

We believe that all 100 per cent, red-blooded Americans will insist that prohibition is an American device and that any other nation that attempts to operate it will do so at its peril.

But, with the exception of the Eighteenth Amendment, we might let Europe have our Constitution, which has become worse than useless, now that we have prohibition.

A CHAT WITH H. G. WELLS.

ERNEST BRENNECKE, JR., in the New York Times Book Review of last Sunday, gives a delightful glimpse of H. G. Wells, the tireless literary optimist and prophet, whose latest vision of Utopia, "Men Like Gods," added to his world fame and will be a topic for discussion for some time to come. The following chat gives one a good idea how a man so brilliant looks upon his own life work. The reviewer had just come from a visit to George Moore, a very different but no less famous British author. Mr. Wells remarked:

"Yes! You've been doing the studio-stuff I see. I hope you called him 'Dear Master'—if you didn't, my dear fellow, you didn't do the right thing!"

Of course, I hadn't called Mr. Moore "Dear Master." Moore had entertained me charmingly, with characteristically Moore-ish conversation, but his savage denunciation of Thomas Hardy's works (he wouldn't even call them "works") had made it impossible for me ever to become a disciple of his.

So I pulled myself together and began to talk to Mr. Wells about "Mr. Polly" and "The Wheels of Chance," books for which I have an overwhelming affection, born of the Wells-enthusiasms of my intellectual apprenticeship. I made noises of admiration, punctured by Mr. Wells' frequently ejaculated falsetto: "Yes? * * * Yes! * * * Yes? Yes!"

"The Wheels of Chance'—yes!" He picked up his end of the dialogue, "A bad book. Gay, yes, but bad. 'Mr. Hoopdriver was a good study, a good character, whimsical, well drawn—and the Sussex scenery was pretty good—but the rest of the book was awfully bad.

"But 'Mr. Polly' was a good book, and I did have an awfully good time writing it! I could have gone on with Mr. Polly forever, I think, if it hadn't been for my publishers. Once I had started Polly, I wanted to continue with the dear chap, to go on and on with 'The Adventures of Mr. Polly' through at least ten volumes. But my publishers wouldn't hear of such a thing. They made me finish the poor fellow off: marry him or something at the end of the volume. But I hated to do it."

This was entertaining, I thought. I recalled other Wells-things, and began to speak of the way in which "The Food of the Gods" had nourished my craving for scientific romance years ago.

"Yes—yes! Those things were all awfully good fun," broke in Mr. Wells, "and I think its about time I had a little more fun."

"And will you discard your political and sociological preoccupations and write more of Mr. Polly and more Food of the Gods?" I asked, with a degree of husky eagerness trickling into my voice.

"The world is at the present time drifting into an Era of Humor, an Era of Fun," he deliberated, falling into a prophetic mood. "We've had our fill of tragedy, high seriousness, and storm and strife for the present, and we're about to enter into a lighter period of existence. The world is now sick of wars and tumults and is looking for lighter entertainment, in order to forget the Inferno it has just passed through. Immediate dangers are not so terribly pressing; we are all simply anxious for diversion. Between now and 1940 or 1960, when the nations will be tested by their next bloody tragedy, they will look chiefly for fun.

"And so I am now at work on the kind of writing that I used to do, the sort of thing which provides me with the most fun."

He tapped the neat manuscript on the table in front of him. "My, Men Like Gods' marked a definite transition. I'm going back to my early manner. There will be more Mr. Pollys, more and better Mr. Hoopdrivers, more Food of the Gods— yes! * * * At least, I hope so * * * Have you been out on my balcony?"

Of course, I hadn't been out on the Wells balcony inasmuch as it was my first visit to the Wells flat. But I followed him through the windows and leaned over the railing beside him, hanging over the Victoria Embankment below, and looking across the Thames, sparkling under an unusually brilliant London sun.

"There's St. Paul's" Mr. Wells pointed to Sir Christopher Wren's masterpiece, away over to the left. "There's a satisfying bit of architecture. You're going to Berlin too, you said? Well, take a look at the 'Berliner Dom' when you get there. You'll come back to St. Paul's, I daresay * * * Berlin—m-m-yes * * * Berlin, however, is really the hope of the world at present. Don't spend too much time in Paris. Paris is completely out of step with the advance of civilization, if there is to be any. But Berlin! If we deal intelligently with Berlin, they'll be talking English there inside of 50 years—which is as it should be." * * *

Meaning of "Impulse."

Quierran. You would probably get a full interpretation of the poem you quote by writing to its author, Archibald MacLeish, in care of The New Republic, New York City. However, the editor of Just a Minute ventures to say that the poet's meaning is simply that the impulse to dance is stimulated by the dancer being in love, and that dancing in general is more enjoyable when love and music combine to make the occasion emotionally complete.

A LUCID SENTENCE.

A Twelfth Stanza.

Sir: Here is a twelfth verse as requested by the person who wrote the eleventh to "Yes, We have no bananas today":

Yes, we have no pianos
We have no pianos today.
We have Victors and Brunswicks, mechanical drumsticks,
Manualos, Aeolians I say,
We have a stunning self-starter
Worked with ease by your son or your darter,
But we have no pianos today
We're short on pianos today.

MUSSOLINI'S DEFENSE.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

PREMIER MUSSOLINI was surprised to learn that his high-handed action in attacking Greece and defying the League of Nations had been criticised in America. "For what can America reproach the Italian Government?" he asks. Other governments, including the United States, have taken similar steps to uphold their honor in the past, according to Mussolini. As for his defiance of the league, Mussolini finds his main argument in America's attitude toward that organization. He says: "Indeed, the attempt made to refuse a great Power like Italy the right to defend her own honor was a tangible demonstration of the dangers Americans were the first to detect in this organism, which, far from facilitating a solution of such controversies between States, renders them more difficult and more dangerous." There are, of course, several aspects of the situation which Mussolini deliberately ignores. His seizure of Corfu and his demands upon Greece went far beyond the question of national honor. Italy undertook to humble a weaker State and went about it in a savage manner, regardless of consequences. As for his defiance of the league, it may be pointed out that the covenant Mussolini tore up was ratified by Italy and was not ratified by the United States. And yet there is food for thought in the Mussolini argument. The Mussolini attitude toward the league and what it stands for is today identical with that of the United States. He demands the right to do as he pleases, without let or hindrance from other nations. Did the United States refuse to join the league because we wanted to reserve the privilege of acting as Mussolini has acted?

SEA TRAFFIC FOR GREAT LAKES.

From the Detroit News.

THE Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project receives healthy indorsement and encouragement from Alexander J. Grant, chief engineer of the Welland Ship Canal. Incidentally Mr. Grant's words dissipate the suggestion that Canadian interests, vaguely described, are opposed to the magnificent ocean route project which is to release the Inland Empire of the whole North American continent. Mr. Grant states that the new canal, with a 25 foot draft, will be capable of passing 95 per cent of the vessels now in ocean trade, and that the canal, if necessary, can be deepened to a 30-foot draft, since it is being constructed with that possibility in view. Moreover, all future canals contemplated by the Canadians will be of 30-foot draft. Mr. Grant adds the assurance that the number of ocean-going ships requiring more than 30-foot draft is virtually negligible. This is good news not only for the realization that an important link in the waterway system is nearing completion, but for the evidence it offers of the attitude of mind of the Canadians toward the project. So far from their being content to build for lake traffic they construct their canal with the patent anticipation that it will be called on to care for general ocean traffic. There is nothing strange about that. The only peculiar thing is that anyone, for one moment, should believe the Canadians fail to realize how vital to their own vast resourceful Middle West is this highway to the ocean which will convert a score of Canadian cities into ocean ports and probably will summon into existence 50 more as the Dominion develops. In this matter the interests of Canada and of the United States are identical. Nothing will symbolize it more definitely and permanently than the new Welland Canal, built for ocean traffic.

MRS. FISKE BRILLIANT IN MEDIOCRE COMEDY

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" Roams Frequently Into Farce.

By HEYWOOD BROUN, Drama Critic of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Fiske gave an extraordinary performance in a fair-to-middling play by St. John Ervine at the Belasco Theater Tuesday night. Mr. Ervine has labeled "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" a "light comedy," but it roams frequently into farce. The play has very frequent humor of line and occasionally a diverting situation, but it is too hard to be good comedy and insufficiently adroit to be more than fair farce in its broader moments.

Indeed, Mrs. Fiske has placed Ervine under such a heavy debt by her performance of the leading role that she has all but compromised him. Unfortunately, it is too late for her to take any successful steps toward making him an honest man. The most grievous fault of the play is its excessive insincerity. It is quite evident that Ervine never believed a word of what he wrote. "I could be whimsical if I would," he has said to himself, but it can't be done that way. Not quite.

Engaging Turns to Lines.

Steps should be taken to convince playwrights that humor is something not to be entered upon lightly. Fun seems to us blasphemous when invoked by any save those with a distinct call. It is not providence, but mere human perversity which has moved St. John Ervine to write a comedy. The devil had aided him by providing many an engaging turn of line, but the powers of darkness cannot give even a semblance of the slightly tremulous quality without which comedy is a tinkling cymbal.

But Mrs. Fiske may possibly have strayed into the somewhat unholy proceedings from heaven. Whether benign or not she provides enchantment. No player of the season has brought to the stage such extraordinary dash and vitality. She helped the play over barren spaces by lifting it between thumb and forefinger. At times she balanced it on the end of her nose, and when the theme dropped she clucked at the comedy and it ran again. Moreover, we never felt conscious of the fact that she was engaged in hard labor. Hers was the touch of faith which brought a pulse to the play. The role in which she is cast might well have been the most outlandish in a quaint crew, but as she played the piece she was the one person who seemed real.

A Temperamental Actress.

Mary Westlake is a temperamental actress who comes down to the very depths of the country and turns the head of a young poet by discussing with him his poetic play about Joan of Arc. In the end she willfully disillusions him by pretending to cast over his drama for a piece by a man named Beeby about a girl who is marooned on a desert island with a baboon.

In the more showy humorous passages Ervine acquits himself well, but he is too deficient in human sympathy to provide any warmth of feeling. With the exception of the role upon which Mrs. Fiske has breathed, the people of the play are quite lifeless. Ervine is much too concerned with the business of being quaint to get around to creation. Accordingly the play sags badly after a highly amusing first act. It suffers dreadfully whenever Mrs. Fiske is absent, for the cast is no more than fair. Of the supporting members of the company it seemed to us that Lennox Pawle alone was conspicuously good and his part is small.

David Belasco has staged the play handsomely and has introduced for the first time a new system of lighting. Hereafter we shall worry less about the fate of the world after the sun has dimmed. Mr. Belasco is almost as proficient in providing brilliance and Mrs. Fiske is better.

PRINCESS ISABELLA WEDS

Daughter of Duke de Guise Married to Count Bruno d'Harcourt.

By the Associated Press.

VERSAILLES, Sept. 13.—Princess Isabella of Orleans, daughter of the Duke and Duchess de Guise, was married yesterday afternoon to Count Bruno d'Harcourt. The ceremony was private. The witness for the bride was former Queen Marie Amelie of Portugal and for the groom the Duchess de la Rochefoucauld.

MISS ALICE CLARK.

Miss Clark will be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Margaret Pedigo and Walter Muckerman on Sept. 29. With her mother, Mrs. Alice Orr Clark of 4905 Argyle place, she spent most of the summer at Camp Meenagha, Fish Creek, Wis. She also visited Miss Mary Lemon Sipple at Hyannisport, Mass.

Social Items

MISS DOROTHY SIMMONS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Simmons of the Clayton road, returned home Tuesday night from Estes Park, where she spent the summer. She was to have gone East today to join Miss Audrey Faust in New York, but a change of plans will bring Miss Faust and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Faust, to St. Louis in a few days to be members of Miss Elizabeth Terry's bridal party when she marries John R. Shepley in October. After the wedding the young women will return East, where Miss Faust will play in the Women's National Golf tournament at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club in New York. Mr. Simmons has gone to Estes Park to join Mrs. Simmons, and they will return home about Sept. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin P. Hilts of 14 Hortense place and their son, Erwin Jr., will return Sunday from their cottage on Nantucket Island, Mass., where they have been since early summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Scullin of 5218 South Broadway and their daughter, Miss May Scullin, returned home Tuesday from a summer's visit in Atlantic City. Miss Scullin's marriage to Henry Prenatt Green is to be an event of mid-winter, taking place some time after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bagnell of 12 Westmoreland place are expected home in a fortnight from Miramar, Cal., where they had a bungalow for the summer. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mrs. Huey Hughes of Dallas, have been their guests.

Mrs. Herbert Feldman of 56 Kingsbury place and daughter, Miss Janice, have just returned from a several months' trip through California. They went West by way of Banff and Lake Louise and returned via Colorado Springs and the Grand Canyon. Miss Feldman stopped off in Kansas City where she was the guest of Miss Frances Faxon, who has visited her several times.

Miss Marion Burnett Cornatzar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Cornatzar of 6170 Pershing avenue, is to be married Saturday, Oct. 6, to Theodore Herbert Banister. The Rev. Atchinson will officate at 8 o'clock in the evening at St. George's Episcopal Church, and a buffet supper for the bridal party will follow at the Cornatzar home. The bride will have Miss Marjorie Chapline, whose engagement to Ralph Reed has been announced, as maid of honor, and Misses Alice Shryock and Elva Ruler as bridesmaids. Earl Banister of Chicago will serve his brother as best man, and Ralph Reed, Arthur Young, Arthur Heman, Robert Henderson of Jackson, Mo., will be groomsmen.

Miss Cornatzar and Miss Shryock, who is to become the bride of Arthur Heman in October, will share honors at some of the pre-wedding parties. Miss Chapline will entertain a number of guests at bridge tomorrow for Miss Cornatzar, and on Sept. 21 Miss Maude Brooks will give a luncheon for her. Miss Roberta Bryars will give a shower for both brides-to-be on Sept. 27, and Miss Eleanor Purdon will be hostess at a similar affair the preceding day. Miss Shryock will be honored at a shower to be given by Miss Ruler Tuesday. The night before the Banister-Cornatzar wedding, Miss Ruler will entertain the bridal party at dinner. Miss Cornatzar is planning a trousseau tea for the afternoon of Sept. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Golterman of 310 South Euclid avenue, and their sons, Guy Jr. and Edward, have returned from Pelham, N. Y., where they leased a house for the summer. They were at Spring Lake, N. J., early in the season, and before their return spent some time at the Plaza Hotel in New York.

Miss Lillian Gerrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gerrell of Webster Groves, has chosen Thursday, Sept. 27, as the date for her wedding to John J. Wolfe, son of Mrs. Netta Wolfe of Ferguson. A quiet home ceremony has been planned, with only the immediate families as guests. The couple will be at home after Oct. 15 at 5327 Pershing avenue.

MISS M'BRIDE TO BE MARRIED IN ASHEVILLE

THE wedding of Miss Dorothy McBride, daughter of Mrs. William Cullen McBride of 26 Washington terrace, and William D. Orthwein, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Orthwein of 5108 Waterman avenue, is to take place quietly Saturday, Sept. 29, at Asheville, N. C. Plans had been made to have an elaborate wedding in St. Louis in October, with a large bridal party in attendance, but the precarious state of Mrs. McBride's health will prevent her from being in St. Louis at that time, so the arrangements have been changed.

The ceremony will be performed in the afternoon, in the home which Mrs. McBride has occupied in Asheville since her arrival there several months ago. There will be no attendants, except Mr. Orthwein's brother, Frederick C. Jr., who will be best man.

The guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Orthwein, who will go South for the ceremony, and members of the bride's family, including Dr. and Mrs. I. D. Kelley Jr. and children, now in Asheville; Mr. and Mrs. Birch Oliver Mahaffey and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Balfour Stuart Craib of New York. Mrs. Craib, Mrs. Mahaffey and Mrs. Kelley are sisters of the bride-elect. No invitations have been issued for the ceremony.

Mr. Orthwein and his bride plan a brief honeymoon trip, and will make their home in St. Louis. Mrs. McBride and others of the family will return to St. Louis when her health permits. Miss McBride was educated at Marymount School at Tarrytown-on-the Hudson and the Ogontz School in Philadelphia, and is a member of the Junior League. Her debutante Venetian ball season before last was one of the most elaborate and widely discussed social functions ever given in St. Louis.

Mr. Orthwein is a graduate of Yale University and a member of the Racquet and University Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bassford of 6 Shaw place have come home from Boston and New York.

Mrs. Albert T. Perkins has been appointed chairman of a reception committee, whose duties will be to welcome the Veiled Prophet when he arrives at the flying field at Bridgeton on the morning of Oct. 1. Mrs. Perkins, Miss Alice Busch, who is the reigning Veiled Prophet Queen, and the three ladies-in-waiting, Misses Elizabeth Boeckeler, Elizabeth Carter and Katherine Perkins, will head the committee of matrons and maids of last year and this year who will constitute the official receiving line Oct. 1. His Majesty is to arrive at the flying field by airplane about 11 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1, and will remain an hour, watching the flying events before repairing to the den, where he will remain in seclusion until his appearance at the head of the street pageant on the evening of Oct. 2.

Miss Catherine L. Penniman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Merit Penniman of 5430 Cabanne avenue, has accompanied her cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Lamb, on a motor trip through New England. She will resume her studies at Wellesley College Sept. 21.

Mrs. H. C. Barker of 4536 McPherson avenue, who has been visiting friends in Portland, Ore., for three months is expected home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drescher of 25 Joy avenue, Webster Groves, their son, John, and daughter, Miss Katherine, have returned from a tour of Wisconsin.

$400,000 NOT PAID IN TO COMMUNITY FUND

Charities Depending on It Will Be Embarrassed Unless Payments Are Prompt.

Unless subscribers make payments promptly, the charities and philanthropies of St. Louis will be seriously embarrassed, Richard S. Hawes, treasurer of the Community Fund, reported to the trustees yesterday. Pledges amounting to $1,114,121 have been made to the Community Fund. This is the amount necessary to meet adequately the needs of the 40 charitable and philanthropic organizations. However, only $697,529 has been paid, leaving an average of $100,000 a month to be paid in September, October, November and December. The needs of the organizations in the Community Fund, Hawes says, are about $100,000 a month, and complete payment will be required to meet them.

The report of Treasurer Hawes shows that the expenses of the Community Fund will not exceed the original appropriation of 3 per cent for year-around collections, accounting, distribution of funds and efficiency service to member organizations.

In addition to the $100,000 expended by the Community Fund in clearing deficits of member organizations for 1922, the following payments have been made to organizations in the Community Fund up to Sept. 1: Barnes Hospital, $11,962; Big Brother Organization, $3494; Big Sister Organization, $2663; Board of Religious Organizations, $6690; Central Institute for the Deaf, $1700; Central Purchasing Bureau, $1192; Children's Aid Society, $18,345; Children's Hospital, $49,608; Christian Orphans' Home, $6198; Colored Orphans' Home, $4159; Community Council, $13,869; County Welfare Association, $5081; disabled veterans' clubhouse, $4981; Epworth School for Girls, $3865; Euclid House, $2516; hospital social service, $23,550; International Institute, $10,256; Junion League of St. Louis, $1525; Kingdom House, $4804; maternity hospital, $4648; Methodist Orphans' Home, $9673; Mission Free School, $840; Missouri Association for Occupational Therapy, $1500; Missouri Social Hygiene Association, $408; Missouri Welfare League, $4954; Neighborhood Association, $5400; Peoples' Hospital, $4641, Protestant Orphans' Home, $7263; Provident Association, $79,550; Pure Milk Commission, $3347; St. Louis Committee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, none; Salvation Army, $41,618; social service and welfare department of Church Federation, $9743; Social Service Exchange, $1319; South Side Public Health, Nursing and Teaching Center, $4191; State Board of Charities and Corrections, $250; Urban League, $7981; Visiting Nurse Association, $22,789; Y. 500 ORCHID PLANTS, SHIPPED FROM SOUTH AMERICA, ARRIVE

Five hundred orchid plants, "worn to a frazzle" by a seven-weeks' journey from the sequestered mountain border between Colombia and Venezuela, arrived at the Missouri Botanical Garden today.

During the rainy season in their native habitat, orchids store up food for the dry half of the year in large psuedo-bulbs. They were gathered in the rainy season, so their pseudo-bulbs were bursting when they started on their long journey. They were packed in 12 cases, each case weighing 250 pounds. Upon arrival today, the weight of the cases had shrunk from 250 pounds to 75. The moisture in the pseudo-bulbs had evaporated to that extent. However, the orchids were still healthy upon arrival.

A representative of the Department of Agriculture from Washington has been awaiting their arrival for a week to inspect them for depredaceous insects. The importation of the orchids was by special dispensation of the department. An embargo against them has existed for more than three years.

The orchids are part of the collection of about 5000 plants gathered by George H. Pring, horticulturist of the garden, on his recent expedition to the Andes. The plants arriving today are known to the South American natives as the flora de Mayo (the flower of May). They are a large mauve variety (Cattleya Schroederae) and are desired at the garden because they flower about a month later than the Trianae, which form the greater part of the collection. Thus it is hoped that the garden's annual orchid show can be extended through two months, January and February.

Former Federal Attorney Dies.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 13.—Charles D. Fullen, former United States Attorney for the Southern District of Iowa, died here yesterday after a long illness.

DAUGHTER OF A MARQUIS WEDS HER FORMER HUSBAND

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—For the second time in 10 years, Lorraine de La Montanya Crittenden, daughter of a Marquis, and a prominent member of society, was wedded yesterday to Howard Crittenden, scion of one California's oldest families. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin at Redwood City and the couple slipped away quietly on their second honeymoon to an unannounced destination.

The first wedding of the Crittendens was a sensation in society circles of San Francisco in 1913. They eloped to Sacramento and spent their honeymoon in Europe and Central America.

In March, 1922 a suit for divorce was filed secretly by Mrs. Crittenden who charged her husband with the habitual use of intoxicants. The divorce was granted.

Nuns Going to China as Missionaries.

Two nuns from Loretto Academy, 3407 Lafayette avenue, and four others of the Loretto Order will depart tonight for Seattle, Wash., there to take ship for China, where they will act as teacher-missionaries. They are to be stationed at Han Yang, 600 miles inland on the Yang tse Kiang River. The St. Louis representatives are Sister Mary Jane McDonald and Sister Mary Justa Justin. This is said to be the first time nuns have gone as missionaries from St. Louis.

A Girl at 62

Because of a French-type clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

For 40 years I have been a famous beauty. I am a youthful beauty still. On the stage I play young girls' parts, and I look like a girl of 19.

Many years ago French experts taught me the use of clay. That clay multiplied my beauty—made me the rage of New York.

Then clays were crude and muddy, as many clays are still. Since then, French experts have perfected clay. They have made it white and clean and dainty. They have added factors which bring manifold effects.

I now use that perfected clay, and call it my White Youth Clay. I am an example of what that new-type clay does for a woman of 62.

You must use clay

No girl or woman who cares for beauty can now omit her clay. No girl can look her best without it, no woman can keep her youth. The users of clay, with their rosy, clear complexions, stand out in every crowd.

Clay purges the skin of all that clogs it—the causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes. It brings blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is that rosy afterglow which so amazes and delights.

Clay makes plain girls beauties. And older women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years.

Clay firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Look at me—a miracle of old-age youth. That could never have come without clay.

The best is yours

Now I bring you this new-type clay which France perfected for me. If you are a clay user, the multiplied results will amaze you. If you don't use clay, the quick results will astound you.

You owe to yourself a test.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream which should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

I am doing this to serve you—to bring you greater beauty, longer youth. Go learn how much they mean to you, starting with my Youth Clay. Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukesha, Wis.

ESKIMO WOMAN ON WRANGEL ISLAND TELLS EXPERIENCES

number of exploring trips to various parts of the island during the year and all did their utmost to employ their time as profitably as possible and to keep up the morale of the party.

But the summer passed and autumn came. There were times when the ice seemed clear and a ship could get through. At other times the ice hugged the land and it was realized that any attempt to get through at such times must result in failure. It was not until the season was well advanced, however, that hope of succor was entirely abandoned.

Then it was realized that a second winter must be passed on Wrangel Island. The first had been in interesting adventure. The hardship had not been particularly great and all would have been speedily forgotten had relief come when expected. Another winter under less favorable circumstances was an entirely different matter. But there was no alternative.

They laid in what meat they could and husbanded their resources as much as possible. On Nov. 15, 1922, they moved their camp to Doubtful Harbor, where there was a plentiful supply of driftwood and they would thus not need to use their fat for fuel. But as the winter dragged on its weary length and the food supply got less and less and they saw that it would not suffice until spring. Furthermore, lack of sufficient food of the proper kind was having its effect and Knight, particularly, was beginning to show signs of what Ada called scurvy, but which might have been some other result of malnutrition. Something had to be done.

On Jan. 7, 1923, in the depth of winter's darkness, Crawford and Knight set off for the Siberian coast, little more than 100 miles distant. If they could once reach it they could probably bring back succor for their comrades. But the ice was badly broken and travel was very rough. They made a brave attempt but Crawford froze his fingers and Knight's weakened condition compelled them to return to Wrangel Island after two weeks on the ice in their futile endeavor.

After allowing a week for Crawford to recuperate, another attempt was made to reach Siberia. This time Crawford was accompanied by Maurer and Galle. Knight was unable to travel and he was left in care of which could be spared from the shore party.

Determined Not to Return.

Crawford and his companions carried their food, consisting principally of pilot bread and seal oil, on a sledge drawn by five dogs. They intended to continue their efforts to reach Siberia at all costs as there was little use in returning to the island. They had left Ada and Knight with sufficient food to last them until spring, with care, and their return would only jeopardize the safety of the entire party.

Ada nursed Knight until he died, June 22. His condition had become so grave by spring that the opportunity to secure fresh food with the breakup of the ice came too late.

Knight was the only member of the party whom I had known previously and I was particularly affected as I looked upon his emaciated form laid out in the tent where Ada had left his body since his death. Before returning we dug a grave and gave the remains of my poor pal a decent burial.

Of course, Ada had no more idea of the fate of Crawford and his companions than I had. She had hoped that they had reached Siberia safely. And she was still inclined to think that perhaps some day they would turn up. But I must confess that I could not share her belief.

The boys were undoubtedly in a very weakened condition when they set out and none of them had had any previous experience of ice travel in winter time, excepting Maurer, and his experience was confined principally to one trip from the wrecked Karluk in 1914 to Wrangel Island. Then he was a member of a large party commanded by Capt. R. A. Bartlett, an experienced Arctic traveler, and fully equipped with everything required.

Therefore, I am afraid that their chance of reaching Siberia was very slim. Furthermore I have since heard that Castel, a former member of the Canadian Arctic Expedition of 1913-18, who has been living for some years in Siberia, traveled all along the north coast of Siberia in June of this year, camping in native houses every night, without hearing anything from the Eskimos of the missing men. Many ships also have traveled along that coast since the opening of navigation, but they too have nothing to report.

Allen Crawford, Frederick Maurer and Milton Galle seem to have joined their pal, Lorne Knight, in that land from which no traveler returns.

money collected by the Communists in the coal regions was utilized is recited as follows:

"Efforts of the Communists to get control of the United Mine Workers have continued without interruption since the strike of last year. In the first two months of this year, these efforts centered on bringing about an outlaw strike on April 1, later to drive a wedge into the United Mine Workers through advocacy of the expediency of Government ownership of mines. William Z. Foster, industrial organizer of the Communist International, has been at the head of the enterprise. The principal scene of action has been Southwestern Pennsylvania. The vehicle has been the Miners' Relief Conference and the magnet for attracting the miners has been 'Government ownership of the mines.'"

Stage Hands Want More Pay.
The St. Louis Theatrical Brotherhood, Local No. 6, has asked for wage increases ranging from 18 to 50 per cent for stage hands in all theaters. The Gayety Theater has granted an increase of about 35 per cent, Oscar Dane, manager, announced. Other theater managers are seeking a meeting with representatives of the union to discuss the wage scale.

BELLEVILLE SLAYER'S SECOND VICTIM DIES

Wound Proves Fatal to Mrs. Emily Hall, Mother-in-Law of Walted C. Cochran.

Mrs. Emily Hall, 59 years old, died last night in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, from the bullet wound in her abdomen inflicted Monday by her son-in-law, Walter C. Cochran, who also killed his wife, Mrs. Mamie Cochran, and wounded a policeman and a deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Hall's son, Robert C. Hall of Fort Worth, who arrived yesterday, will depart tonight, with the bodies of his mother and sister, for Mineola, Tex., if the Coroner will permit the removal of the bodies so soon.

He will take to his own home the 6-weeks-old infant, Virginia Cochran, left virtually an orphan by the death of her mother and the prospective execution or long imprisonment of her father.

"It Was Dreadful."

Hall was with his mother during her last interval of consciousness, about noon, and remained at her bedside until she died. Her last words to him, in speaking of the shooting of her daughter, were, "It was dreadful, dreadful."

Cochran, who was taken by the Belleville and St. Louis police in his home on East B street, after resisting arrest for four hours, was arraigned yesterday, following the voting of an indictment charging him with first degree murder. He has said that he did not remember the circumstances of the shooting, and that he had been drinking "moonshine" whisky.

His head was bandaged and his face bore the bruises inflicted by policemen and bystanders at the time of his capture, but he showed no sign of contrition as he faced Judge George Crow. The Judge told him of the charge, and asked if he was guilty.

"I guess I am; they say I am," the prisoner replied.

The Judge then told Cochran, as the law requires in such a case, that if he chose to enter a formal plea of guilty, he would be sentenced to hanging or life imprisonment. For a lesser degree of murder, the Judge added, the punishment would be imprisonment for not less than 14 years.

"Then I don't want to plead guilty," Cochran said. He said he was without money to employ a lawyer, and the Court will name counsel to act for him.

Policeman George Schilling and Deputy Sheriff Albert Petrie, each of whom was wounded in the head by Cochran, are in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, and appear to be progressing favorably.

Friday—7:45 P. M.

A ukelele played like an organ—that is, manipulated with the skill and artistry required for performance on a pipe organ, or a violin, or a cello—was the feature of the entertainment offered to radio listeners last night by Station K S D. The little Hawaiian banjo, usually regarded as nothing more dignified than a toy, was handled by a master hand, and the result was truly amazing. Mrs. F. G. Pulley, formerly of Chicago, who has come to St. Louis to reside, was the artist, and the only thing about her entire program that was in any sense reminiscent of the ukelele as most Americans know it was the rendition of "Aloha Oa," the Hawaiian song of farewell. Grand opera, classical compositions for orchestra and piano, and ballads, arranged for performance on the little instrument, composed her program, and all were presented in genuinely artistic style. The most ambitious, and also the best, of her numbers was a grand opera, "potpourri," in which the "Ah, che la morte," from Verdi's "Il Trovatore" and "Un bel die" from "Madame Butterfly," were the predominant airs. Mrs. Pulley was ably assisted by her husband, playing a standard guitar as accompanist, and Miss Alma Warner, soloist on the Hawaiian steel-string guitar. A return engagement of these artists is one of the treats promised to K S D listeners in the season.

The first part of the program last night at Station K S D was given by a group of men who are among the favorite vocalists with audiences in this State and in Chicago. They presented popular songs, both jazz songs and ballads, giving solo and ensemble numbers with fine effect and receiving numerous compliments from hearers, who called the radio station by telephone to express their pleasure. A notable feature of this part of the program was the presence of the poplar song writer, Harold Dixon, who accompanied several of the songs on the piano, one of which was his own latest hit, "Call Me Back, Pal o' Mine." Members of the little company of singers were Steve Cady, Joseph Gallagher, Jack Lehr, Nat Binns, George Shone, Charles Voerge, vocalists; Lee Keener, violinist, and Joseph Sittner and Harold Dixon, pianists.

MISSOURI PACIFIC LAWYERS MEET BARRETT AND OTIS

State Representation at Hearing of Protest Against Santa Fe Taking D. & R. G. Discussed.

Attorneys for the Missouri Pacific Railroad were in conference with Attorney-General Barrett and Chairman Otis of the State Public Service Commission at Jefferson City today regarding the opposition of the railroad to the proposed consolidation of the Denver & Rio Grande Western, a Colorado and Utah line, with the Santa Fe system.

As has been told, the Rio Grande line, with the Western Pacific, at present affords the Missouri Pacific its connection with the Pacific Coast. If the Rio Grande were absorbed by the Santa Fe, it would be used to serve the traffic interests of Chicago, rather than of this city. Chicago has other lines giving it through connection with the Pacific Coast, and it is contended that the proposed consolidation would give Chicago all the connections and leave St. Louis none.

The Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific are prepared to acquire the Rio Grande, and their claim, in opposition to that of the Santa Fe, will be presented at a hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Denver Oct. 3. The City of St. Louis, which has intervened on the side of the Missouri Pacific, will be represented in the hearing. Today's conference related to the question whether the State should intervene and send a representative to the hearing. No decision was announced.

ENGINE FOREMAN FINED $100 FOR BLOCKING TRAFFIC

Counsel to Appeal From Verdict Against Terminal Railroad Employe.

Harry A. Snedeker of 3607 Palm street, an engine foreman for the Terminal Railroad Association, was fined $100 in Police Court today on a charge of blocking traffic for more than five minutes at a railroad crossing.

It was alleged that he held a switch engine at McKissock and Gano avenues from 5:10 to 5:22 p. m., last Saturday. Snedeker pleaded that a train was in his way, and his counsel said an appeal would be taken.

It used to be that arms grew weary and backs ached cruelly over the washboard—

But now—straight from the soaking water into the rinse water

YESTERDAY~ rubbing till you ached
TODAY~ soaking takes the place of rubbing

All that old back-breaking work is gone forever ~ you do not have to wear yourself out over your washboard any longer

Sheets, towels and aprons. Rompers, shirts and play clothes.

How hard it used to be to manage them with bar soap. What a downright mean job it was to rub the soap on all the soiled places and then rub the heavy wet clothes on the washboard.

And yet you would not spare yourself this back-breaking work, for the love of clean linen lies very close to every American woman's heart.

Today how easy it is to get all these pieces clean and white.

This new kind of soap soaks dirt out

Just let soaking take the place of rubbing. The cleansing Rinso suds work gently through every fold and fibre. They loosen the dirt without weakening a single thread.

Even neck bands and cuff edges, hems and knees of play clothes—those especially grimy places—have their dirt easily and safely loosened. Only a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso is necessary.

You do not have to change your washday habits when you use Rinso. Just use it in place of bar soap whether for soaking, boiling or in washing machines.

Just dissolve—use enough—soak

Rinso dissolves instantly and completely in boiling water. Make a good, thick solution of it in a saucepan. Pour this solution into your tub and add lukewarm water until tub is half full. Then put in your clothes. Be sure that the suds stand up even after the clothes are in. If they do not, add more of the Rinso solution until they do.

Let the clothes soak an hour—over night if you wish. (Colored clothes, of course, not longer than half an hour.) Then rinse out. You will find that your clothes are whiter—more fragrant than ever.

Follow the advice of the big washing machine manufacturers—use Rinso in your machine. Sixteen leaders in their field recommend Rinso for best results.

The largest soap makers in the world, the makers of Lux, make Rinso. It is just as safe and easy for the family wash as Lux is for fine things.

Get Rinso today at any grocery or department store. There are two sizes, the regular size and the big new package. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

This new kind of soap takes the place of bar soap and makes hard rubbing unnecessary

City News in Brief

ST. LOUIS CHAPTER, NO. 1, DISabled American Veterands of the World War, has passed a resolution declaring its confidence in M. E. Head, manager of the United States Veterans' Bureau for the Ninth District, and characterizing as "ill advised" the criticism being directed at him by some former service men.

SEEBERT G. JONES O F5129 MAPLE avenue, former Circuit Attorney, has asked detectives to investigate an apparent burglary at his home Sunday. Furs valued at $210 and a cloak valued at $175, belonging to Miss Sarah Barfield, and some photographs taken in Europe and belonging to Mrs. Jonse, were stolen.

MAURICE DANFORD, 45 YEARS OLD, of 6088 Maple avenue, and Martin Danford, 45, were arrested by detectives last night when they saw Maurice throw a basekt over a bridge and into the River des Peres at Rosedale and Clemens avenue. The basekt, recovered, was found to contain, the detectives reported, a gallon can of so-called "moonshine" whisky.

TWO POLICE CHARACTERS, ONE OF whom had been released from the holdover only a few hours earlier, were arrested at Taylor avenue and Delmar boulevard at 4 p. m. yesterday after they had left their automobile in which they had been pursued for more than two miles by detectives who fired shots in the chase.

BURGLARS, WHO USED A LADDER TO climb to a second-floor window, robbed the Seigel-Kopman Furniture Co.'s store, 2200 Franklin avenue, while the place was closed in observance of the Jewish New Year Tuesday. The thieves carted away 26 rugs and three trunks, all valued at $700.

JOHN AYERS, 77 YEARS OLD, OF 1024 Russell avenue, was taken to city hospital yesterday after he had attempted to cut his throat with a pocket knife at his home. His daughter, Mrs. Anna Jacobson, told police he had attempted suicide four years ago. His condition is not serious.

H. D. McBRIDE, NEWLY ELECTED State commander of the Missouri Department, American Legion, will outline the policies and plans of the new administration before the regular weekly meeting of the Fred W. Stockham Post at the American Annex tomorrow noon. "Reasons for and Against the Seven-Cent Fare" will be the subject of an address by Henry S. Caulfield, counsel for the city in the United Railways' case.

BERLIN POLICE "POTATO SQUAD"

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—The "potato squad" is the latest unit of the Berlin police force. It has been assigned to deal with hordes of city dwellers who have been invading the suburban districts and digging up all the potatoes in sight.

Among the fields visited by the raiders are the municipal farm, easily reached by tramway, and the Kritz estate of several thousand acres.

Woman Dies Returning From Wake.

Mrs. Ida Frey, 55 years old, of 4125 Concordia avenue, died suddenly at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, on the porch of her home as she and her husband, George, were returning from attending the wake of Frey's brother, where they had spent the evening. Frey told policemen that his wife complained of feeling ill as they neared their home and he assisted her to the porch, where she fell. Frey said his wife had suffered a paralytic stroke three years ago.

Screen Actress Obtains Divorce.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Ruby Walsh, a screen actress, known professionally as Ruby Lee, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce in Superior Court here yesterday from Maurice Walsh, who is said to be a member of a well-known Boston family. Mrs. Walsh alleged in her complaint that Walsh failed to contribute anything toward her support.

FLYER TRYING TO BREAK GULF-TO-CANADA MARK

Parker D. Cramer Leaves Houston (Tex.) Field—Destination Is Clarion, Pa.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 13.—Parker D. Cramer hopped off at 6:14 o'clock this morning at Ellington field near here in an attempt to shatter the Gulf-to-Canada nonstop record, made recently by Lieut. Scotty Crocker in a Gulf-to-Canada flight.

Cramer flew a plane of his own design, small beside the DeHaviland used by the army flier. He was burdened with 220 gallons of gasoline and the little machine had a hard fight clearing the ground.

Cramer expects to have much easier going as his fuel is used up. His destination is Clarion, Penn. The latter part of the flight will be made after dark.

Crocker's Record.

Lieut. Crocker wrested the nonstop record from Lieut. James H. Doolittle, who, in the same plane, on Sept. 5, 1922, flew from Kelly Field, Tex., to San Diego, Cal., a distance of 1240 miles, in 11 hours and 10 minutes.

Lieut. Crocker, on May 26, flew approximately 1400 miles in a nonstop flight from Ellington Field, here, to Selfridge Field, Detroit, in 11 hours and 54 minutes.

The pigmy machine was loaded with 700 pounds excess weight. Cramer's destination, Clarion, Pa., 75 miles north of Pittsburg, is about 1225 miles from Houston on an air line. To reach his objective he planned to fly over trackless swamps, where a stalled engine almost certainly would mean disaster; sail above forests stretching 50 miles in length, brave treacherous air currents which are known to exist on part of the route, ignore landing fields and trust to luck.

Special Arrangements.

Cramer's machine is of standard type, built from standard parts. For the last six months he has been working on the plane, assembling, testing and incorporating special features. These include a rearrangement of fuel tanks, which is the basis of his effort to make the flight. He removed the old tank and put a De Haviland 90-gallon tank in its place. He put a second container in the space occupied by the passenger seat and built a third on the upper wing, shaping it to where it will offer little resistance to air pressure. At the tail of the machine he placed his fourth tank. This is empty and it will not be filled until gas in two of the forward tanks begins to run low, causing the center of gravity to shift forward. A pipe runs from the forward containers to the one on the rear. By allowing gas to flow into the latter, Cramer believes the machine could be kept perfectly balanced. The rear container has a capacity of 25 gallons.

Other special features of the plane include an oversize radiator with shutters to regulate the heat of the engine, which is a 150-horsepower Hispano type.

The aviator planned to fly over Cape Monroe, La., passing just south of Memphis, sail above Bowling Green, Ky., and strike Chillicothe and Beaver Falls, Ohio.

Lieut. Crocker, in his Gulf-to-Canada flight used a De Haviland plane with a 400-horsepower Liberty motor. Compared to the machine in which Cramer is attempting to beat the army man's record, the De Haviland plane is a giant.

Attends Hotel Dance and Younger Set of Quebec Helps Him to Pass Merry Evening.

By the Associated Press.

QUEBEC, Sept. 13.—The strains of American jazz music upset the plans of Baron Renfrew, better known as the Prince of Wales, last night. He had planned to pass a quiet evening at the Chateau Frontenac after his arrival on the Empress of France yesterday and a round of golf. He returned from a shopping tour, sat by an open window gazing down at the St. Lawrence, when—syncopated melodies floated through the air.

Baron Renfrew became again the Prince of Wales who visited Canada four years ago. He announced his intention of attending the dance in the hotel, and Quebec's younger set soon was on hand. Many of the girls who danced with the Prince were his partners when he was here in 1919.

DELMAR WIDENING TO INVOLVE UTILIZATION OF PARKED SPACE

Trolley Poles World Be Removed from Center of Street—Ordinance Ready for Action.

When Delmar boulevard is widened west from Clara avenue to make it a 96-foot roadway from King's highway to the city limits, as property owners are urging, the 22-foot parked space in the center of the boulevard west from King's highway will be abolished and the full width of the street will be utilized for traffic. This will entail the removal of trolley poles which now run down the parked space. The United Railways has agreed to the removal.

It is probable that the widenign will be undertaken next summer. The additional eight feet will be taken from the sidewalk, so it involves no assessment of damages and property owners are unanimous for the work. The ordinance for the widening is ready for action by the Board of Aldermen.

PROPOSED LEAGUE TREATY OUTLAWS WAR OF AGGRESSION

Would Pledge High Contracting Parties Against Such Conflicts as an "International Crime."

MUTUAL ASSISTANCE PROVIDED BY PACT

Based on Desire to Facilitate Application of Article Ten —Lord Robert Cecil Defends Plan.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—The first article of a proposed treaty of mutual assistance, which has been agreed upon by a League of Nations subcommission, constitute a declaration by the high contracting parties that aggressive war is an international crime, and they severally undertake that no one of them will be guilty of committing it.

The preamble of the pact, which has also been accepted by the commission, declares that the treaty is based upon a desire to facilitate the application of article 10 of the league covenant, concerning the maintenance of the territorial integrity of the nations and to obtain the reduction or limitation of armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety.

Charges by Branting.

A lively discussion over the covenant of the League of Nations, which Hjalmar Branting of Sweden charged had shown itself fragile in practice, gave the Geneva deliberations again a dramatic tone yesterday. The subcommission was considering the proposed pact for mutual assistance, which was provisionally arranged at Paris as a compromise of the British and French conceptions of the project, when Branting arose and said the treaty appeared to be all guarantees and no disarmament and more coercive than conciliatory.

After all, he declared, the covenant of the league had in practice proved ineffective. He questioned whether it was wise to adopt the more stringent measures provided by the new treaty when they could not enforce things already existing.

Cecil Takes Part.

Allusion to the Greco-Italian crisis brought Lord Robert Cecil to his feet with the vigorous assertion that there was no question that the league had lived up to its duties. He argued that the league could not be conciliatory and coercive at the same time, and that there was no justification for any charge that the league had failed.

Lord Robert tried to make clear that, as there had been doubt raised as to the competency of the league in the Greco-Italian affair, the league by its collaboration with the Ambassadors' Council, had not avoided its duty, and declared that the occupation of Corfu, if it clearly came within the purview of the league, was merely in suspense pending clarification of the eventual Italian attitude.

Information received at Geneva that Premier Mussolini might not withdraw his troops from Corfu until the assassins of the members of the Italian boundary commission were convicted and executed is regarded as increasing the chances that the assembly will soon insist upon a discussion of the league competency.

Norwegian Delegates' Retort.

Lord Robert Cecil closed his speech with the remark that the small nations must be ready to make sacrifices.

M. Lange of Norway retorted that the small nations must have guarantees from the big Powers, whose foreign policy could be based notably on living up to the articles of the covenant, which required that all treaties should be published and registered, and by agreeing to compulsory jurisdiction for the Court of International Justice.

$570,000 FOUND HOARDED IN STAMBOULISKY'S HOUSE

Premier of Bulgaria, Who Was Assassinated, Also Thought to Have Sent Money Outside the Country.

By the Associated Press.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 13.—Stamboulisky, the Premier of Bulgaria, who was slain during the reaction against the peasant government of which he was the leader, had a tidy sum of money hidden away for eventualties. The authorities have found 57,000,000 levas, or approximately $570,000, in his house in Sofia. He was generally reputed to be a hoarder, and is thought to have planted considerable money outside the country. Endeavors are being made to get this also.

Most of the cash found here was in Bulgarian currency, but among the collection were two American $1 bills.

Stamboulisky's salary as Premier was 10,000 levas, or $100 a month.

Jack Dempsey Had His Hair Cut Yesterday. Indicating He Doesn't Think Firpo Will Be Able to Trim Him

Firpo, Despite Fine Physique, Has Only a Remote Chance to Defeat Dempsey in Title Bout, Wray Says

By John E. Wray,
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—The evidence e in the case of Champion Jack Dempsey vs. Luis Angel Firpo, submitted in the country's sporting news columns for four weeks, is now all in.

So is a badly punished reading public.

The sporting world contains many good two-fisted readers who seldom whimper under literary punishment. But when the distinguished gentlemen of the portable type foundry yank the innocent bystander back 250,000 years to find a type like Firpo, or drag him through geology to find out whether the Neanderthal man belonged to the Old Stone Age or the Hatchet Tong, the worm is entitled to a left-turn traffic signal.

After a few days spent with the cave man theorists we are this moment unable to tell the difference between a kitchen midden and a three-room efficiency.

However, the worst is now over. All the followers of sporting pages now have to do is lick their wounds and sit still while the experts draw conclusions from the evidence at hand.

Cave man, 10 per cent.
Brown bear of the Andes, 10 per cent.
Gorgonzola Giganticus, 20 per cent.
Pampas Wild Bull, 5 per cent.
Wild Publicity Bull, 50 per cent.
Plain Latin-American, 5 per cent.

We will say this for Firpo—he doesn't look it. Yesterday as he finished his last polishing-up for the polishing-off he will face tomorrow night at the Polo Grounds, he looked about 100 per cent man, a fine, full-blooded, healthy, amazingly powerful, confident, 1923 human being, 25 pounds heavier than the champion. It surely appeared as though Luis were dead set on proving himself a regular up-to-date human. He is 50 per cent a better man, physically, than anyone Dempsey has fought.

This Bozo Has Been Studying.

When approached he smiled like a regular guy. When asked if he would use the paleolithic or the neolithic plan of attack, Luis staggered his hearers and broke all camp records by replying in English:

"I shall win," he said, enunciating in first speed—an answer which completely amputates the Gorgonzola from his makeup, and renders Firpo immune to all "cheese champion" accusations, in case of victory.

Expert deduction, however, will not align with this viewpoint. The summing up by numerous observers on the ground, for the past two or three weeks, leaves one to believe that the proportion of Gorgonzola Giganticus in Firpo is 90 per cent, and that Dempsey is going to step into Luis' corner in the opening round and then and there disarrange permanently any caveman notions the gentleman may have had.

If there is one man in New York today who picks Firpo to win, he is not in evidence. We have not canvassed the sanitariums as yet.

A few conservative persons think that Luis has a wild, outside chance of landing one of these Indian club rights on Dempsey and of flattening him thereby. Another group has arrived at the conclusion that if Firpo is built out of our best tire material, carefully corded, as some figure, and survives six rounds of Dempsey, he has a chance then to come through a winner.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

The Wild Bull was feeling bully as he greeted friends at his headquarters, 311 West Ninety-fourth street.

Firpo's three weeks of work have left him bronzed and lean of face, and stalwart of body, although critics say that his preparation has not benefited his wind as it should have done.

Firpo's little "forlorn hope" army consists of the same men who comprised his board of strategy at Atlantic City—Horacio Lavelle, Carlos Vega, Natalio Pera and Albertino of the culinary department. The excess sparring staff was dismissed yesterday and his Spanish-speaking countrymen will be in his corner tomorrow night, unless plans are changed today.

Dempsey and his aids will arrive tonight. Manager Kearns has been here for two days.

Though Dempsey Is Picked as Sure Winner, Odds Are Backed Down to 2 to 1

But thus far the observation ward has reported no patient with the delusion that Firpo positively can't lose. On the other hand, practically everyone is willing to demonstrate mathematically to you that Dempsey is "in."

But the odds on the sure thing remain persistently close to sea level, having been backed down to 2 to 1 to win, last night. We don't know who did the backing down, since the Firpo expedition seems to have left behind at home—among other valuable equipment—the family plate and necessary betting utensils, such as pesos.

Considering the proportion of Dempsey followers to Firpo men which is 100 to 0, no fight in history, not even the Gibbons-Dempsey affair, has approached the expert unanimity in favor of the title holder found in the coming broil.

Even the Society of the Victims of Firpo, including Willard, Brennan and McAuliffe, all of whom gave esthetic demonstrations of the art of draping one's self on the canvas in front of a provoked wild bull, are fronting for the champion—lending some additional pungency to the odor as of Denmark decayed and discernible whenever these Firponian successes are referred to.

Not a Chance, They Say.

If you ask any of the hard-boiled cognoscenti why they omit, deny or otherwise deprive Firpo of the credit of having accomplished just what Dempsey did against the only two fighters they, in common, have met and knocked out, the effect is the same in all cases.

The party of the second part raises his right hand, presses the proboscis tightly between thumb and forefinger and waves you away with the left.

It leads one to believe that they neglected to serve gas masks with ringside positions, at the soirees mentioned.

We would not like to indorse such views, which seem to lend color to the stories prevalent of the means taken to "build up" Firpo. Mr. Rickard has many enemies here who would fain shred him of his reputation and of his success.

We saw the Willard fight and noted with pain that Jess was accused of dogging it. Jess did look a little relieved when he arose from one knee, where he had gone to think over the situation in the eighth round.

Jess was peeved then, because someone near the ringside yelled: "Get up, you piece of cheese, and fight!" He looked around and was thinking up some choice bit of repartee when the referee was rude enough to count him out.

But that shouldn't be held against Rickard. Jess achieved a world's record in 1919 when he allowed the world's championship to slip away from him while he sat innocuous in his chair and refused to come out and "take it." He was the first title holder ever to "resign," and he merely ran true to that form again, in the Firpo fight.

Wonderful Physical Specimen.

In spite of the belittling, the stories of building up of Firpo, the yarns about his wretched training system and his poor sparring partners, we still permit ourselves to believe that SOME PHYSICAL MAN will be opposed to Dempsey, tomorrow night—a man with brawn, a bludgeon-like blow, determination and confidence.

His undoubted slowness and deplorable lack of ring science or generalship, make it improbable that he can, even with the best heart and determination in the world, stand up under the battering he inevitably will have to endure—a pounding that will begin with the first round and continue to the close, whenever that comes.

It may also be well to remember that in spite of the Gorgonzola aspects of Firpo's boxing, he has done all that Dempsey has done, and, like him, rose over the relics of a lot of set-ups. His hope seems to be to get in a heavy blow early in the fight, or to outlast his opponent by sheer ability to take it.

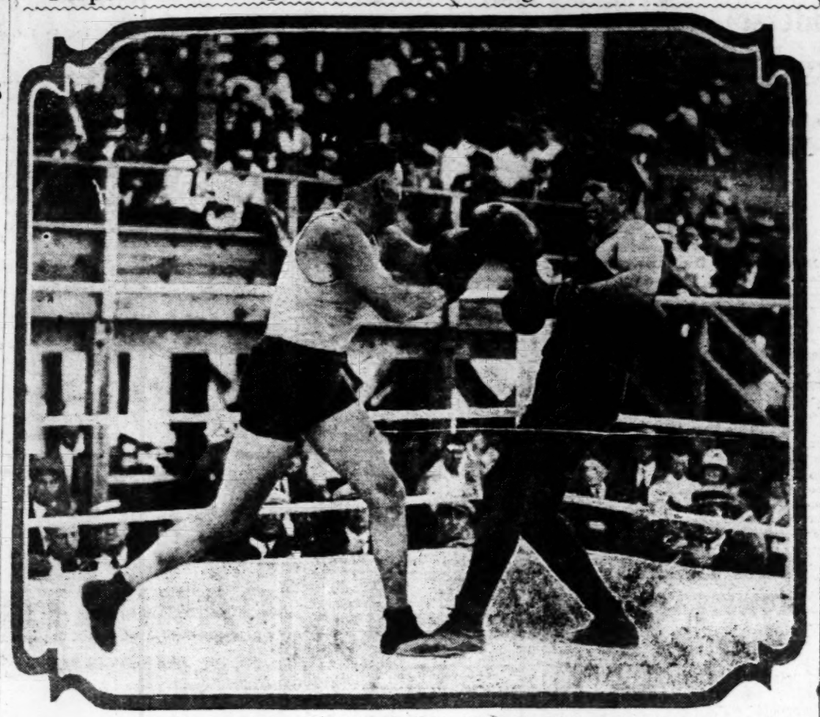

Bat Nelson and Jim Jeffries did just that. There is a remote perhaps that Firpo may.

YANKEES OBTAIN KARR FROM ATLANTA CLUB

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13.—Benny Karr, leading pitcher for the Atlanta Southern Association team, yesterday was sold to the New York Yankees, according to an announcement made here by club officials. The price was not made public. The Yankees have released to the Atlanta club for next year Johnny Wight, third baseman, now playing with Shreveport in the Texas League, and Pitcher Spates, now with Albany, New York, in the Eastern League.

Firpo in Training Bout With Young Bob Fitzsimmons

—Pacific and Atlantic.

Dempsey's challenger does not display impressive defensive or offensive form in this workout with Young Bob Fitzsimmons. Experts who saw the training bout at Firpo's Atlantic City camp emphasized the fact that Young Bob, not particularly clever, easily landed rights and lefts on the head and body of the Wild Bull of the Pampas.

Suspension and Fine For Shocker

Pitcher Who Refused to Accompany Team East Suspended for 10 Days.

Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the Browns, who declined to go East with the team Tuesday night because club officials refused to permit Mrs. Shocker to accompany him, was suspended for 10 days and fined today by Bill Friel, business manager. The amount of the fine was not made public.

The dispute developed following the adoption of a rule by the club that players would not be permitted to take their wives on trips with them. Shocker sought to have the rule set aside for this particular trip, but officials decided that to make an exception in Shocker's case would set a bad precedent.

When permission was refused Shocker declined to go with the club and the suspension resulted. He is privileged to report to the club at the expiration of 10 days.

NORTHWESTERN COACH EXPECTS LARGE SQUAD TO REFORT FOR GRID WORK

EVANSTON, Sept. 13. — Coach Thistlethwaite at Northwestern University expects at least 60 men to report at the opening of football practice Saturday, most of whom will be more or less experienced.

"I am no believer in winning games before we play them," the coach said. "When I say our material seems to average a little better I am not taking into consideration possible injuries. What I do mean is that our material should turn out a team slightly better than last year's."

Coach Thistlethwaite and Capt. Bill McElwain have been busy for the last few weeks rounding up by letter both the men who got their "N's" or who did some playing last year and the last year's freshmen group as well. Out of 100 or more candidates the coach and the captain think that at least 60 show enough promise to deserve special training and attention.

"Northwestern's student body will not be on the campus in full strength until September 19 or 20 but the athletes out there are so loyal and ambitious," the coaches assert, "that every man who can possibly reach Evanston on the fifteenth is relied upon to be in full regalia at 9:30 that morning."

AMATEURS AND PROS TO HOLD ANOTHER TOURNEY

Success of the amateur-pro tournament at the Midland Valley Country Club has caused the golfers to plot a similar tournament to be held after the St. Louisans entrants in the National amateur championship return from Chicago. More than 40 golfers competed and it was unfortunate that more golf followers were not present to witness the matches.

It is planned to hold the next amateur-pro tournament on a day when the public will be able to take advantage of the opportunity of seeing the district's best amateurs and professionals in active competition. Louis Hamel, professional, and Jim Manion made all arrangements, and they made a good job of it.

FLETCHER SETS RECORD FOR 220 BREAST STROKE

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—Charles Fletcher of San Diego established what was said to be a new world's record in the 220-yard breast stroke swim when he swam the distance in 2 minutes and 4-5 seconds at the water carnival at the Ambassador plunge here last night. The old record, said to be three minutes and three seconds, was made by Fletcher at Coronado Beach, Cal., recently.

DARTMOUTH STAR HURT IN PRACTICE SESSION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 13.—The season's first injury has hit Dartmouth's football squad. Vernon (Hookie) Hagenbuckle, a letter man at end last fall, broke a finger in recovering a loose ball. The injury will not keep him on the side lines throughout season, but he will be forced to withdraw for a full month. Hagenbuckle was one of the most promising wingmen and was one of the few experienced men Coach Hawley had for a varsity berth.

Kicking practice and passing have been the outstanding features of the work for the Dartmouth players to date, but next week, with the return of the entire squad, the full order of preparatory drills will be put into effect. Hawley plans to move at full speed, in as much as Dartmouth's opening encounter falls on Sept. 29.

Kickers who reported this week cannot be compared with Harris, Calder and Wright, all of whom are now missing from the roll. Hawley may be forced to use some of his bulky linemen on the kicking end of the game if they can be developed sufficiently during the next months. It has also become apparent that the filling of the hole left at center by Dom Moore will be a difficult task for the coaches.

Kabakoff to Box Noble on Tuesday

English Featherweight Claims Knockout Over Eugene Criqui, Former Champion.

Tommy Noble, English featherweight champion, who claims to have knocked out Eugene Criqui, the Frenchman who held the world's title for two months, will box Harry Kabakoff in the 10-round main event of the Lafayette A. C. card at the Coliseum next Tuesday night. Noble will arrive here Saturday and finish his training at a local gymnasium.

Noble has fought a number of bouts since he came to this country and claims decisions over Joe Lynch, Pal Moran, Andy Chaney, Harvey Bright and Pepper Martin.

Jimmy Russo, the bounding little Italian from Detroit, will face Eddie Hunt of Chicago in the eight-round semifinal. Russell Kinder and Jack Douglass, St. Louisans, will box six rounds at 145 pounds in one preliminary and Digger Nelson of Wales will face Elmer Kress, Brooklyn, N. Y., in the other. They will go four rounds at 110 pounds.

CARDINALS BEAT MENDON IN 10 INNINGS, 5 TO 1

By the Associated Press.

MENDON, Ill., Sept. 13.—Holding the St. Louis Cardinals to one run in nine full innings, the Mendon club of the Illmo League was nosed out by a 5 to 1 count in the tenth by the Cardinals in an exhibition game here yesterday. The Cardinals scored their first run in the fourth inning when Blades hit for a three bagger and scored when Erghott, Mendon catcher, overthrew third in an attempt to catch him off the sack. The score:

Barnes Defeats Drewes in Tennis Tourney Feature

By Davison Obear.

Charlie Barnes furnished the biggest surprise of the annual St. Louis district tennis championship at the Triple A yesterday by defeating Ted Drewes in a semifinal round match, 6—0, 7—5, 7—9 and 6—1.

Nearly all of the opening set was played in the backcourt. Barnes kept up a steady driving attack throughout, while Drewes was very erratic. The former Central States champion seemed unable to control his strokes.

In the second set Drewes came into the net frequently and forced the score to 5-all. Barnes continued his steady playing of the first set and won two straight games and the set. Both men were playing careful tennis.

Drewes resorted to a chop stroke as the third set began. He sent a number of balls just over the net which gave him needed points. Barnes, however, maintained his usual pace and when the score reached 3-all Drewes tried a few top spin drives and came into the net. Barnes was leading at 5 to 4, but Drewes was more accurate and finally managed to win the set, 9—7.

Heuermann and Schwarz Win.

The players did not take the usual 10-minute rest at the end of the third set. Barnes was very accurate in placements in this set, while Drewes hit a slump and sent a number of balls into the net. Drewes made a brilliant effort to even the score after Barnes led at 4 to 0, but was only able to win one game. Barnes followed with two straight games, giving him the set and match.

Ted Heuermann and Elmer Schwarz, national municipal champions, defeated Arthur Reppert and Arthur Niemoeller in a semifinal round doubles match. The contest went the limit of five sets and the score was 2—6, 9—7, 6—0, 0—6, 6—2.

This match entertained the gallery with all sorts of tennis. Niemoeller and Reppert had little difficulty winning the first set. Their opponents made a number of errors. Schwarz in particular seemed unable to play his usual game.

The second set was a battle from start to finish. Heuermann showed much improvement while Schwarz was steadier. Reppert and Niemoeller brought the score to 7-all but lacked sufficient accuracy to win. Heuermann and Schwarz captured the next two games and the set.

Win Eight Straight Games.

Heuermann and Schwarz won six straight games for the third set. This gave them eight games in a row. There was considerable net play in this set. Niemoeller weakened at this point in the match while Reppert was not as steady as in the opening set.

The players went in for another battle at the net in the fourth set. This time Reppert and Niemoeller volleyed better and outplaced their opponents for needed points. They followed the example of Heuermann and Schwarz in the previous set and won the fourth at 6—0.

Heuermann and Schwarz appeared more determined in the fifth set. They made a number of smashes at the net position and their cross court placement drives were very effective. Reppert was more consistent than the other three players thus aiding Niemoeller and helping to make the score so close.

Ring Lardner Never Been More Confident on Eve of a Battle; To Write at Least 600 Words

"Today Will Be Devoted to a Little Light Work to Keep My Fingers Supple and Tomorrow I'll Go Over the Keyboard a Couple Times to Develop Speed."

By Ring W. Lardner.
(Copyright, 1923.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Yesterday marked the end of my hard training for the Dempsey-Firpo fight and I can assure my friends and admirers that at no time in my career have I been as confident on the eve of battle and will promise to write at lease 600 words tomorrow night provided I am given a square deal by policemen, ushers and spectators.

Today will be devoted to a little light work to keep my fingers supple and expect to put in part of the day oil my typewriter and supplying same with a new ribbon. Tomorrow morning I will go over the keyboard a couple times to develop speed and during the p. m. will indulge in a short nap to insure myself vs dozing off during the big fight. I will enter the press seats weighing 182 pounds dressed and will wear a dirty collar and heavy shoulder pads as a protection against the morons that crowds down to the ringside after a fight is over and rounds out the evening by setting on newspaper men's necks.

Sparring Partners' Holiday.

Coming down on the train from Saratoga I had a little talk with Farmer Lodge and George Godfrey. Mr. Dempsey had just told me that he would not need them no more and both of them was bearing up well under the news.

"I sure will get a good sleep tonight," said Mr. Godfrey. "My slumbers has been interrupted lately by worry over what the next day would bring forth. But the worst that can happen to me tomorrow is to get bumped into by a 10-ton truck which will feel like a flea bite after what I been through."

I made the remark that it seemed a kind of a shame that two as famous boys as these should be making the five hour trip in a day coach.

"Listen," says Farmer Lodge, "we are tickled to death that we aint riding in the baggage coach ahead."

I asked them what a sparring partner thinks about when they are in there waxing Dempsey.

Jack, Before and After.

In contrast to Farmer and George, the champion will roll into New York in a private car which he was doing 10 years ago, only this time the car will be attached to a passenger train.

The champion of the world is greatly interested in the progress of the case of Harry Wills vs. the Boxing Commission. The way the case stands now the judge has promised to hand down a decision on the 1st of October. If the judge decides that Dempsey must fight Wills before he fights Firpo, why it is going to cause a great deal of confusion amongst the boys and gals that is going to be at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night. We will all half to pretend like we wasn't there and didn't see no fight or else we are libel to be held in contempt of court.

Another thing that may cause confusion is the fact that Dempsey and Firpo aint never seen each other and unless they happen to weigh in at the same time they wont never see each other till they climb into the ring.

Chance for Confusion.

Dempsey wont know which fighter is Firpo and vice versa until Joe Humphreys introduces them. In fact if Joe should forget to introduce them Firpo is just as likely as not to swing for his own jaw, thinking he is Dempsey. What makes the situation all the worse is that both men is brown of complexion and black of hair and both will probably be wearing the same size gloves and yesterday's set of whiskers. They's just a chance that Dempsey can identify Firpo by his bath robe, but if the Argentine should happen to stroll into the arena that night with a red sweater instead of a bathrobe, heavens knows what will happen.

The betting out in Great Neck remains at even money with Dempsey a slight favorite. In other words, my son Bill has bet a nickel even on Dempsey, his nurse taking the Firpo end. Bill has also bet two cents even on Firpo, his brother Jim being on the Dempsey end.

BOXER TO TRAIN WITH NEBRASKA GRID SQUAD

SIOUX CITY, Sept. 13.—W. H. ("Big") Munn, Sioux City, 270-pounder and six feet six inches in height, said to be the world's biggest fighter, and who holds hopes of some day contesting for the heavyweight championship title, has gone to Lincoln, Neb., to train for a month with the Nebraska University football team. He will also box daily with a brother there, who was boxing instructor at the university last year.

SIX SAN ANTONIO STARS SOLD TO MAJOR CLUBS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 13.—Six San Antonio Texas League baseball players have been sold to major league clubs, according to word received by President Harry Benson, who is now in the East. Moke Meyers, considered the fastest outfielder in the circuit, goes to the Detroit Tigers, while the other five players were purchased by the Boston Red Sox. Ike Boone, who leads the Texas League in hitting and has already broken two league records this season, hitting in 35 consecutive games and exceeding the total number of hits recorded by Summa last year, will report to Boston at the end of the Texas League season. Outfielder Phil Todt, infielders Fuller and Gross, pitcher Marshall will report to Boston next spring. Cash and players figure in the deal.

ERGT. HAYES WINNER IN LEACH CUP SHOOT

By the Associated Press.

CAMP PERRY, O., Sept. 13.—Making a perfect score over each the 800, 900 and 1000-yard slow fire ranges, Sergt. W. E. Hayes, Portland, Ore., national guard, won the Leach Cup of the National Rifle Association tourney here yesterday. The navy team was won by Fireman L. C. Gordon, while the infantry team match went to the United States infantry team.

Hayes' score was 105 plus nine vs. Lieut. H. C. Barnes, coast guard artillery corps, had 104 for second place. Gordon had a score of 94 out of a possible 100 in the navy match. Second place went to Sergt. B. Clary, U. S. Marines, with a score of 93. Sergt. L. C. Carter of the Marines who also had a 93 was outranked by Clary and was placed over several others who had scores of 93.

The U. S. infantry team with a total of 12,800 points, had a margin of 400 points over its next competitor, the Oregon national guard team. The United States Engineers landed third place.

The National Rifle Association 200-yard rapid fire match, in which 18 teams were decided, went to Lieut. William R. Watson, United States infantry, Philippine Islands, with 49 possibles of fifty each. Corp. A. Dyba, coast artillery, was second and civilian W. R. Stokes, Washington, third. They had two possibles of fifty each plus 49.

U. S. Polo Team Defeats Britons

By the Associated Press.

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Four American cavalrymen, veterans of the many campaigns from the Philippines to France, yesterday defeated the famed British army Polo team, 10 to 7, in the first match of a series to determine the military championship—a new trophy in the sport world.

If the Americans win the next game Saturday they will hold the title, but if the British win a third game will be required to determine which is champion.

Maj. A. H. Wilson, the American No. 1, was the sensation of the contest, scoring seven of the American goals and getting into every play.

Johnston Defeats Anderson in U. S. Net Title Event

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—William Johnstoff of San Francisco, two-time winner of the national singles tennis title went into the semi-finals today, defeating Frank T. Anderson of New York in straight sets, 8—6, 6—1, 7—5.

Anderson gave "Little Bill" some trouble with his service in the opening set, but Johnston pushed the Easterner's backhand and won on Anderson's wildness. Little Bill's forehand smashes told in the second set, which he swung through with the loss of but one game.

Anderson rallied and sent the concluding set to deuce twice, but lost when Johnston broke through his service and then won his own for the set game.

Scores: First set:

Johnston	4	4	2	141	4	5	4
Anderson	1	6	4	4	1	2	0

Secon set:

INTERNATIONAL TENNIS SERIES TO BE PLAYED AT FOREST HILLS, SEPT. 21

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—Eastern and Western tennis stars will meet in an intersectional series similar to those held during the past few years at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 21 and 22, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced last night. The series will be the last important event of the court season.

William M. Johnston of San Francisco and R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia have been chosen captains of the rival teams. The Westerners will have Clarence J. Griffin, Robert and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco, Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles, among others, as available material.

The Eastern contingent probably will be selected from William T. Tilden, Vincent Richards, Francis T. Hunter, Watson M. Washburn, Carl Fischer and Wallace F. Johnston.

St. Louisans to See Title Bout

Mound City Fight Fans Find Scalpers' Prices Prevailing for Ringside Seats.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Undeterred by reports that it was possible to get a ringside seat—52 rows from the ringside—for as little as $75, Mound City sportsmen began their invasion of New York to view the slaughter of Mr. Firpo, or of the reputations of all the boxing critics in the metropolitan districts.

Matt Sofka, matchmaker for the Angelica Athletic Club of St. Louis, was so fearful that he would miss the $75 seats that he and Frankie Weiss, driving their way, spent 24 hours at the wheel on the last lap of the trip and bowled into this burg in time to see them rub the slate and hang up a new price.

Leo Heyman, who tried to put on the Firpo-Tom Cowler fight in St. Louis, and was getting along famously until Gov. Hyde developed a knockout wallop, drove up to Madison Square Garden ticket offices late yesterday afternoon with Charley Conley, who never misses the big ones. The persons who opened the door of their taxi offered to sell them ringside seats for something under $100. At the ticket office 20 feet distant the word to all inquirers was: "Sure, we have no ringside seats."

Which was true, as far as the $27.50 price was concerned.

At Dinty Moore's refectory, where they sell you more corned beef and cabbage for a dollar and a quarter than you can lift from the chair with you, St. Louis victims of the great fight plague were thick. R. J. (Dick) Collins, who, when "Old 1808" was still running off editions, wrote about John L. Sullivan and other fight novices of that day, was among those present. Others from St. Louis were John Walsh, one of the original backers of Jack Dempsey before he became famous; William Goldman, the movie-house magnate; Tom Carton and Willie Gleason, East St. Louis fans, and Dave Murphy, Tom Kearney's partner.

Later arrivals from St. Louis were Isaac Hedges, Abe Slupsky and Martin Abraham.

Reservations at the Biltmore were made for Louis M. Steinberg, the broker; J. J. Ollan, merchant, and William F. Fahey, attorney.

Other St. Louisans are expected on trains today and tomorrow.

Papyrus Will Not Be Bought Before International Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, denied emphatically at Belmont Park yesterday that any American or any syndicate of Americans had considered or was considering the purchase of Papyrus before the running of the international race on Oct. 20. He said:

"The race had its origin in a three-year discussion among members of the Jockey Club to bring about some fixture of international importance and the proposed meeting between the best 3-year-olds of the two countries took form largely because of the sportsmanship of Ben Irish, who owns Papyrus.

"I make this denial of any effort to buy the horse before the race of my personal knowledge. Moreover, no American lives who would be so unsportsmanlike as to even think of such a thing.

"In this world there are always those who delight in imputing wrong motives. This race was not conceived in a commercial spirit and will not be carried out with any thought to that end. The large purse was necessary to justify the risk which Irish must take in sending such a valuable horse across the Atlantic."

Announcement was made at Belmont Park yesterday that the following horses have been named for the national trial sweepstakes at one mile and a half on Saturday: Zev, My Own, Vigil, Rialto, Untidy and Dot.

The chances appear to be against Zev and My Own starting, which would rob the race of much interest. Under the conditions the colts will carry 126 pounds and the fillies 123 pounds.

RICHMOND CLUB CLAIMS VIRGINIA LEAGUE FLAG

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13.—H. H. Dawson, owner of the Richmond club of the Virginia League, was enroute to Auburn, N. Y., today for a conference with J. H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, regarding the pennant winner of the Virginia League. The Richmond club laid claim to the pennant in a formal notice filed yesterday with W. S. Moye, president of the circuit, on the ground that it was forced to play one more game at Petersburg than was on the schedule.

The Wilson club nosed out the local team by a one point margin but if the second game at Petersburg on Sept. 5, which the Richmond club lost and which the league statistician declared was not on the schedule, is thrown out the locals would win the pennant by a margin of three points.

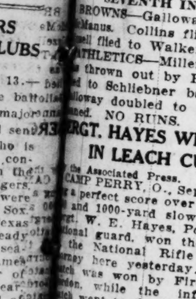

Police Confiscate Bogus Tickets for Championship Bout

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Six men were arrested in a Duane street print shop yesterday and police confiscated $50,000 worth of counterfeit tickets for the Dempsey-Firpo title match tomorrow night. Some of the tickets, the police said, had been put in circulation. The men were charged with acting in concert in printing and distributing them.

While the arrests were being made an investigation was under way by District Attorney Banton into charges that a batch of tickets for the fight having a box value of $27.50 had been sold for $77.50 and that many other single tickets had been sold at proportionately increased prices.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the bout, declared two separate attempts to put counterfeit tickets on the market had been discovered. Besides the Duane street plant, he said, another shop had been raided and plates confiscated before the alleged counterfeiters had had time to start printing. He was confident, he said, that detectives had checked practically all circulation of the bogus tickets.

Insuring Your Family's Safety

Hundreds of thousands of motorists are convinced that the very best insurance against such peril is the Goodyear All-Weather Tread.

Winter or summer, rainy weather or dry, the big thick sharp-edged blocks of this famous tread take firm grip on any highway surface.

Clutching, clinging, digging, they drive the car forward full distance every turn of the wheel; against side-slip or skid they set up a powerful wedge-like resistance.

Now made of an even longer-wearing rubber compound, the famous All-Weather Tread makes Goodyear Tires the most economical as well as the safest equipment.

SCIENCE ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved — Perfected Tablets Called "Calotabs."

The triumph of scientific pharmacy is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles, calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Genuine Calotabs are sold only in trade-marked packages, price ten cents and thirty-five cents. Your druggist offers to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid, and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

PERSHING PLANS TEST MOBILIZATION OF NEW U. S. ARMY

General, on 63d Birthday, Discusses the National Defense as Worked Out Under the Act of 1920.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—John J. Pershing celebrated today his sixty-third birthday. He began his last year of active service in the army to which his life has been devoted at his desk in the War Department here, performing the triple duties of acting Secretary of War, General of the armies and Chief of Staff.

A year from today, which also is the anniversary of the opening of the battle of St. Mihiel, the man who commanded the American army, then in its first great drive against the German lines in France, will pass automatically to the retired list.

Discusses New U. S. Army.

Before the General's desk stands a great map of the United States covered with markings showing the distribution and organization of the new army of the United States that has been created out of the lessons learned through the struggle in France. In it stand the markers that indicate the division and the brigade and even lesser headquarters of the regular army, the National Guard and the organized reserves. And it was to these that Gen. Pershing's eyes turned in casting up the account of the years that are behind him. It is to these he will look a year from today, in all probability his last of active service under the flag, because he steps aside that other men may carry forward the work.

"Is the army plan worked out in the National Defense act of 1920 a success?" Gen. Pershing was asked.

"Yes, I can say of my own knowledge that it is. This year your summer training camps have been the best we have had. I know that for I have visited nearly all of them. It has been a splendid response, and the continued support of the people to enter into the permanent national life of America assure us always of a reasonable degree of readiness to protect ourselves."

Why He Undertook Task.

It is an open secret in the army that Gen. Pershing remained in active service after the war and accepted the post of Chief of Staff because he saw ahead a service to the flag greater in its constructive possibilities, perhaps, than even his wartime service. He would not talk much of that personal side of the matter today, but turned back to the great map to point out again what had been done, what there was still to do.

"It is still the same thing," Gen. Pershing said, "that my predecessor as general of the armies, as George Washington visioned and urged on Congress more than a 100 years ago. It is the machinery by which a volunteer army can be organized in peace time. There is no danger of militarism in it. These reserve officers and their camps are centers of patriotic service and will aid America in the future in the things of peace as surely as they would help in war.

"We are planning for a test mobilization, probably a year from now. What I see as I think of that test is a picture of all these reserve officers assembled in their headquarters on that day. A few of them may have to travel a short distance to divisional or brigade or regimental headquarters to which they are assigned. But the company commanders of the organized reserves would each just tentatively select a building in the town or village as his headquarters and stand by ready to proceed with the organization equipment and training of his company. If he should so desire he could list 250 men in that community who probably would be available for service, but that would not be necessary.

Meaning of the Test.

"Such a test mobilization would mean merely that at an hour or on a day set the machinery we have built up was found ready to mobilize the men who would compose the wartime army. If it was a real mobilization the men would be coming in first at their company or platoon headquarters in their home towns and then through the necessary weeks or months gathering by regiments and brigades and divisions to be sent forward to their posts along the coast lines or elsewhere where the war emergency called them.

"The thing that we have been trying to do is to slash away the long delay of 1917 between the decision of war and the time when the great cantonments were ready to receive the 30,000 or 40,000 or more men poured in upon them. As it has been now worked out behind the first line defenses of the regular and national guard divisions, the organized reserves would gather first at their homes, living in their own homes while their company organization was perfected, the clothing and equipment supplied through their own divisional and regimental headquarters nearby. Then the battalions would be assembled, then the regiments, the battalions and finally the divisions brought together as going organizations in the cantonments, each unit preserving the local hometown spirit that our wartime plan of 1917 could not retain.

Well on Way to Success.

"We are well on our way to success in this plan. I have had ample proof this year not alone of the enthusiastic willingness of the national guardsmen and the regulars to play their part in it, but the appreciation of the reserve officers of their place in the scheme and their eagerness to keep themselves fit and able to shoulder responsibilities that would be theirs in wartime.

"It must be remembered that this is an economic voluntary offer, a citizen army composed of men who fully appreciate their obligations. Without doubt the men who are willing to prepare for defense are most alive to their civic duties. Such an organization will make for good citizenship and is in reality an important move for peace."

Short Selling and Profit-[T]ing Cause Declines tending to 1 to 2 Poin[ts] Exchange Market Irreg[ular]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The [Eve]ning Post in its copyrighted [finan]cial review today, says:

"Reaction still prevailed [on the] Stock Exchange today, three well sustained bursts of selling [send]ing the list showing many los[ses of] one and two points. Short [selling] by professionals was plainly [in evi]dence and induced a consid[erable] volume of liquidation from [stock]holders who wished to preserve its accumulated in the Augu[st rally] or who were scared by ill-fo[unded] rumors of liquidation by large [inter]ests. The market, in other [words,] having become rather stale, showing little disposition to ri[se, has] been put in reverse motion by [bear]ish traders. The natural res[ult of] such a process will be, of cou[rse, to] strengthen the technical positi[on and] so restore the equilibrium. [Bonds] were quietly irregular and [the rate] on call money was advanced [to 5½] per cent and six per cent in [the af]ternoon after having opened [at 5] per cent.

Exchange Market Irregul[ar].

"A more orderly condition w[as ap]parent in the foreign exchange [mar]ket, the quieting known of th[e pre]vious day being continued. Ch[anges] were still, however, irregularl[y dis]tributed and the appearance o[f buying] against foreign purchases of commodities was generally com[ment]ed on. Sterling lost half a c[ent to] $4.54 and French francs were [off ..] points at 5.74¾ cents. Itali[an lire] meanwhile advanced 2½ poi[nts to] 4.40 cents and a similar divers[ity of] changes prevailed among the c[urren]cies of the former neutrals. [In re]sponse to the reports of trou[ble in] Barcelona, Spanish pesetas bro[ke ..] points to 13.28 cents; in the [later] trading they rallied to 13.33 [...] German marks were slightly [...] at 1.05 cents to the million.

Wheat is Lower.

"In cotton, however, the [market] very distinctly recovered its [equili]brium after yesterday's distur[bance]. The Liverpool market made a [good] rally before the close and good [sup]port was apparent on this s[ide of] the water during the entire se[ssion]. Trade buying in the near [months] was accompanied by hedge [selling] in the more distant futures. [In any] event, prices moved over a [moder]ate range of fluctuation and [the] price of 27.45 cents for Dec[ember] future left it off only 3 points [on the] day.

"Wheat on the other hand [was] adversely affected by a Ca[nadian] crop estimate of 471,000,000 b[ushels] made by the Statistical Bure[au at] Ottawa. This was much in [excess] of other recent Canadian esti[mates] which have run in the neighb[orhood] of 370,000,000 to 400,000,000 bu[shels]. December wheat lost 1⅝ cen[ts to] $1.03¾.

Foreign Bank Statement.

"Fair sized decreases in the [Bank] of England's circulation and d[eposit] liabilities have brought a rec[overy] of nearly one per cent in the r[eserve] ratio, which now stands at 1[..] cent. At the same time the [Bank] of France statement shows tha[t the] Government has been able to [repay] 100,000,000 francs on account o[f ex]traordinary advances to the [...] This is one-fifth of the amoun[t bor]rowed last week to meet the de[mands] which center around the fir[st of] September."

Short Selling and Profit-Taking Cause Declines Extending to 1 to 2 Points—Exchange Market Irregular

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Reaction still prevailed in the Stock Exchange today, three fairly well sustained bursts of selling leaving the list showing many losses of one and two points. Short selling by professionals was plainly in evidence and induced a considerable volume of liquidation from smaller holders who wished to preserve profits accumulated in the August rise or who were scared by ill-founded rumors of liquidation by large interests. The market, in other words, having become rather stale, and showing little disposition to rise, has been put in reverse motion by bearish traders. The natural result of such a process will be, of course, to strengthen the technical position and so restore the equilibrium. Bonds were quietly irregular and the rate on call money was advanced to 5½ per cent and six per cent in the afternoon after having opened at 5 per cent.

Exchange Market Irregular.

"A more orderly condition was apparent in the foreign exchange market, the quieting known of the previous day being continued. Changes were still, however, irregularly distributed and the appearance of bills against foreign purchases of our commodities was generally commented on. Sterling lost half a cent at $4.54 and French francs were off 2¼ points at 5.74¾ cents. Italian lire meanwhile advanced 2½ points to 4.40 cents and a similar diversity of changes prevailed among the currencies of the former neutrals. In response to the reports of trouble at Barcelona, Spanish pesetas broke 16 points to 13.28 cents; in the later trading they rallied to 13.33 cents. German marks were slightly higher at 1.05 cents to the million.

Wheat Is Lower.

"In cotton, however, the market very distinctly recovered its equilibrium after yesterday's disturbance. The Liverpool market made a sharp rally before the close and good support was apparent on this side of the water during the entire session. Trade buying in the near months was accompanied by hedge selling in the more distant futures. In any event, prices moved over a moderate range of fluctuation and a late price of 27.45 cents for December future left it off only 3 points on the day.

"Wheat on the other hand, was adversely affected by a Canadian crop estimate of 471,000,000 bushels made by the Statistical Bureau at Ottawa. This was much in excess of other recent Canadian estimates, which have run in the neighborhood of 370,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels. December wheat lost 1⅝ cents at $1.03¼.

Foreign Bank Statement.

"Fair sized decreases in the Bank of England's circulation and deposit liabilities have brought a recovery of nearly one per cent in the reserve ratio, which now stands at 19 per cent. At the same time the Bank of France statement shows that the Government has been able to repay 100,000,000 francs on account of extraordinary advances to the State. This is one-fifth of the amount borrowed last week to meet the demands which center around the first of September."

Urges Silk Speculation Be Avoided.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The board of managers of the Silk Association of America at a regular quarterly meeting yesterday adopted a resolution advising the trade to resume, so far as possible, the regular course of business on the basis of such information as to supplies and prices of raw silk as can be obtained at present. It was urged that contracts be limited as to deliveries and that all speculative transactions be avoided and discouraged.

American Central Is 70 Years of Age

The American Central Insurance Company of St. Louis this year is celebrating the seventieth anniversary of its organization—seven decades in which it has served the public well, met its obligations honorably, grown in favor and in strength. Its history covers the period of the great development of the Middle West, the extension of railroad transportation and the growth of great cities. It is one of the few survivors of that great number of companies, mostly small ones, which were organized in the cities along the Western waterways, a material part of whose business in the earlier days was marine insurance on river craft and cargoes. While most of these have passed away, the American Central is one which has grown stronger with the years.

It has been tested by conflagrations. It has adjusted itself to the constantly changing conditions. It has progressed, and now, at the age of seventy, it is officered by men in the prime of life, ripe in experience, full of drive and determined to make its past history, fine as it is, only a preface to a greater future.

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

United States Steel common, following its 3-point decline Wednesday, got down below 90, while stocks of the independent companies, such as Bethlehem, Gulf States and Crucible were actively sold at levels several points from their recent highs.

The weakness in the steels originated earlier in the week.

Oil stocks were pressed for sale. The American Petroleum Institute reported another average daily increase in crude oil production for last week.

The rail stocks gleaned some small comfort from these figures which aided them in maintaining what steadiness they exhibited during the day. However, even New York Central, which during the first eight months of this year loaded 3,123,640 cars, an increase of 52.5 per cent over the corresponding period of 1921 and 21.9 per cent over 1922, followed the general trend downward.

The favorable condition of foreign trade as indicated by import and export figures of the Department of Commerce had little influence on prices. Imports of merchandise in August fell off $6,276,403 to $275,000,000, while exports rose from $301,754,517 in July to $313,000,000. For the first eight months of this year imports amounted to $2,650,200,610 while exports were $2,561,675,214. These figures represented a gain over the similar period of 1922 of $697,644,558 in imports and $138,140,079 in exports.

In the late afternoon prices on the Stock Exchange were at their lowest for the day and the speculative leaders were off 2, 3, 4 and more points from the Wednesday final.

United States Steel common, Studebaker, Corn Products, American Can and Baldwin Locomotive and several other active industrials not only had lost all of their advance of the past two weeks, but were under the lows of the week ending Aug. 25.

The Bond Market.

For today's almost uniform reaction in the bond market there was no explanation in the news or in trade developments.

More resistance to the selling was shown in the foreign list than anywhere else. About the only real weak issue here was the Jugo-Slav 8s and the Cuban 5½s. These Cuban bonds were offered in January at 99¼ and the syndicate was only dissolved Wednesday night. Wednesday's decline was five points and two more were added today. At today's low the yield was a little over 6 per cent.

French Government issues were little changed while Paris, Lyons and Med 6s and the Department of the Seine 7s were especially firm. Improvement was noted in Bolivia 8s selling for about 88. The fiscal agent for Bolivia, the Equitable Trust Co., announced that it would receive tenders for sale to the sinking fund of Bolivia bonds to the amount of over $60,000 and that in October it was expected a further sum of $200,000 would be available.

There was especially heavy selling of New Haven franc 7s carrying them down a point while the New York, West Chester & Boston 4½s also went lower. Chicago & Alton 3½s in which there has been such active speculation under the stimulus of improving earnings, lost ground with the rest. There were signs of a better market for Chicago & Great Western 4s.

Liberties were mostly steady, although the 3½s equaled their low of Wednesday. Fractional losses were sustained by such high-grade investment issues as Illinois Central 4s of 1953, Union Pacific first 4s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and Reading general 4s. All such issues, however, were well taken at small concessions.

COTTON PRICES IRREGULAR ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—There was a renewal of liquidation in the cotton market at the opening today owing to relatively easy cables and continued good weather in the South. Some southern hedge selling was also reported and initial losses of 8 to 22 points were increased after the call, with October selling off to 27.59c and January to 26.84c, or 17 to 24 points lower. Fresh buying was checked to some extent by the rather unsettled showing of the early stock market, but there was further trade buying with a moderate demand attributed to the replacing of contracts by interests who had liquidated long lines earlier in the week. Liverpool cables said the decline there was due to increased hedge selling, but reported a good undertone owing to the better trade in Manchester.

The early losses were soon recovered and the market developed considerable strength on covering by October shorts, who appeared to be growing uneasy over the small supplies available here for delivery on contract. October sold up to 2802c, or 26 points net higher, and later months showed net advances of 20 to 22 points, with January selling at 27.29c. Trading was fairly active on the advance but the market became quieter around midday, with prices easing off a few points under renewed realizing.

A more urgent demand from October shorts seemed to have been supplied on the midday advance and trading was quieter during the early afternoon. Prices held around 27.75c for October and 27.05c for January at 2 o'clock, or about 1 to 3 points net lower.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—Cotton—Spot quiet; middling, 28.55c.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Sept. 13.—Grain futures closed substantially lower on the local market.

In the local cash grain market red wheat was 1c to 2c lower. There was fair milling demand for good grades at the decline. Poor stuff dragged. Hard was 1c to 1½c lower. Corn was steady to ½c lower. Demand was good. Cash oats were steady to ½c higher. Demand was good.

The Canadian crop estimate out yesterday continued a bear factor in the early wheat market, the figure of 70,000,000 bushels more wheat than last year receiving much attention. Liverpool closed ⅝ to 1d lower. Corn was influenced by wheat, though cool weather was reported in part of belt.

December wheat opened at $1.05⅜; May wheat $1.10⅜; December corn, 68½-⅝c, and May corn 68⅜c.

The three Northwestern markets combined had 1321 cars of wheat, compared with 752 a week ago and 1942 last year, Minneapolis receiving 382 cars, Duluth 195 and Winnipeg 744.

Local wheat receipts, which were 98,776 bushels, compared with 172,800 a week ago and 99,600 last year, included 61 cars local and 21 through. Corn receipts, which were 60,235 bushels, compared with 74,100 a week ago and 71,500 last year, included 28 cars local and 18 through. Oats receipts, which were 86,125 bushels, compared with 172,000 a week ago and 66,000 last year, included 23 cars local and 20 through. Hay receipts were 25 cars local and six through.

Primary receipts of wheat were lighter than a week ago and lighter than a year ago, heavier than a week ago and lighter than a year ago, being 779,000 bushels. Oats receipts were lighter than a week ago and heavier than a year ago, being 897,000 bushels.

WHEAT MARKET IS WEAK ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Wheat showed extreme weakness today. There seems to be dearth of buying orders in the market, the only support being from shorts, who wanted profits, and a few resting orders caught on the way down. The pressure was mainly from outside longs. Canadian official crop figures of yesterday were more thoroughly digested after a night's study, and when longs began to think of the immensity of the crop raised on the other side of the border, they saw what their situation was. The crop is beginning to move in volume in that country, and hedging pressure is going into Minneapolis market. Minneapolis is beginning to feel the weight of the increased spring wheat movement, and mills bid 1@3c less than yesterday. Export trade was moderate, the decline in prices offsetting the early decline in foreign exchange. Receipts in winter wheat territory are falling off.

Wheat was again under the dollar mark, the close being the lowest of the day. Local cash sales were 15,000 bushels wheat, 208,000 bushels corn and 218,000 bushels oats.

Wheat closed 1⅝c to 1⅞c lower, September 99⅞c, December $1.02⅞ to $1.03, May $1.08⅝ to $1.08½.

The break in corn was as severe as it was unexpected. The continued receipts of corn tended to cause liquidation in September. Longs in the deferred futures unloaded because of the break in the current month and the fact that the frost reports failed to bring in any increased buying. Cash corn declined with the futures.

Corn closed ⅝c to 1⅝c lower, September 84½c, December 66¾c to 66⅝c, May 68⅛c to 68c.

Oats were easier, with other grains, but the decline was of little consequence in comparison with the losses experienced in other grain. Transferring of hedges and commission house buying of December were features.

Oats closed ⅛c to ½c lower, September 38⅝c, December 39¼c to 39⅝c, May 42c.

Marland Oil Co. Passes Quarterly Dividend.

NEW YORK, Sept 13.—Directors of the Marland Oil Co. today voted to pass the regular quarterly dividend. The action was taken, according to the directors, as a precautionary measure "because of the present demoralized state of oil industry" and "despite the strong financial position of the company."

A financial report of July 31, 1923, submitted at the directors' meeting showed current assets of $19,200,000 and current liabilities of $9,200,000. The previous quarterly dividend was $1.

New York Rubber.

RECEIPTS ARE LIGHT AND HOG PRICES RANGE UP

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Sept. 13.—Receipts today, estimated: Cattle and calves, 4000; hogs, 12,000; sheep, 1000; horses and mules, 100.

CATTLE—Butcher cows, canners and cutters, of which a large part of the day's run consisted, ruled 15c to 25c higher. The few steers here sold about steady, sales including natives at $10@10.85 and some Westerns at $4.90@6.85. Veal calves advanced 50c to 75c, top $12.50.

Cattle for week: Native steers and yearlings mostly 25c higher; butcher cows 25c higher; canner and cutter cows 25c to 50c higher; bulls strong; stocker and feeder steers steady to strong; Western grass steers steady to weak and veal calves $1 higher.

Quotations: Native beef steers, range $6 to $12.75 and bulk $9 to $10.50; light yearlings, range $3 to $12.75 and bulk $7 to $10; butcher cows, range $3.50 to $7, bulk $4 to $5.25; cutter cows, range $2.75 to $.350; canner cows, range $2.35 to $2.75; bologna bulls, range $3.50 to $5; heavy beef bulls, range $5 to $6; stocker and feeder steers, bulk $4 to $6.75.

HOGS—Sales of hogs today were 10c to 15c higher than Wednesday's close on light hogs, the early top reaching $9.30 for a few choice leads. Receipts were light, the estimate of 12,000, including 1000 direct and through hogs, making the salable supply approximately 11,000 head. Speaking sales of the shipping weight swine from 160 to 200 lbs ranged largely from $9.20 to $9.30. Trading was active with order buyers and city butchers as the main competitors. Offerings ran mostly to the lighter weights, few of the heavy kinds being in evidence. A few sales of the medium weight kinds from 210 to 250 lbs were noted at $9.10 to $9.20, a narrow spread. Pigs were active with prices showing very little change from Wednesday. Strong weight kinds from 130 to 150 lbs were quotable at $8.25 to $9.25, the medium weight kinds from 110 to 130 lbs clearing from $7.25 to $8.25 mainly. Light pigs from 110 lbs down sold at $5 to $7.25 mostly, according to the weight and quality of the offerings. Packer sows opened generally 10c to 15c higher than the close yesterday, sales being largely around $7.50 early. Stags sold from $5 to $6, according to the weight and quality of the offerings.

SHEEP—Under light receipts of 1000 sheep and lambs the market on the latter-named class today ruled 50c higher than Wednesday. Packers paid up to $13.75 for some of the best lambs offered, with medium grades clearing around $13 mostly. Not enough sheep were received to create a market for this class, quotations remaining nominally steady. Fat light ewes were quotable at $5 to $6 mostly, with heavy plain kinds at $3.50 to $4. Choppers and bucks at $2.50 to $3 and canners at $1 to $2.

HORSES AND MULES—Week's trade quite active at steady to strong prices, and a good clearance has been made. Commission run was of light volume, embracing a little better than 200 native horses and about 400 mules. Southern horses and fat cotton mules were the best sellers.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The early raw sugar market was quieter today, and in the absence of fresh business, prices were unchanged. Cubas were quoted at 5c cost and freight, equal to 6.78c for centrifugal.

With the exception of September, which was 5 points higher, raw sugar futures were easy and prices at midday were 9 to 10 points net lower under liquidation or realizing and selling by trade interests some of which was said to be for Cuban account.

The advance to 8.40c by all local refiners seemed to have checked the demand for granulated to some extent, although withdrawals on old orders continue active and most refiners are delayed in shipments.

Sugar futures closed easy; approximate sales, 19,000 tons; September, 4.88c; December, 446c; March, 3.72c; May, 3.80c.

Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Wholesale trading in silk goods, virtually suspended since the Japanese disaster, was resumed today in accordance with a resolution adopted Wednesday by the Silk Association of America. Sales were made at advances of 10c to 15 per cent over prices prior to the disaster. Quotations were still withheld in the raw silk market. A few private sales of Japanese silk were reported around $11.50 a pound. Canton silk brought $10.50, Italian, $10.75 to $11, and China, $10.55.

Business was fairly brisk in the cotton goods market. Print cloths, 64x60s, were unchanged in price at 10¼c, and 68x72s at 11c.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

F. N. R.—All replies to the Edward Bok peace plan should be addressed to 342 Madison avenue, New York, N. Y.

P. W.—It is 117.8 miles by automobile from St. Louis to Springfield, Ill., and approximately 356 miles by automobile from St. Louis to Chicago.

C. B.—Information concerning the life of the movie actress may be obtained by writing to the query department of any of the motion picture magazines.

GERTRUDE—It is quite usual for the bride to go with the groom when he buys the wedding ring, to choose the width and weight she likes, and the size she finds comfortable.

O. G. H.—The longest rivers in the world are: the Mississippi and Missouri combined, 5010 miles; Amazon, 3800 miles; Nile, 3766 miles; Yangtse, 3400 miles; Yenisei, 3300 miles; Congo, 3000 miles.

F. X. F.—The principal mountain-systems of Wyoming may be said to be composed of a core or nucleus of granite or syenitic rock, or quartzite. Gold and silver are fairly abundant, but the quantity of these metals mined is insignificant. Some tin-ore has been obtained in Crook County. Iron is found throughout a large part of the State, and an excellent quality of lignite and bituminous coal is mined upon an extensive scale, especially in the southwest areas. Lead and sulphur are also other useful mineral products of the State.

T. P.—Fibred hard wall plaster, which is used for plastering walls, is sold already prepared. It is necessary only to add a little sand to it, and water enough to make the plaster moist.

B.—The English translation of the Latin sentences quoted, is as follows: "Place a light, and the light goes out." "To the glory of the architect of the universal world; and to the brotherhood of man. The year of light."

F. R.—Hot tamales are a mixture of meat or fowl, made hot with chilies and wrapped in corn husks. For the wrapping, cut off the inside leaves of the corn husks about one inch from the stalk end, and boil in clear water until perfectly clean. Tear a few in narrow strips for tying the ends; dry the rest and rub them over with a cloth dipped in hot lard. The recipe follows: Use equal quantities of cold boiled chicken and veal and half as much ham all chopped. Mix together and moisten with good gravy. Season with salt, cayenne, and a little chopped parsley. Make a dough by pouring a cupful of boiling water on a quart of fine fresh cornmeal; work in a big lump of butter, and add water until like biscuit dough. Have ready as directed a pile of soft inner leaves or husks of green corn. Take a lump of dough about the size of an egg; pat it out flat, put a tablespoonful of the meat on it and roll for the inner husk. Then put on the outer husk with a thin piece of dough in each. Tie the end and boil in water containing a few red peppers and a clove or garlic.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

STUDENT.—No license is necessary to conduct a detective agency.

MR. J. S.—If the bill you owe the company is a just one, and you do not pay it, they can sue you and can garnish your wages.

C. E. A.—The special election for the purpose of voting on the supplementary bond issue, to pay the remaining soldiers' bonus claims, has not yet been held, and Gov. Hyde has not yet set a date for it.

E. M. K.—Your husband would legally be presumed to be dead, after seven years' absence. You could file suit on his insurance policy, and the company would have to pay it, unless they can prove that your husband is still alive. There would be no necessity for you to obtain a divorce. The Legal Aid Society would probably not take a case of this type. We suggest that you consult a lawyer.

CONSTANT READER.—The Missouri Soldiers' Bonus cannot be withheld from the ex-soldier to whom it belongs, for the purpose of supporting his child, whom he has deserted.

R. G.—According to your statement of the case, your husband cannot be compelled to pay the amount in question to the corporation. We believe that you would have a good defense, if they sued you, and that therefore you might ignore their letters and let them sue, if they want to.

CITIZEN.—A foreigner can take out his first papers as soon as he has established his residence in this country. This can be done without any difficulty in room 408, Customs House, Ninth and Olive streets. After he has resided in this country continuously for five years, and at least two years after he has taken out his first papers, he can take out his final papers.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered.. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

MARGIE A.—The normal height of a girl fifteen years of age is 5 feet 2 inches and weight is 115 or 120 pounds. A restricted diet, and plenty of outdoor exercise is best to reduce the weight.

W. R. A.—Your trouble is doubtless a form of acne, for which the treatment most likely to benefit you would be what are called serums. This you can get at the Municipal Courts Building, room 28, free of charge.

MARTHA.—Women 38 years of age are liable to have more trouble in the condition mentioned than are younger women. They should, if possible, be attended by a physician, and in a hospital, under which conditions the danger is reduced to a minimum.

B. M. D.—The following formula might remove the oil from the hair: aromatic spirits of ammonia, tincture of green soap, cologne, of each one teaspoonful, the white of one egg, and water, four ounces. Mix this and rub on the hair and scalp on alternate days.

JOHN.—Veins and not arteries are near the surface. They may become enlarged, by any obstruction to the circulation. Their function is to return the blood to the heart after circulating through the body. Liver trouble might cause enlargement of the veins.

SUBSCRIBER.—The application of equal parts of glycerine and lactic acid, is sometimes effective for the removal of freckles, if mopped on the face two or three times daily. A more elaborate and perhaps better preparation would be chloride of mercury, 3 grains; dilute hydrochloric acid, and alcohol, of each one drachm; glycerine ½ of an ounce, rose water, to make 4 ounces. Shake this and apply at bedtime, and remove with soap and water in the morning.

GREAT VARIETY OF VICE PRESIDENTIAL BOOMS AT CAPITAL

Gossip Predicated on the Assumption That President Coolidge Will Head Republican Ticket.

BY CHARLES G. ROSS.
Correspondent of the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Republican vice presidential booms and boomlets, self-launched and otherwise, are floating about the Capital. All are predicated on the assumption that President Coolidge, unless he makes some large mistake in his dealings with the coming session of Congress, will succeed in his ambition to win the presidential nomination.

Gov. Pinchot's settlement of the coal strike has caused his name to be widely talked about in this connection. The theory of those proposing the Coolidge-Pinchot combination is that the Pennsylvania Governor would appeal to the "Progressive" elements of the party. Against him is the fact that he comes from the East, whereas geographical considerations, always potent in the picking of vice presidential nominees, demand a westerner to run with the "Man of Destiny" from Massachusetts.

Pinchot Strong in West.

To this objection the answer is being made that Pinchot, because of his fight for conservation and his association with the Roosevelt movement, has a strong following in the west; that he is a westerner in outlook and would be voted for as such. All this is a good enough theory, as political theories go, but it leaves the wishes of Pinchot out of the reckoning. It is by no means certain that he would rather be vice-president than Governor of Pennsylvania.

Even if Pinchot would accept, it is not his play at this time to admit as much. For it means to most observers of the political scene in Washington that Pinchot, like others, is standing by for a whirl at the presidential nomination if Mr. Coolidge's foot slips.

Did Pinchot at this stage of the game signify his willingness to take second place on the ticket, his chance for first place probably would go glimmering. On the other hand, as long as he is a possibility for the first place he has a chance at the second. Mr. Coolidge, it will be recalled, was never a candidate for the vice presidency at Chicago, but always for the presidency, till after Mr. Harding had been nominated.

Whether or not Pinchot is actually a candidate for the presidency, the prominence he has recently attained through the coal strike negotiations seems to have struck alarm to some of the President's supporters. This, at any rate, is the conclusion generally drawn here from a remarkable editorial published in the Washington Post after the terms of the strike settlement were announced.

This newspaper, an administration house organ under Coolidge as it was under Harding, viciously attacked the Pennsylvania Governor and the settlement, declaring that Pinchot had made peace in the coal fields and political capital for himself by the simple expedient of surrendering to the miners and raising the price of coal to the consumers. "The public," it said, "does not wish to have any more settlements by Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania."

Even if Pinchot were satisfactory to the Washington Post and the Coolidge people as the tail of the kite, it is highly questionable whether the custom which dictates the selection of a vice presidential candidate from a doubtful State, outside the section represented by the presidential nominee, would be set aside in his favor. It is more likely that if Coolidge gets the nomination, his runnng mate will be taken from the Middle West.

Senator Capper Suggested.

Some say that Brigadier-General Dawes of Chicago—"Hell and Maria" Dawes—former Budget Director, has a good chance. Dawes is said to have been slated for second place on the ticket with Harding if any slip-up occurred to unseat Coolidge.

Senator Couzens of Michigan, rich, good looking and of progressive tendencies, is among those who have reached the dignity of being mentioned. Gov. McCray of Indiana was among the foremost possibilities till his financial troubles came to light. Missouri, being a doubtful State, Gov. Hyde is conceded a look-in.

Others Who Would Like the Job.

Senator Willis of Ohio would like the job, and so, also, probably, would the new Senator, Fess, from that State. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, who was defeated for the place by Coolidge at Chicago, is mentioned, but is not likely to go farther. A better prospect is former Gov. Allen of Kansas, who also had supoprt in 1920, but Allen's chances are dimmed by the opposition of organized labor to his industrial court ideas.

Johnson of California, failing in his ambition to be President, might not again thrust aside the proffer of second place, as he did at Chicago.

The names of those who would like to have vice-presidential booms started in their behalf are as the leaves of Vallombrosa. Many of them, to hear them talk, wouldn't take the place under any circumstances, but for the nominating convention to offer it in the expectation of a refusal would be a risky business in almost any case.

A New "Declaration"

By WINIFRED BLACK

HERE'S a new Declaration of Independence.

It was written by a woman, it was signed by a dozen women and it's the nucleus of a brand-new club in a city in the Far West.

Read it and see what you think of it.

"When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for a woman to recognize that she is no longer in the bloom of youth, know all men by these presents that we the undersigned ask, claim and demand the following rights and privileges, as belonging to us by birth and by natural inheritance:

"We claim the peace of mature years without the pretense and the imitation of youth.

"We claim rest, dignity, respect, deference and care.

"We claim tranquillity of mind, tolerance of opinion and breadth of outlook.

"We claim the absolving of the ties of what we call in our youth—love.

"We have lived useful, honorable lives and we now claim the regard which should be coming to us and we hereby disclaim all efforts to seem younger than we are, or to participate in the folly and intemperance of youth.

"Being each one of us 50 years of age and of sound mind and body, we hereby attest our deliverance from the shackles of custom and habit that have for years made slaves of us, and we stand now before the world and in our own special families and communities as free souls, relieved from many oppressive obligations and ready now to enjoy life and the depth and beauty of it to the full. SIGNED."

It Should Work Wonders.

What do you think of it? Would you like to belong to a club like that? You couldn't keep me out of it with a dynamite bomb.

Why, just the very idea of signing that Declaration of Independence will take the anxious wrinkles out of a dozen faces I know.

Poor grandma, she can let the children call her grandma now and not pretend to strangers that they're saying "mamma"!

Poor Aunt Mary, she can stop looking for a husband and stop worrying about the way her complexion is going and stop wearing shoes too small for her!

Poor mother, she won't have to angle and throw out a hook and line to every stranger to make them say they thought she and her oldest daughter were sisters—they really did!

Jane hates parties. She's always hated them. She never had any gift for being popular. She was a bad dancer and a poor dresser and she always wanted to stay home and read. Now she can join the new club and read all she wants to. Just think of the fun Jane's going to have, taking off her tight shoes and her tight hip reducers and sitting down by the fire with a book and a bunch of chocolates and letting the rest of the world roll by.

And there's Catherine—Catherine has dragged herself around to dinners and teas and receptions for years, pretending to like them—now she can join the club, pin on her badge and be comfy without another explanation.

Why Not Start Your Club?

I know of two or three women who ought to join that club this very day. All their relatives would be so much happier about them if they did. It's such a nuisance taking people driving and to the theater and to dinners when you know they ought to be at home resting or knitting or something, and they know it, too, but won't admit it—and you have to go on pretending they're just as young and just as gay and just as lively as they ever were in all their lives.

I wish somebody would start one of these new clubs in every city in America. I believe a part of the world tension would relax like a rubber band snapping when you let go of it.

What do you think about it?

Beauty Goes With Health

By Lucrezia Bori

THE woman who watches her health and general bodily condition with a careful eye is the woman who will win in the beauty race. If you allow yourself to become overworked and run-down and unattractive, it's often only yourself you have to blame.

So many of us are careless about ourselves. We'll see circles appearing under our eyes, and we'll feel consistently tired, still we'll refuse to take any steps to better our condition, for we persist in the feeling that everything will come out all right.

Much more intelligent is the plan of finding out just what is wrong and taking immediate steps to correct it. This may necessitate a visit to your doctor. Often he can find out exactly what the cause is. It may be a defective tooth or eyes that need attention, or a general run-down condition.

If you're told that you need a complete rest before you can really regain your strength, this may only send you away tired and discouraged, knowing that you can't afford a vacation at the time.

Now I'm going to give you a formula for building up health and beauty that is indorsed by doctors all over the country. Its results are so sure and it is so easy to follow that it seems a pity more women who need just such a beautifier don't try it out. The formula is simply this.

1 teaspoonful of sugar, or more if you like.

1 teaspoonful powdered chocolate or cocoa, or more according to taste.

Mix your raw egg, sugar and chocolate together very thoroughly. Then add this mixture to your glass of milk.

Drink at least two of them a day, one in the morning and one before you go to bed at night. You may take the morning one instead of coffee at breakfast if you like. Otherwise, you may take it at a convenient time after breakfast.

Just keep this up steadily, day in and day out. You will find yourself really looking forward to the beverage. You will feel rested after you drink it, and, better still, you will gradually pick up strength and good looks. You won't feel so tired and the sparkle of your eye and the healthy glow of your skin will be the outward marks of your inner feelings.

Now, doesn't this sound easy enough to do? Surely you aren't lazy when it comes to mixing such a simple beauty potion. Just give it a trial, and see for yourself whether you don't feel and look wonderfully improved after a month or six weeks of the treatment.

Many women who are inclined to plumpness shun milk as if it were poison, because they feel that milk will bring them added flesh that they can ill afford to own.

If you come in this class I will say for your benefit that such small quantities of milk as this will never add noticeably to your weight. The lines of your face will fill out and become smoother, but if you really need the extra strength, this beverage will go more into building up strength than flesh.

On the other hand, if you are really thin and wish to put on a few pounds, milk is excellent. You might increase this formula to three glasses a day, and drink plain milk between times. I would not advise more than three glasses of this beauty-giving mixture, as it is fairly rich.

FROM NOW ON

By FRANK L. PACKARD

"I can only tell you what I heard them saying to each other that night when I wrote that letter for my father," she said deliberately. "But that is enough, I think; anyway, it was enough to decide me to come here to you. My father, of course, intended to communicate with you—in just what way, I do not know—but he died that same night. The only thing, then, that I could see to do was to get here without a moment's delay, and I left San Francisco immediately after my father's burial. You understand?"

"Yes, yes!" Dago George nodded his head vigorously in assent. "But, of course! Yes, yes, my little bambino! Well—and then?"

She leaned forward impressively toward Dago George.

"This Barty Lynch stole some money," she said, in a quick, eager voice; "a great deal of money, thousands; I heard them speak of a hundred thousand. My father had helped him to get away from the police; that is why he trusted my father. But this money was stolen again from Barty Lynch by a man who Barty Lynch said had run here to New York for cover. That is what has brought Barty Lynch here—to find that man, and get the money back. You see? Once Barty Lynch gets hold of the money again, he—but that is why my father gave him a letter to you, and——"

"Signed it con amore," broke in Dago George, whispering feverishly, and almost as though speaking to himself. "Yes, yes! I see! It is the hand of the old master, and it has lost none of its cunning! Yes, yes! I see! There is no risk! It is stolen money to begin with! Signor Barty Lynch has no recourse to the law! And even if Signor Barty Lynch disappeared—eh?—who is to know the difference, since he has already arranged things so nicely in hiding himself away from the police! Eh? Yes! It is excellent, superb! Is it not so?"

Teresa's face was impassive.

"Yes, except that we have not got that money yet!" she said curtly. "It may not be as easy as it looks. That is why I am here—to help; and also"—she stared Dago George levelly in the face—"to see that Dago George does not get more than his share."

The Italian's hands were raised instantly in protestation.

"But, my little bambino—that you should say that!" He shook his head in an aggrieved way. "I am hurt that you should think I forget Nicolo Capriano, though he is dead, or that you should think I would do anything like that."

"Nor do I think so," she answered steadily. "I warn you, that is all. We shall work all the better together if we understand to begin with that Nicolo Capriano's daughter, though Nicolo Capriano is dead, has still some power; and if we understand that this is Nicolo Capriano's plan, and not yours, and that the division will be made on the same basis that Nicolo Capriano would have made it."

"It is Nicolo himself speaking," murmured Dago George. He was smiling now. "I had no thought of anything but that. It is understood. I could ask for nothing better."

"Very well!" she said. "There is nothing to be done at first then, but to watch him in everything he does here in New York. You have plenty of men you can depend upon—I know that; but I think I can do more, or at least as much, as they can, and certainly with all of us working together we should succeed. He is in a room upstairs, you say. You have another one next to his that is empty, perhaps? Yes? Well, that is good. I will take it. He will be surprised to see me here, but he will not be suspicious. He believes that you were a very intimate friend of my father. Naturally, then, it would be at the house of that intimate friend that I would come to stay when, owing to my father's death, I am making arrangements to sail to my father's people back in Italy. Barty Lynch trusted my father absolutely. That is plain. He therefore trusts me equally. It may not even be necessary to watch him; he is even more likely than not—if he is played right—to make a confident of me."

"Yes," he cried. "It is superb! I salute you. You do credit to Nicolo Capriano! Ah, my little bambino, you have your father's brains!"

Teresa, with a prettily imperious nod of her head, rose from her chair.

"It is getting late," she said. "It must be nearly eleven o'clock, and I have had a long journey. Since he is drugged, he is safe for the time being, and there is nothing more to be done tonight. Tomorrow we can begin our work. Take me to my room."

"Yes—it is superb!" Dago George repeated exultantly. He bowed Teresa to the door, and, picking up the valises, led the way upstairs. He chuckled with perverted humor, as they passed Dave Henderson's door. "He is in there," he said; "but we must not disturb his rest, eh? He said he was very tired!" He ushered Teresa into the next room, and turned on the light. "If there is anything that the little bambino requires?"—his head and hands gestured eloquently.

Teresa was looking around the none too clean, and none too well furnished, room.

"It is that the little bambino will know that I am thinking of her great sorrow, though I have said little, that I speak of it again," he said softly. "The master has been long dead? It is true you have told me he died on the night you wrote that letter for him, but the letter"—he produced it from his pocket, and scanned it earnestly—"yes, I am right—it bears no date."

"My father died nine days ago," Teresa answered tersely, and half turned away her head.

"Ah, yes! Nine days ago!" Dago George shook his head sorrowfully, as he backed across the threshold. "The old master! It is very sad! Nine days ago! It is very sad! I wish you repose, my little bambino. Good night!"

Teresa closed and locked the door behind Dago George—and stood still for an instant listening. Dago George's footsteps died away on the stairs below. She moved a little then, and stood with her ear pressed against the partition of the next room. There was no sound. And then she began to walk slowly about the room, and a few minutes later, the time that it would ordinarily have taken her to prepare for bed, she turned out the light—and sat down in a chair, fully dressed, and stared into the blackness.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Mrs. Palmer Jerman of Raleigh, N. C., has been appointed a director of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad.

Lillian Johnson, a mere slip of a girl, directs by megaphone a fleet of tugboats operating in San Francisco harbor.

Three American women are spending three months in France and England under scholarships awarded by institutions in those countries.

Helene Burniaux of Belgium, has been elected president of the International Federation of Working Women, succeeding Mrs. Raymond Robbins of Chicago, who declined renomination.

To Mlle. Marthe Condat, formerly laboratory head at a hospital for sick children at Toulouse, France, has fallen the honor of being the first woman to be admitted as an assistant professor of medicine by the faculty of Paris.

NEYSA M'MEIN BETTING ON FIRPO TO WIN

But She Expects to Go Home With Handbag Empty

Sketches of Firpo and Dempsey Drawn by Neysa McMein.

By NEYSA McMEIN.

Noted American Artist.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

THE best news I had read for a long time was the announcement of the Dempsey-Firpo fight. I threw a new hat into the air and telephoned for ringside seats, thinking of the night I had seen gallant Carpentier laid low and wishing that this time Firpo would win for the Latin races and make it even again. I know, of course, that this isn't likely to happen and that I'll probably go home with an empty handbag but I'm betting on Luis Angel just the same. And I'm hoping to live long enough to see some boxer come along who can beat the iron-fisted Dempsey. I'm young yet and have lots of time to wait.

It may not be a ladylike thing to admit, but I am a fight fan. I never miss a good match even when it's between welterweights. The evening I visited the Coliseum in Rome, I stood in the moonlight (one should always go there in the moonlight if it can be arranged), and instead of concentrating on the political aspect of these ruins or their place in the history of architecture, I thought only of the gladitorial contests I had missed by being born too late and how padded gloves had been evolved from swords and bucklers.

I ADORE boxing. It's a wholesome, civilized sport that gives more delightful thrills than baseball, or horse racing. Every man should know how to box. It not only develops the body, but gives grace and skillful muscles as well as strength. I used to think that women, too, should learn the tricks of self-defense.—NEYSA McMEIN.

More Thrills Than Baseball.

I adore boxing. It's a wholesome, civilized sport that gives more delightful thrills than baseball or horse racing. Every man should know how to box. It not only develops the body but gives grace and skillful muscles as well as strength. I used to think that women, too, should learn the tricks of self-defense.

To put my theory into practice (which is the only fair way to act with a theory), I bought a pair of gloves and struck the first blow. My opponent's reply almost knocked out a front tooth so I decided—while holding my face in a corner—to resign myself to watching from a safe distance. This I have done and only once did I misjudge what distance could be termed safe.

It was one afternoon at Carpentier's training quarters on Long Island. I was standing in rapt attention while Georges and a sparring partner danced and sidestepped before me. Suddenly I felt a breeze and the hair lifted from my forehead. I realized then that one of his swings had just missed my nose. Another eighth of an inch and I would have spent the rest of the summer in a hospital.

Saw First Fight in France.

I remember when women didn't go to boxing matches, called in those days "prize fights." It wasn't considered respectable even to want to go. I saw my first fight in France where women attend in as large numbers as men, not only in the ringside seats and boxes, but in the cheap seats as well. They even go to the training quarters and choose the most likely boxer on whom to place their loose francs. In America women are beginning to like boxing and recently each fight has attracted a greater number of women than the last. Celebrities and society women started the vogue and all classes are to be found now at the boxing matches, talking about "left jabs," "taking the count," and "the claret."

If tomorrow's fight is half as exciting as the Carpentier-Dempsey match it will be worth all the money I shall lose on Firpo. That was what I call perfect entertainment. I was delirious with anticipation (nothing else had been talked of for weeks in New York) until the fighting began. Then I grew numb and stunned, alive only in one part of my brain which registered every feint, blow and sound from the audience and expression on the faces of the two athletes. The next day while I was still weak from excitement, people said to me, "What can you see in boxing?" I explained that aside from my delight in the sport for sport's sake, it is a marvelous picture. It has the best lighting effect in the world from a dramatic standpoint—the arrangement of a piercing white light in acres of darkness and two men in the center of everything, their pink strengths pitted, one against the other, under the watching, eager eyes of a multitude. Primitive, yes. But it rejuvenates me to be reminded of those old days when might in the form of muscles, not dynamite, ruled the earth.

Dempsey Has Task Ahead.

Dempsey won't have an easy bout with Firpo, the "Puma of the Pampas." He'll wish many times that slender, brittle-handed Carpentier was facing him instead of the Argentine terror—poor Carpentier, helpless against Dempsey's cruel infighting. Firpo with his long reach—longer than Dempsey's—has only to watch for an opening. If Dempsey gives him a chance to land he will think a two-ton pile driver has descended on him. Probably Dempsey will never give the challenger such an opportunity. He's too clever a boxer and besides one push from him usually sends a man across the ring to stretch the ropes out of shape.

Firpo has one good chance. He may tire out Dempsey and thus get him off his guard. Dempsey's heart is 16 years older than his body while Firpo's has been given a perfect organ.

Firpo is called "the ape-like brute" but I think this very unjust to Dempsey better. He looks like nothing else when he walks into the ring, glowering and thrusting his jaw and bringing with him his punches. Unlike Firpo and Carpentier, he has no pictorial value and certainly he is not the Beau Chesterfield of his day. The only thing in his life is the result of his training. But as a fighter I must admit he seems unbeatable.

In contrast (like Carpentier) shines Luis Angel Firpo with his sunny personality, charming and complete, manners and an engaging smile. But his charming manners disappear when he steps into the ring. He means business and as he catches sight of his opponent his smile fades out and he becomes a one track, one-minded fighter.

Luis An Ideal Model.

When I went to sketch Firpo I hoped he would know a little English to brighten my visit. Alas, "How do?" and "Good-by" were his entire vocabulary. But when I had gone to draw Carpentier

Even should this [illegible] statement be disputed it is [illegible] ing. Of course, there are [illegible] chinks to fill in and [illegible] be established before this [illegible] can be accepted.

To begin with, it is [illegible] find diseases which are [illegible] communicated from animals [illegible] men and vice versa. But we [illegible] leave that discussion to [illegible] entists.

It is known that certain [illegible] are carried by vermin. For [illegible] stance, bubonic plague is carried [illegible] the flea of the rat. The flea [illegible] fers the rat and, so long as [illegible] lives, it will not leave to [illegible] man.

The "cootie," the ordinary [illegible] louse, carries the germs of [illegible] Mice transmit epidemic [illegible] From time to time the bed [illegible] looked upon suspiciously as a possible carrier of pneumonia, [illegible] mosquito carries malaria and [illegible] low fever. In some sections [illegible] household fly may transmit [illegible] fever.

There is an interesting [illegible] while Firpo's has been given a perfect organ.

Firpo is called "the ape-like brute" but I think this very unjust to Dempsey better. He looks like nothing else when he walks into the ring, glowering and thrusting his jaw and bringing with him his punches. Unlike Firpo and Carpentier, he has no pictorial value and certainly he is not the Beau Chesterfield of his day. The only thing in his life is the result of his training. But as a fighter I must admit he seems unbeatable.

In contrast (like Carpentier) shines Luis Angel Firpo with his sunny personality, charming and complete, manners and an engaging smile. But his charming manners disappear when he steps into the ring. He means business and as he catches sight of his opponent his smile fades out and he becomes a one track, one-minded fighter.

Luis An Ideal Model.

When I went to sketch Firpo I hoped he would know a little English to brighten my visit. Alas, "How do?" and "Good-by" were his entire vocabulary. But when I had gone to draw Carpentier I found [illegible] understand is a term of endearment.

FRUITS NOW IN SEASON

--o--

WHILE fresh fruits are obtainable they should be frequently used as desserts. They pall on the appetite if constantly used in the natural state so the wise housewife will serve them in other appetizing forms.

Baked Fruits.

Baked apple served with whipped cream is considered a dessert par excellence, but peaches and pears are not so well known in this form. The fruit should be well washed. Select peaches that are not quite ripe and do not peel them. Put peaches in baking dish, cover with cold water and sprinkle with brown sugar mixed with a teaspoon of cornstarch. Bake in a slow oven about one hour and serve with cream. Pears should be firm. Cut into halves and remove seeds. Put into baking dish, add a little water, cover and simmer until partly tender. Sweeten with sugar or corn syrup, allowing one-half teaspoon of the sugar or one tablespoon of syrup to each half of pear. Bake in slow oven unill tender.

Apple Croquettes.

Peel and slice one quart of apples, add two tablespoonfuls butter, one-half cup sugar and a little lemon rind. Simmer until smooth and thick, stirring occasionally. Add beaten yolk of three eggs mixed with one-half tablespoonful of cornstarch. Mix thoroughly and rub through strainer. Spread on a buttered dish and when cold shape into any desired form and fry in hot fat. Drain and roll in powdered sugar.

Plums.

Wash green-gages, cut in halves, add very little water and cook until soft enough to press through sieve. To the pulp add sugar to taste and if necessary a little water; stir over fire until sugar is dissolved. To two cupfuls of pulp add one tablespoonful gelatine (dissolved in cold water). Stir thoroughly, pour into wet molds, chill and serve with a rich soft custard, also chilled.

HENRY HUDSON'S FATE.

The first navigators who sailed on voyages of discovery to the New World had no easy task to control the adventurous crews who manned their vessels. The troubles that Columbus had to face are well known. Magellan was called upon to put down mutiny among the crew and rebellion among his officers. But to Henry Hudson, discoverer of the river that bears his name, fell the sad fate of being overpowered by mutineers and sent to certain doom at sea. The year following his discovery of Hudson Bay and Hudson Strait, his crew rebelled and, seizing Hudson and eight others, bound them and set them adrift in a small boat on Hudson Bay, June 23, 1611. They were never heard from again.

NEW INVENTIONS.

ICED COCOA

BOIL for 10 or 15 minutes one-half cup sugar and three-fourths cup water. Mix one-fourth cup cocoa with boiling water, to a smooth paste. Add to syrup. When it comes to a boil, remove from fire and cool. Use a tablespoon of this mixture to a glass. Fill with milk and add chopped ice.

:: Children's Bedtime Story ::

By Thornton W. Burgess

AS you know, Blacky the Crow has sharp eyes. If he is anywhere around he doesn't miss anything going on. He had been on his way home from the Green Meadows when he had seen Redtail the Hawk swoop down the first time for Happy Jack Squirrel.

"I wonder who he is after," thought Blacky the Crow, and changed his direction so as to fly nearer. A second later he chuckled. "Whoever it was, Redtail didn't catch him," thought Blacky.

Then Redtail swooped again, and Blacky began to fly faster. He flew straight to the top of a tall pine tree not far from the beech tree in which was Happy Jack Squirrel. "As I live!" exclaimed Blacky. "It is Happy Jack Squirrel that Redtail is after!"

Then as he saw how easily Happy Jack dodged Redtail, Blacky began to enjoy the excitement. It pleased him immensely to see Redtail the Hawk lose his temper and try and try in vain to catch Happy Jack. Blacky has no love for Redtail. So he sat there in the top of the pine tree silent, but with his eyes snapping with excitement and enjoyment.

But when Mrs. Redtail suddenly appeared and so nearly caught Happy Jack, a change came over Blacky. He began to caw at the top of his lungs. "Caw, caw, caw, caw!" he shrieked. It was a call to his relatives and friends, telling them to hurry over there as fast as they could. At once he got replies from different parts of the Green Forest, and in a few minutes his friends and relatives came hurrying up to see what all the excitement was about. By the time the last crow had arrived, Mrs. Happy Jack had joined Happy Jack, trying to help him. My, such an exciting scene it was!

But Blacky's quick eye soon saw that there was real danger that Happy Jack or Mrs. Happy Jack or both would be caught. "This will never do," said he to the other Crows. "This will never do at all. Those big robbers mustn't catch Happy Jack Squirrel or Mrs. Happy Jack. Without them there would be something wrong with the Green Forest. It wouldn't be the same place at all. We've got to help them out. Yes, sir, we've got to help them out."

Now Crows are very like a certain class of people: A single Crow is very cautious and seldom takes any chances, but a crowd of Crows will be quite bold. Blacky alone wouldn't have thought of attacking either one of those Hawks. But with all his friends and relatives to help, he didn't hesitate when he got the chance to dart down at Redtail's back.

My, my, my, such a racket! All those Crows were cawing and shrieking at the top of their lungs as they did their best to distract the attention of Redtail and Mrs. Redtail. Some of them darted down and flapped their wings in the very faces of Redtail and Mrs. Redtail.

Of course, there was great confusion. In the midst of it Happy Jack saw his chance, raced out along a branch of the beech tree and made a flying leap to another tree. Mrs. Happy Jack was right at his heels. In this tree was a hole, and in less time than it takes to tell it both had popped into it. They were safe, and Blacky the Crow and his friends had saved them.

AN ASPECT OF NATURALNESS.

A popular Jewish comedian told me this one not long ago and vouched for it as an actual occurrence in which he personally had played a secondary part.

"My father," he said, "is getting to be a pretty old man now. It is nearly 40 years since he came to America but in thought and in expression he still clings to old-country ways. On the business side he has been successful, but outside of his business he is so credulou and so simple that frequently he is imposed upon and has finally come to believe, I am afraid, that this world is largely populated by amateur and professional bunco steerers.

"It's awfully hard to get him to stir away from home. However, a few months ago, when I was playing an engagement at Buffalo I induced him to quit the office for a few days and come up to Buffalo as my guest. On the afternoon of his arrival I chartered an automobile and rode him out to Niagara.

"For fully 5 minutes he stood silently contemplating the falls in all their majesty and their beauty. I lingered alongside waiting for some expression from him on the effect produced by his first sight of Niagara. But he didn't say a word. So finally I broke in.

"'Well, dad,' I said, 'what do you think of it?'
